

U. S. Woman Diplomat At Hague Conference

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The first woman diplomatist to sit at a table of diplomatic negotiations, according to the Daily Mail, is Mrs. Darley Livingstone, who was one of the six British official representatives at the Anglo-German conference at The Hague recently, to deal with questions on prisoners of war.

Mrs. Livingstone is an American woman married to a British officer, and has been a member and secretary of the government committee on the treatment of the enemy of British prisoners since it was formed two years ago.

In the early days of the war Mrs. Livingstone used to do all the interviewing of the sick and wounded prisoners who were returned periodically, and also this work is now done largely by a large staff of volunteers, she still makes it a point of personally interviewing all escaped prisoners of war.

Mrs. Livingstone, talking about her visit to The Hague, said:

"People did seem surprised to find a woman among the British representatives. I am sure I don't know why, because there is really nothing that women are not doing in England today, is there? I had no means of telling what the German representatives thought, because, of course, we didn't talk to each other—not socially, I mean. Indeed, it would be quite impossible to give you an adequate idea of the extreme formality of the proceedings.

"I was there merely to assist Sir

Robert Younger, our chairman, with information, which as secretary of the committee I naturally have at command. It was real hard work all the time, and both parties were concerned solely with the welfare of the prisoners. Questions concerning them were the only ones discussed, and I think the agreements concluded will be found to be very satisfactory."

JAPANESE VIGOR DECREASING

TOKIO, Aug. 4.—Interpellating the government about the health of the nation, Baron Kenkwan Takagi, a well known medical scientist, speaking in the house of peers, declared that there was a gradual enfeeblement in the physique of the young men which was discouraging. He asked whether the government was considering any measures for the improvement of the health condition of the empire.

In reply, Premier Count Terauchi said the government was not satisfied with the present national hygiene, and would adopt all possible measures to bring about an improvement.

Here's Where We Give Walt Mason a Jar

From our constant daily reading we can see the thing we're needing is the stuff for fully feeding folks at home and folks afar. For the daily papers tell us facts and figures that compel us to be wide-awake and jealous of the waste we should debar. Bread and butter, beans and berries, kraut and cabbage, cheese and cherries and the eggs of Tom and Jerries should be saved thruout the land, so that ours, the fruitful nation, may prevent the quick starvation of the balance of creation in the troublous times at hand. Tho it seems inconsequential each small slice of bread's essential to keep famine pestilential from ourselves and our allies; waste of food is unpardonable, un-American, pernicious, and has consequence as vicious as a swarm of German spies. All our logic and our reason prove it's nothing short of treason if we let the growing season find us idly looking on, not considering or caring for the famine which is staring in our faces.

nor preparing for the days when summer's gone. Let us then do what we ought to, by devoting all our thought to saving foodstuffs we're taught to by the manuals complete which the National Commission has prepared in large edition for improving the condition of our stock of things to eat. This is something worth your trying, for by canning and by drying all the things that you've been buying you'll not merely feed yourselves, but you'll find from the beginning, that you've helped our troops in winning by the drying and the tinning which have stocked your pantry shelves.

Complete detailed instructions for preparing vegetables and fruits for winter needs are given in the Home Canning Manual and the Home Drying Manual issued by the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, 210-221 Maryland building, Washington, D. C. A copy of either manual may be had upon request, enclosing two cent stamp for postage.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

MOVIES TO SEARCH FOR MISSING GIRL

HAVANA, Aug. 4.—As a result of the failure of the police authorities to locate Ruth Armstrong, the American girl who recently mysteriously disappeared here, the American consulate is sending photographs of her to all the newspapers. Arrangements also are being made to have pictures of the young woman thrown on the screens of moving picture theaters thruout the island for the purpose of locating her.

HIGHER RATES RULED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—The board of railroad commissioners have won their fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission against discrimination in freight rates from Eastern points to cities in the Mississippi River district above St. Louis. The commission rules that rates to these points may exceed rates to lower Mississippi River points by not more than 1 cent per 100 pounds on first class shipments and half a cent on the other five classes.

TO FARMERS:

"The supreme need of our nation and of the nations with which we are cooperating is an abundance of supplies, and especially of foodstuffs." —From the President's Proclamation

Money, men, munitions and food are necessary war commodities. Money is plentiful. Men are available. We are speeding the manufacture of munitions. The farmer will do his full duty by pro-only to sustain our own people but to assist those with whom we are allied for the triumph of right.
