The animal weighed 800 pounds when shot and is a splendid specimen. Mrs. Cochran has a record as a wild animal hunter.

COST OF LIVING GOES ON UPWARD

SINCE UNITED STATES ENTERED THE WAR ON APRIL 6 THE COST OF FOODSTUFF HAS INCREASED 10 TO 50 PER CENT

Upward, ever upward mounts the cost of living.

The United States entered the world war April 6, and since then the cost of foodstuffs has gone up from 10 to 50 per cent. The following prices, in effect generally throughout the northwest, shows the rise in the cost of foodstuffs (wholesale):

	April 5.	Today.
Wheat, bushel	$ 1.83	$ 2.41
Flour, barrel	9.05	11.45
Sugar, 100 pounds	8.15	9.15
Butter, pound	.43	.44
Eggs, dozen	.29	.34
Beans, pound	.13	.16
Cornmeal, 100 pounds	3.50	4.30
Rice, pound	.04	.07
Rollod Oats, 100 lbs.	4.00	4.50
Potatoes, ton	55.00	70.00

There's only one bright spot in the entire situation. The price of vegetables has not gone up since April 6, due principally to the arrival of shipments from California.

CENTRAL GARAGE PURCHASES WELDING AND MACHINE WORKS

The Central garage has purchased the Oregon Welding Works and Machine Shop from Austin White, former proprietor, on Sixth street, and have rented the vacant room adjoining to establish a repair and machine shop in connection with their garage. Two expert machinists and oxyacetylene experts will be here in a few days to handle a general machine and welding business. The shop in the garage will be moved, giving the company more storage room, but an emergency shop will be maintained at the garage. Several changes will be made at the garage.

CIRCUS 'S COMIN' T' TOWN!

By Al. G. Barnes
 Circus 's comin' t' town, by Heck, if they ain't stopped by a railroad wreck!

A thousand' animals, all goosh darns. Owned by a fell they call Al. Barnes.

'Y gravy, the bears an' monks an' sich.

They say, does actin' without a hitch. One feller goes in a big steel cage With thirty lions in roarin' rage.

Can't say I keer 'bout the wild beasts much.

But I like the hosses, an' gals, an' sich;

An' I calkulate I'll see that show if I hav' t' let th' plowin' go!

Mirandy's jealous as the ol' Nick. But the boys all say I'm puty slick, An' I'm gonna wink at them gals when They go by, or I'm a settin' hen!

By gum, they say they've the durndest things.

Folks has ever seed inside four rings; Some jugglin' seals, an' a wrestlin' bear.

An' six big bands that'll raise yer hair.

Electric fans an' electric lights, Big parades an' lots o' other sights.

But it's them there gals that takes my eye.

An' I'm goin', if it's on th' sly!

Got some mules they 'low jest can't be rid.

That ain't much bigger'n a katydid; But I'll hol' on to their stubborn neck If I rip my Sunday pants, by Heck!

A feller don't live but once, no how, So M'randy oughtn't to raise no row; I ken hardly wait till it's here, by gum!

I wish it'd hurry up an' kum!

HIGH WATER COMING IN MAY OR JUNE

PORTLAND, Ore., April 27.—Unless the unexpected happens, the railways of the northwest will suffer more from high water late in May and early in June than was recorded in the memorable year of 1894. This is the situation as it appears to A. J. Davidson, general superintendent of the Spokane and Seattle railway. Because of heavy rainfall and heavy snows in the mountains, Davidson said he feared more from the high water than from the war for the railroads of the Pacific northwest.

ATHLETIC PARK GOES INTO POTATOES

TACOMA, Wash., April 27.—Fourty acres at the entrance to Point Defiance park will be planted to potatoes, the Tacoma board of park commissioners has decided. The tract was originally intended for an athletic field. Alling park will also have a potato patch.

Jetty is Completed on Columbia River

ASTORIA, Ore., April 27.—After four years spent in construction, the north jetty at the mouth of the Columbia is completed. The jetty extends 12,300 feet toward the sea and cost approximately $4,250,000. The south breakwater cost over $11,000,000.

REORGANIZATION DISCUSSED

part of any one in Washington to insist that reorganization of the Klamath project be perfected by the water users.

"The organization of the district would, however, have several advantages over the Water Users' Association. In the first place, the district would have the power immediately to require all lands within the project to pay operation and construction charges, including lands for which stock subscription to the association has been made, but for which no water right application has been filed, and also lands for which no stock subscription has been made but for which the irrigation system has been constructed.

"The association is obliged by contract with the United States to make all lands subscribed to the association pay the water right charges, and suits in all such cases will have to be brought and several are now pending by the Klamath association in order to compel the subscribers to make an application. The district organization will bring these lands in automatically without cost of litigation, which otherwise will necessarily be incurred by the water users. Other lands not even subscribed would also be brought in to help bear the burden of the project.

"An regards operation and maintenance charges for reclamation extension act requires payment in full to be made each year for project operation costs and the water users are already bearing the burden out of their own pockets for lands for which application has not been made. There is no reason in law or in fairness why lands which are being farmed and improved should bear the burden of these other lands held by speculators who are not improving and are profiting or hope to profit by the improvements made by their neighbors while they themselves bear none of the burdens of operating the system.

"An additional reason which I am sure will appeal to all is that the Rural Credits Board has now held that where the lands are burdened with a mortgage lien, even though in favor of the United States, the farm loan act is not applicable, but that where the monies are collectible as taxes, as in the case where an irrigation district is formed, the legal impediment is removed and that consideration only will be given to the security and the amount of the charges which will have to be paid.

"In other words, if an irrigation district is formed, the bar which is created by the Farm Loan Act is removed and it becomes merely a question of policy as to whether these lands are good for the water charges and for a farm loan in addition. In connection with the consideration of the security offered the fact that no interest is charged by the United States will be a very important consideration and the annual draft upon the water user's purse is the only thing that need be considered in my judgment.

"I believe that it would be proper for the land-owners to give immediate attention to the situation for the reason that it will take considerable time to take the necessary steps to form the irrigation district, which is in its nature a public or municipal corporation, and after that a contract with the United States will have to be voted upon by the water users before the water right application lands can be released by the secretary of the Interior and the assent of the United States be given to the release of the stock subscription lands of the Water Users' Association. All these steps of course are preliminary to the farm loan relief and organization under the Farm Loan Act and the formation of the irrigation district should not be delayed longer than is necessary if the people desire reorganization.

"Please make it entirely clear that the question of reorganization is one which is up to the people in every sense of the word and is not a step which the reclamation commission is insisting upon. If the water users are desirous of holding some evening meeting in different parts of the project, I shall be glad to give information as to what plans the service has for co-operating with irrigation districts on projects that are reorganized."

GO OUT TO GET SUGAR BEET LAND

Secretary Fred Fleet and A. E. Elder, secretary of the Water Users' board of directors, left this afternoon for the country to get sugar beet acreage signed up and to work up interest for a meeting to be held here tomorrow or Monday night with the resident manager of the Utah Sugar Beet Company at Grants a P.M.
