Klamath County News

MIDLAND, July 26.—Edgar Furber is cutting his rye for hay.

Hilbert Sargent has arrived from Fort Jones, Calif., to spend a few days at the Hooper home.

Midland people are regretting very much that two of their prominent young men, Wm. Hooper and Allison Davidson, are selected in the serial drawing.

J. D. Hooper is going to cut some of his wheat for hay.

Last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hooper gave a party for their son and daughter. The following were present: Miss Mildred Worden, Clyde Barks, Miss Vera Porter, Walker Enman, Ed Froling, Gordon Quimby and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hooper, Miss V. Froling, William Hooper, Miss Kitty Ess, Allison Davidson, Miss Esther Morgan, Earl Hembree, Miss Myrtle Ess, Dave Worden, Miss Stella Hooper, Sam Enman, Chas. Faught, Miss Dorothy Morgan, Ila Hooper, Carl Barks. Interesting games were played thruout the evening. Dainty refreshments were served at midnight. The Star Spangled Banner was sung before the guests departed.

Will trade a good lot in Railroad Addition with spur track for good residence lot. See Chilcote. 9

With Fingers! Corns Lift Off

Don't hurt a bit to lift any corn or callus right off. Try It!

For a few cents you can get a small bottle of the magic drug free-sone recently discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Just ask at any drug store for a small bottle of free-sone. Apply a few drops upon a tender, aching corn or callus and instantly all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! not one bit of pain before applying free-sone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also hardened calluses on bottom of feet, shrivel up and fall off without hurting a particle. It's almost magical.

Ladies! Keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn or callus ache twice.—Adv.

FOOD PREPARADNESS

THREE WAYS TO DRY The simplest form of food conservation, sun drying, is to place pieces of food on sheets of paper or muslin and expose them to the sun, says today's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission of Washington, which is co-operating with the Evening Herald in a nationwide campaign to save food. At all times, care should be taken to protect the product from moisture, and along towards evening the material should be taken indoors. The food should be carefully covered with cheesecloth, to protect from insects. Once or twice a day the material should be turned and the dried pieces removed. No exact time can be given for drying, but a little experience will soon make it easy to determine when the products are sufficiently dried. When first dried, vegetables should be rather brittle, but not so dry as to snap or crackle, and fruits rather leathery and pliable. Product will mould if not dry enough.

In drying by artificial heat, cloth or wire trays may be suspended over the range or dishes of food may be placed in the oven, or specially constructed driers may be purchased. In oven drying the food stuffs may be placed on dishes or wire screens in a slow oven, with the door partially open. For drying over a stove, a single tray or series of trays may be suspended by a wire, or specially constructed driers may be placed directly upon the top of the stove. In drying by this process, care should be taken that the temperature is not too high. Drying by air blast takes advantage of electric fan or some similar device for creating a current of air, and directing it along a series of trays stacked one above the other. The number of trays is regulated by the size of the fan. A combination of this method with sun drying gives excellent results. Drying by this process may be done in twenty-four hours, or less, a few hours being sufficient in the case of some vegetables and fruits.

Before storing for the winter, it is essential that dried material be "conditioned" by pouring from one container to another daily for several days. All moist pieces should be returned to the drier until cured.

Proper packing and storing is of great importance. Tin cans and pasteboard boxes with tight fitting covers, moisture proof paper bags and similar containers may be used. Small packages should be used, so that the product may be consumed quickly after opening. Seal all cans and paper boxes with paraffin and the tops of bags tightly. Store all dried products in cool place free from moisture, insects and vermin, and label all packages for convenience in finding. By sending a two-cent stamp to 210 Maryland building, Washington, D. C., you will get a drying manual free.
