New Red Cross For Northwest Field

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—Henry P. Davidson, chairman of the Red Cross war council, announced today the appointment of C. D. Stimson, president of the Stimson mills and the C. D. Stimson company, one of the best known business men in the Northwest, as manager of the Northwestern division of the Red Cross.

Mr. Stimson has accepted the task as a patriotic duty, and will serve without salary throughout the war.

The Northwestern division of which Mr. Stimson will have direct supervision, comprises the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho, with a membership of 84,529, divided among seventy-nine chapters. Headquarters are at Seattle. Under the new decentralized organization of the Red Cross, now being put into effect by Harvey D. Gibson, the general manager, all executive direction of chapter activities is in the hands of the division manager. Assisting him are representatives of the main departments of Red Cross activities in Washington, who will be in charge of military relief, home service, nursing and first aid instruction, and the making of all hospital and surgical supplies.

Mr. Stimson is the eleventh division manager of the thirteen to be named by the Red Cross war council. With the selection of managers for the Gulf Division at New Orleans and the Potomac Division at Washington the new system will be functioning nationally. As rapidly as each division headquarters is organized, records and the direction of chapters is turned over to it by the national authorities.

As manager of the Pacific Division, comprising the states of California, New Mexico and Arizona, the War Council has just appointed Marshall Hale of San Francisco. Like Mr. Stimson, Mr. Hale has given up business to devote himself to Red Cross work for the period of the war.

"WHAT makes the OWL so good?" a smoker asks.

There are several reasons. But first of all comes the million dollar supply of mellowing leaf that is always in reserve for the OWL.

That "sureifies" the OWL'S mellow flavor. All the equipment and experience of the OWL factories go to bring out that fine flavor in the best way, in every OWL you buy.
