POISON THE COYOTE

The National Wool Growers Association asks every Western wool grower to put out 500 poison baits on his range.(Report of the National Wool Growers' committee after conferring with United States biological survey with a view to recommending practical and effectual methods for poisoning coyotes.)The conclusion reached after thorough discussion with officials in charge of the government operations in poisoning coyotes, is that, under winter conditions best results are obtained from small baits composed of lard and sugar, each with a poison dose of 3% grains of strychnine (powdered alkaloid). The strychnine may be contained in a No. 2 capsule, or it may be placed in loose form in a cavity in the center of the bait. In the latter case, it is essential that the lard be cold and hard when the poison is added, since warm lard quickly absorbs the extremely bitter taste of strychnine.The entire process of preparing the baits should be by means of clean wooden or metal implements to avoid the taint of human hands. Probably the most important recommendation of all is that each bait be kept in a small, clean paper bag from the time it is prepared until placed for the coyote. It is advised that the paper bags for the purpose be plainly labeled, "coyote poison."The materials are usually at hand for any stockman to prepare his own baits. Good, odorless, home rendered lard is considered better than the market article.The committee strongly advocates that each livestock association employ a competent man to make the baits in quantity, to supply members and co-operators, and that every effort be made to poison the ranges during the remainder of the winter.In general operations of the kind it is important that inhabitants of the district be notified and other pre-arrangements be made to insure the safety of dogs that are valued.Directions for Preparing Poison Baits (A)—In a warm place, mix thoroughly together home rendered lard and sugar in about equal quantities.
Place outside to cool until stiff enough to mold into balls about the size of a small walnut; or into discs of about the same bulk. Press in

LOUIS HILL NOT OPPOSE STRAHORNPRESIDENT OF GREAT NORTH-ERN SAYS HE WILL ENCOUR-AGE DEVELOPMENT OF CEN-TRAL OREGONSAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, said here that although his road does not connect directly with the one now being advocated for Eastern Oregon by R. E. Strahorn of Portland and Spokane, the Hill interests would encourage this development.Strahorn's line would connect the East with Southern Oregon country with markets north, south or east, and afford development to a tremendous territory."We will encourage and by no means oppose Strahorn," Mr. Hill said. "In fact, I should like to see him fill the gap."Comb Sage Tea Into Gray HairARKENS BEAUTIFULLY AND RE-STORES ITS NATURAL COLOR AND LUSTRE AT ONCECommon garden sage brewed into a sage tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and dead hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the sage tea and sulphur oils at home, though, is troublesome.
A easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about a cent a bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of mess.While gray, faded hair is not infrequent, all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By daily using your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through our hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application of two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.
Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not aromatic for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
