

Housekeeper's Column

NOTE—If any of the readers have discovered any aid or "short cut" in housekeeping, or a new economy that they would pass on to others, please send it to the Housekeeping Editor, in care of the Evening Herald, so that it can be printed. This column will appear weekly.

For Fruit Pies.
When baking very juicy pies, sift a layer of fine bread crumbs over the lower crust before putting in the fruit. This will insure a crisp lower crust, and the bread crumbs can be neither seen or tasted.

For Washing the Hair.
In houses where there is no running water, a very satisfactory method of rinsing the hair after washing it is to have some one pour water over it with a sprinkling can. This will be found to be much easier than changing the water in the basin several times.

A Blanket Pillow.
A neatly folded blanket placed inside a pillow cover with buttons and buttonholes, and placed on the couch, is always handy when needed, and kept free from soiling and out of the way in the cover when not in use.

For Children's Letters.
In one family the children who go away to school are supplied with a quantity of paper of uniform size, and at the end of the term the letters are all bound together to form a record of the year. This method would tend to create a desire for neatness and orderliness in letter writing in the child.

For the Automobile.
Comfort in the automobile is greatly enhanced by having one or two feather pillows covered with attractive button-on covers to be placed at the back or used as a foot rest.

For Crocheted Buttons.
Crocheted buttons frequently lose their shape after being laundered, and a good way to remedy this fault is to dip them in cold starch and mold them with the fingers until the desired shape, and then allow them to dry, when they will look like new.

Use for an Old Whisk Broom.
An old whisk broom, trimmed so that it forms a point, is invaluable for cleaning corners.

A New Idea for Cooking Potatoes.
When cooking new potatoes try putting a sprig of mint in the kettle with them, and the flavor will be greatly improved.

Telephone Calls.
For those who make many long distance calls, it is a wise plan to have a small bank by the telephone, and after each call put in the required amount, just as the using a public telephone. The monthly bills will then cease to be formidable.

A Time Saver.
When washing silver try putting it in a colander, washing and rinsing without removing it, and lifting colander and all out of the water. Care must be used to lay the silver in so that it will not be scratched, but it can be cleaned much easier.

A New Birthday Cake.
Place a buttered tumbler in the center of a large round cake tin and pour the batter in around the tumbler. The cake will cook perfectly without falling, and the glass can be easily removed. A pretty idea is to leave the glass in, and after the cake is frosted to fill the glass with flowers, candy or a little surprise in the way of tiny favors.

To Aid Punctuality.
One mother successfully solved the problem of punctuality at breakfast in the following manner: If a child was late to breakfast he was made to go to bed at night as many minutes earlier as he was late in the morning on the claim that his being late showed that he needed more sleep. Punctuality earned its reward by an extra amount of time to stay up Saturday evening.

For Those Who Gather Huckleberries.
Huckleberries dried thoroughly in the shade make a very acceptable substitute for raisins.

To Save Time in Shelling Peas.
Wash the peas thoroughly and put to boil in the pods. When they are done the pods will burst and can be skimmed off, while the peas go to the bottom. The flavor surpasses that of the peas shelled before cooking.

To Clean Painted Walls.
Use two pails of tepid water, wet cloth and sprinkle a little baking soda on it and wash wall. Rinse in clear water and wipe dry. Be sure to wash in one direction in order to avoid streaks. All grease and dirt will disappear with very little rubbing. Use the soda sparingly (a 5 cent package will be sufficient for the average kitchen.) In cleaning painted woodwork, a teaspoonful of kerosene added to warm water will work wonders.

For the One Who Sews.
Women whose eyes are troublesome, or who have trouble in threading needles, should use the long-eyed embroidery needles. When sewing on the sewing machine, put one foot forward and the other back on the pedal, and the work will be much less tiresome. Also be careful to have a comfortable chair.

Trolley Wreck in Which Nineteen Were Killed

Nineteen passengers were killed and more than forty were injured when two trolley cars collided head on at North Branford, Conn., twelve miles from New Haven, the other day. The accident is said to have been caused by the motorman of one of the cars from New Haven falling asleep and failing to stop at a siding, allowing the other car to pass on the one track line. He was among the killed.

brood. And if that interesting little family ever saw the light of day, and ever joined in the chorus of bird song and the merry life of the treetops, it was because many preparations had been made in advance for the realization of those hopes. All this is true in the art of character building as well as fortune building. The Scandinavians discovered America about a thousand years ago, and yet the western world was unknown to mankind until the advent of Columbus. It was because mental, moral and physical preparations are needful to make use of discoveries. They were unprepared by lack of knowledge to make proper use of their great achievement. Coal and iron and steam and electricity and timber have been before human eyes during the ages—but knowledge was required as a preparation to give them value and usefulness. In the struggle for existence primeval man has employed preparation. In the competitions of civilized life a wider preparation is demanded to gain success. The entire theory of human life is based on preparedness. In time of peace, and in the alarm of war, preparedness is man's only security. If great preparation is needed in secular life, how much also in spiritual things. I do not urge moral and spiritual reformation and regeneration so much to fit man for heaven. No, not that. But to fit him for the best life, the greatest usefulness, and the highest happiness here and now. Death to such a man has no terrors, and heaven will take care of itself. Christ gave proof of wisdom when he said: "Be ye also ready."

JAPANESE KICK ON HIGH PRICES

TOKIO, Aug. 22.—The steady rise in the price of necessities of life in Japan is calling forth protests from many quarters, especially from the ranks of the salaried workers. In many cases private employers have raised wages to meet the new conditions, and the government is considering some measures of advancing salaries. The giving of bonuses already has begun. The demand for high priced labor in the commercial and manufacturing branches is causing many young men and women to resign from the government service, and the result has been that both telegraph and telephone departments have suffered.

THEATER TICKET SPECULATION FORBIDDEN

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 22.—The Mexico City town council has ordered the arrest of any person caught speculating in theater tickets.

JOINS RANKS OF THE CRIPPLED
Gilbert Arnold is the latest man to join the ranks of the employed of Klamath Falls who are flying with one wing or walking with three legs. He mashed the thumb of his left hand in such a manner late yesterday evening that it resembled most anything else than a good thumb.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, stomach, liver and bowels the previous sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying hot water and limestone phosphate on your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

FEEL FRESH AND FIT

You can feel fine all summer and avoid the depression which is so often caused by an inactive liver and the resultant stomach and bowel troubles, by using Nyal's Little Liver Pills. They act as a mild laxative and at the same time tone up the bowels and increase the activity of the liver. Price 25c.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

Lessons In Preparedness

Rev. George H. Bennett

Man in his infancy is the embodiment of helplessness. What must have been the exists of the first man of the races? A study of the primitive races of today supplies the answer. He must subsist upon the more highly organized foods such as fruits, grain and meat. He must ever shelter his naked body with artificial clothing and protection against the chill of winter and the heat of summer. And yet he was totally unarmed with any natural weapons and was unsupplied with any natural implements for fishing, hunting or agriculture. He was without knowledge. He had no arts, no industries, nor theory of existence. Fruits and grains were scattered, and fish, fowl and beast were beyond his grasp. In the very nature of the case, the very existence of primeval man among the creatures of the earth, depended upon something. It depended upon preparation. Man must acquire knowledge, he must develop his powers, he must invent clothing and shelter, he must invent implements and weapons. In fact, human progress depended upon preparedness.

Every life has its times of crisis. How shall they be met without careful and adequate preparation? Such a crisis is seen in the life of every child, when its stubborn will meets the resisting power of parental authority in curbing its thought and conduct. Wisdom and firmness at such a time will usually direct the child into habits of obedience. Too often, however, small children of impetuous will conquer their parents and early form habits of lawlessness. Another crisis is met at the threshold of youth. Then physical and mental changes are rapidly taking place. If a boy grows up alone at the age of play, of ball and marbles, if he does not row, or sail, or skate, or race, or fish, or shoot—he will probably lead a sedentary, inactive life. Again, a youth who is a spendthrift, reckless in word or act, and shiftless in his habits, is very apt to become a slipshod man. One great purpose of education is to teach a child to think, and what to think, when to act and how to act. A child may be trained to behave properly, promptly, habitually, at all times—and this is of the highest importance in daily life. A child may be educated to have a strict regard for truth, or to exercise decision and courage, or to perform acts of benevolence, self-sacrifice and justice. On the other hand a child may be well versed in book lore, and have a large stock of precepts, and yet thru unfortunate training and companions fall into evil ways. It has been said some fathers give more attention to their livestock in the barn than to their children in the house. Still another crisis is met when the youth stands at the door of maturity. He is now to pass out into the world of struggle to make for himself a name and fortune. But what can that man hope to accomplish, without previous preparation of mind, and hand, and heart?

I saw a little chickadee inspecting a box in the pear tree. Soon I saw her bringing down material from the oak blossom to build her nest. She was preparing her home in a box that had already been prepared for her bird dwelling. It was a safe and snug retreat, where she might deposit her precious eggs and rear her little
