Seena Owen returns to the screen after several months retirement to star in "A Woman's Awakening," a Triangle-Fine Arts picture directed by Chester Wither, which will be shown at the Star tonight. Her role is that of a young wife striving to maintain her ideals the married to a rake who is enamored only with her fortune. No play produced at the Fine Arts studio in recent months has given a star better opportunities for displaying the variety of her wardrobe. Besides a number of evening gowns, Miss Owen wears a score of dashing street costumes, novel sport attire, chic riding habit and even dons male dress clothes for an adventurous expedition to a gambling resort. The story, written by Frank E. Woods, deals with a young wife who discovers that she was married for her fortune. Her mother is an invalid, and the only friend in whom she can confide is a former admirer. One night as the husband is preparing to quit the house, taking with him the balance of the wife's fortune, he is murdered. The wife and the young lawyer, her former admirer, suspect each other, and the spectator is mystified until the startling revelation at the end of the play.

Nothing is Straight About This Story

South America's "River of Doubt" has a rival in the Humboldt River in Nevada, which comes forward with an entirely new claim to distinction. The Humboldt River flows southwestly thru the central portion of Nevada near the Southern Pacific railroad. This river is declared to be, in point of size and length, the crookedest river in the world. It is so crooked that sportsmen bring tales of strange fish and game that become confused in trying to follow the river's course, and act as the intoxicated.

At one place, adjacent to the railroad, between two points two and a half miles apart, the river length is eight miles, and by actual count its course is alternately north twenty-five times, east eighteen times, south thirty times and west forty-one times; also it may be stated that at thirty-three different points it is within 150 feet or less of itself, the current flowing in opposite directions by these points.

This "runaway river" crosses the Southern Pacific tracks twenty-eight times, necessitating as many bridges, costing in all $454,000.

By way of showing how completely "locoed" it is, the Humboldt ends its course by running into the middle of the desert, and corkscrewing its way out of sight in a huge sink.

On account of its devious way this stream is a sportsmen's paradise. Ducks and geese, after following its treacherous course for a short distance, become deluded and forget their direction, returning five and six times to the point at which they were disturbed. Fish experience the same difficulty, and become so perplexed that they refuse to swim. The Indians have discovered this, and simply net the fish while they are dazed.

Fred A. Reicker, valuation engineer of the Southern Pacific, and not Baron Munchausen, is responsible for this account of the peculiarities of Nevada's crooked river.

STUDENTS ARE URGED TO ATTEND SCHOOL

SALEM, July 25.—Oregon students are urged by Governor James Withycombe and Superintendent of Public Instruction J. A. Churchill to remain in school as a patriotic duty, so that they may obtain the intensive training considered necessary in these days of war and in the reconstruction period to follow.

Letters signed by the governor and the superintendent have been addressed to the students of the state, declaring that President Wilson wishes to keep the work of the American educational institutions unimpaired as a means of national defense.

The letter reads as follows: "To the Students of Oregon:

"There is a strong desire among our young men and women to render some immediate service to our country. This is praiseworthy, and it is our wish to encourage the spirit which prompts such a conception of duty.

"However, this world war is teaching us the lesson that every person must be intensively trained for the work he intends to do. With this thought in mind we are writing to urge you, as a patriotic duty, to continue your preparation this coming year by attending the college or university of your choice. We feel that you owe it to your country to make every sacrifice possible to do this, because, thru a continuance of your training, you can render services more valuable and effective during the later years of the war and in the times of need that will follow.

The college presidents of the United States were recently called to Washington, D. C., by the council of national defense. At this conference they were urged by Secretary of War Baker, in conformity with the wishes of President Wilson, to keep the work of their institutions unimpaired as a means of national defense.

In accordance with the recommendations of these high officials, we therefore urge that all boys and girls graduating from high schools enter

Drafted Men Need Not Report Until Lists Arrive

PORTLAND, July 25.—Within a few days official lists of the draft serial numbers, showing the order in which they were drawn in the lottery at Washington, will reach the various county exemption boards. Following receipt of these lists, the boards will notify the men called upon the first draft.

Until then it will not be necessary for those subject to call on the first draft to report. But as soon as they receive notification from their boards they must report promptly on the day designated.

The first step taken by each board will be to post in a conspicuous place a list containing the names of all the men registered in its county or district, in the exact order in which they will be called on the first and all succeeding drafts. A copy of this list will also be given the press for publication.

Let it be emphasized again that this list will have not only the names of the men to be called out on the first draft, but of every man registered, in the order in which he must be called. No person whatsoever has any authority to change this order.

Having posted this list and given a copy to the press, the board will then notify by letter every man called up on the first draft. Each man will be directed to appear before the board for physical examination on a specified date, which will be within seven days of the mailing of the notice.

Failure to receive this notice will not be accepted as an excuse for not appearing on the day set. The burden of appearing when he is called is on the man himself; there is a heavy penalty for failure to answer the call.

Remember that regardless of whether a man intends to apply for exemption or discharge, he must appear for physical examination on the day set. He has seven days from the posting of the list, and the mailing of the notice to him by the board in which to file application for exemption, and ten days more in which to file proof.

And remember again, that he claims for exemption because of employment in necessary industries, including agriculture, can be considered by your county exemption board.

Such a claim must be made to one of the three district appeal boards, at Portland, Eugene or La Grande. It can only be made then after the man has passed his physical examination and been certified by the county board, as called for military service, and not exempt.

After you have appeared before your county exemption board and passed the physical examination, it will still be some time before you will actually be called out to join the army. You will be notified when it is time for you to report for service.

Why You Should Have a Sleeping Porch—

It insures an invigorating, restful, healthful, comfortable sleep during the sultry summer nights. It adds immeasurably to the attractiveness of your home and gives you a large bedroom.

Fresh Air

Secured on the sleeping porch wards off many of the ills due to improper ventilated bed rooms. A sleeping porch brings all outdoors inside your home.

You can save enough in one year in doctors' bills and buying patent medicines, to say nothing of the inconveniences to your family, to pay for a good sleeping porch, which you will have with you always.

All you need to do is to ask us to submit details. OUR SERVICE AND BUILDING ADVICE ARE FREE.

Suffragettes Receive Jail Sentence

Among the sixteen suffragettes who were sentenced in Washington to sixty days in jail for parading near the White House with banners were Mrs. J. A. H. Hopkins, very prominent socially in Montclair, N. J., and wife of the chairman of the state committee of the Progressive party in that state; Mrs. John W. Brannan, daughter of Charles A. Dana, and wife of a well known New York city physician; Mrs. Florence Bayard Hill, of Wilmington, Del., daughter of Thomas F. Bayard, secretary of state under President Cleveland, and Mrs. John Rogers Jr. of New York city, sister-in-law of Henry J. Stimson, secretary of war under president Taft.

BUSINESS and the FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

A Federal Reserve Bank in each of these Cities

The Federal Reserve Banking System was created largely to protect and benefit those engaged in industry, commerce and agriculture—both employers and employees. Its main purpose is to help those who borrow and provide a currency more responsive to business needs.

We are members of this system and you can secure its benefits and add to its strength by becoming one of our depositors.

Stop in and let us tell you just how it means, your particular needs.

college, technical school or normal school; that all college women remain in school until they have been graduated; and we further urge that all college men below the age of liability to selective draft, and not recommended for special service, remain in college.

At all times, but especially in our present hour of need, you should see yourself how best you can serve your country. In deciding this question at the present time, you can do no better than to act upon the advice of those who are responsible for the future welfare and integrity of this government. Yours very sincerely,

JAMES WITHYCOMBE, Governor.

CROPS GOOD AT MERRILL

Judd Low, who is now engaged in ranching in the vicinity of Merrill with his father, C. C. Low, and his brother, Lloyd, and Leo Parish, was in the city yesterday attending to matters of business. He reports that the hay and grain crops on their ranch are looking exceptionally good, and a big yield is expected.

"The Five Tires"

Today—tires cost less than ever

Your tires actually cost you less per mile today than they did a few years ago, provided you buy the right kind of tires.

In the first place, don't buy a nondescript tire that some dealer has a selfish price motive in selling to you.

Buy a tire with a name behind it—a tire, the quality of which must be so good that the reputation of a great Company is protected.

United States Tires, with the name of the largest rubber manufacturer in the world behind them, are safe tires to buy.

United States Tires are constructed under an exclusive time-tried vulcanizing process that is patented.

They are honestly built with the best materials that the markets of the world afford.
