EASTERN OREGON WOOL CROP IS GOOD

BAKER, Ore., May 24—This year's clip of wool in eastern Oregon will about equal the yield in 1916, according to the best available estimates here today. Losses are reported from some communities, but generally this was confined to lambs, and the effect will not be noticed in the general totals for the district east of the Cascades. Sheep shearing here began about a week ago.

Senate Adjourns in Respect to Lane

Marine and Sailor, the Fighting Men of the Sea

If you go abroad an American battleship these days you may see men in khaki and men in white duck ready for fight. The men in the khaki look just like soldiers of the regular army. But they do not belong to it. They are marines, the soldiers of the sea. They have led in every foreign fight the United States has engaged in. Now they demand the right to be the first men to land on French soil. They insist the government should give them this honor because they have been first in every other war.

CENSUS CARDS MUST BE FILED BY JUNE FIFTH

MEN ABSENT ARE RESPONSIBLE; NOT OFFICIALS

Register Today is Official Warning Sent by Adjutant General's Office in Portland to Men Away From Home Precincts—May Save Jail Term—County Clerk Will Advise How to Proceed if Necessary.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 24—Men between the ages of 21 and 30 years, inclusive, who expect to be absent from their home precinct on War Census day, which is June 5, should register without delay.

Register today, if you can. If that is impracticable, do it tomorrow. In any event, register at the very earliest moment for delay may make you liable to a term in prison without the alternative of paying a fine. Absence is not accepted as an excuse for failure to register. The procedure for registration of absentees is quite simple and should cause no confusion. The absentee, or prospective absentee, must apply at the office of the county clerk of the county in which he may happen to be at the time, whether in Oregon or elsewhere. The clerk will fill out his registration card. In cities of 30,000 or more, apply to the city clerk, who in Portland is the city auditor. The clerk, or his deputy, will give the

HARRY LANE DIES IN SAN FRANCISCO ON WAY HOME

Was Native Oregonian and a Graduate of Willamette University at Salem—Afterwards a Portland Physician—Served as Mayor of Portland for Two Years—Strain of War Declaration Too Much.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24—The Senate adjourned today in respect to Senator Harry Lane, of Oregon, who died last night at San Francisco. Senators Chamberlain, Ashurst, Keown, Yandaman, Johnson of South Dakota, Le Follette, Green and Norris will leave immediately to attend the funeral.

Senator Lane has been in a San Francisco hospital following his return from Washington where his condition became such that his physician advised him to go west. His death is attributed to a blood clot on the brain and high blood pressure.

Dr. Harry Lane was born at Corvallis, Ore., August 23, 1855. He was the son of Nat H. Lane, a pioneer merchant, and grandson of General Joseph Lane, the first territorial governor of Oregon. He was graduated from the Willamette University in 1876. Completing a course in the medical school of the university he took a post-graduate course at the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York.

Taking up the active practice of medicine, Dr. Lane, who advanced rapidly in his profession, became president of the State Medical Association and the Portland City and County Medical Association.

In 1903 he was appointed a member of the State Board of Health. In Governor Penney's administration Dr. Lane served as Superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane in which capacity he performed conspicuous service, many improvements in administration of the institution having been accomplished under his rule. Dr. Lane's long career as a practicing physician in Portland brought him into close touch with civic affairs, and having a liking for public life he entered upon a wider career of politics which eventually placed him in the United States Senate.

He was elected mayor of Portland in 1905, defeating George H. Williams. He served two terms as mayor. In 1912 he was elected to the United States Senate, defeating Ben Seiling for the honor.

Dr. Lane's services in the United States Senate were conspicuous in his relation to the department of Indian affairs. He championed the cause of the Indians and fought to preserve their reservation rights in many ways. General Joseph Lane, Dr. Lane's grandfather, in addition to serving as the first territorial governor of Oregon, also served as Oregon's delegate to Congress and United States Senator, and was Democratic candidate for Vice-President when Bryan and Lane ran against La Follette. General Lane performed valuable service in the early Indian wars in Oregon. He was made a brigadier in the Mexican war. Of his immediate family Dr. Lane is survived by his wife, Hagriet Lane; two daughters, Harriet Lane Hicks and Nina Lane McBride, and an adopted daughter, Dorothy Lane. Mrs. L. F. Mosher of 214 Sherman street, Portland, is an aunt of Senator Lane. She is a daughter of General Joseph Lane; S. Robert Lane, an uncle, lives at Roseburg and Mrs. William Colvig, Portland, is the late Senator's first cousin.
