PUBLIC SCHOOL EXHIBIT CLOSED

HOME ECONOMICS AND MANUAL TRAINING WORK OF PUBLIC SCHOOL STUDENTS HELD LAST WEEK.

The home economics and manual training exhibits of the work done by the students during the past year in the four upper grades of the public schools of the city was held last week in the departments' respective rooms at the Central school.

There are 190 girls taking the home economics course this year and 95 in the home cooking classes under the direction of Miss Clara Elmer.

One hundred and ten took the manual training work under F. H. Strubie's instruction, the ages of the students ranging between ten and sixteen years old.

The younger students in the home economics take up hand sewing first and then the machine work. Samples of their work being on exhibition in their building, many of which drew much praise from those who visited the building. The work of these students is done by themselves after instructions are given by the instructors. No help except instructions is given.

One of the striking instances of the manner in which the work is conducted in the home economics course is the cooking bench at which the students do all this work. The wooden table top has never suffered the placing of a hot vessel on it, the top appearing to be as new.

The manual training exhibit was of a unique nature, showing the work from the first beginners to the more finished products.
