Commands N. Y. Negro Regiment

COL. WILLIAM HAYWARD

Colonel William Hayward of New York city and Nebraska, is the commander of the negro regiment of New York militia, the Fifteenth, which is ready for war. Colonel Hayward believes his black troops will make as good a showing when they go to France as any regiment in the service, and he believes every man is anxious to go.

These Five Brothers, of German Descent, Enlist

From left to right—Tate Strickland, aged 19; Oscar, aged 23; Otho, aged 25; Clem, aged 19; Claude, aged 21.

Five brothers in the Strickland family of Houston, Tex., have enlisted in the war, and among them are two pairs of twins, as their ages will show. Their mother, Mrs. Clem H. Strickland, is of direct German descent, but she told each boy that she expected him to fight for his country, and he straightway enlisted in Uncle Sam's big army.

Foot Ball to Be Played In West This Season

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—While the East seems destined to be deprived of the majority of its classic football contests this fall, owing to the war, the big game of the Pacific Coast hereabouts, that between the University of California and the University of Washington, apparently is assured, unless some unforeseen occasion arises to cancel it. The coaches in charge of the rival eleven's evidently are going to have their hands full for the reason that so much of their old material no longer is available that practically new football machines will have to be built up. While the quality of the play may not be up to former seasons, the interest in the result is not likely to be less. The fact that Washington will have to reconstruct its team will be a large element in favor of the Californians, who only have had two years experience in the American game after their return to it from the Rugby code, and practically will put them on an even footing with the Northwesterners. Washington's veteran material has been the greatest handicap which the green Californians have been obliged to combat. With new men on both teams, the outcome of the game will be an uncertainty, whereas, in the past two years the principal question has been, how low California could hold the Washington score.

LOGGER HAS CLOSE CALL

G. R. MANNING IS STRUCK BY A FALLING LIMB AT SWAN LAKE. HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM BEING KILLED

A narrow escape from being killed was the experience of G. R. Manning of this city, at the Robbins logging camp at Swan Lake yesterday. As it was, he suffered serious and painful injuries. Manning had been engaged in falling a tree, and had stepped aside to let it fall to the ground. The tree in its descent broke a dead limb off an adjacent tree, which was unnoticed by Manning. The limb, which was a large one, struck the unfortunate man on the head and shoulders, knocking him to the ground instantly. The accident occurred before noon, but owing to the lack of telephone communication it was some time later before medical assistance could be summoned. Dr. E. D. Johnson was called, and by the time he had arrived the man had regained consciousness. His injuries were cared for, and it is now believed he will recover. Manning resides here with his wife at the Townsend flats.

SHERIFF TAKES MAN TO SALEM

YOUNG MAN PAROLED FROM REFORM SCHOOL IS RETURNED—WILL BRING BACK C. C. RANDOLPH FOR NEW TRIAL

To return with Raymond Manning to the state reform school at Salem, from which place he was paroled some time ago, Sheriff George Humphrey left this morning. He intends to drive to Ashland and take the train from there. Manning is being returned to the reform school on account of his breaking the terms of his parole. He has been charged with stealing a watch from Mrs. E. A. Rutherford of this city, and has been guilty of other misdemeanors. On his return Friday Sheriff Humphrey will bring C. C. Randolph from the penitentiary, who has been granted a new trial for cattle stealing. Randolph was convicted last year for the larceny of an animal in the northern part of the county, and has served a part of his sentence. The supreme court has granted him a rehearing.

H. C. Wilson, his two sons, Hilbert and Hawatha, Clarke Bargar have returned to their home in Roseburg, accompanied by E. L. Roadman of Klamath Falls.
