BUCKING CONTEST HERE THIS WEEK

CHAMPION RIDERS WILL TACKLE WILD OUTLAWS HERE SATURDAY AND SUNDAY—DOLLAR PER SECOND FOR RIDING BULL

Owing to a desire of many of the old time stockmen of the county, to see a public bucking horse riding contest under the same conditions as exist on the range, arrangements have been made for an exhibition of this nature Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23.

Among the famous riders who will participate on this occasion are C. C. Couch, known all over the West as a rider of unusual ability and winner of many prizes; Love Chandler, famous at the Elks Rodeo in Klamath Falls and first prize winner at last year's show at Treka, will be on hand. One hundred dollars will be offered by the management for any horse brought in that these two cannot ride.

One of the features of the occasion will be Nero, the world's champion bucking bull, valued at $1,000. One dollar per second is paid his riders, and it can be readily seen that a ride of an hour or two would be worth the time of most anyone.

The Rube clown will also be one of the attractions.

The beautiful, wild, unriden "Strahorn" will be brought in for this event, and a number of the best riders will attempt to stay on his back. J. Frank Adams, William Dalton and E. O. Logan of Bend, have been named as judges in the riding and steer tying contest.

The Saracens in Prophecy

Studies in Revelation tonight at the little brown church. Thrilling lessons in history written in prophecy. You are invited.

MEETING PLACE CHANGED

The ladies of the Methodist church will meet on Thursday afternoon at 2:30, with Mrs. Mayer on Eighth and Jefferson streets, instead of with Mrs. Lewis, as previously announced.

ART CLUB MEETS FRIDAY

The Domestic Art Department of the Woman's Library Club will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 in the club rooms. The work of the afternoon will be knitting, and those wishing to learn to knit are asked to prepare themselves with No. 3 bone or celluloid knitting needles and a ball of Dexter cotton or yard, for practice. The No. 3 needles are the same size as those used for Red Cross knitting. Those who already know how to knit are asked to come to teach the beginners.

World's Longest Potato Patch Near Pendleton

PENDLETON, Sept. 19.—A potato patch fifteen miles long, said to be the longest patch in the world, lies along the Joseph branch of the Oregon, Washington Railroad and Navigation company in Eastern Oregon, according to reports received here.

With the consent of the company the potatoes were planted in the right of way by employes and farmers living along the line.

The Official Seal of China Is Lost

PEKIN, Sept. 19.—Pekin has been much agitated over the disappearance of the official seals. When President Li Yuan Hung was forced to give up the presidency, General Ting Kwan, the keeper of the presidential seals, took them to Shanghai. Another prominent official disappeared with the seals of the house of representatives.

When the attempt at monarchical restoration had been defeated, and Premier Tuan Chi-ji declared the republic had been restored, there was much consternation because of the disappearance of the seals of the republic. General Ting Kwan was arrested in Shanghai, and after a hard legal struggle was brought back to Peking, together with the missing presidential seals, and is to have a hearing before a Chinese court.

JURY FOR SUIT NOT COMPLETE

Considerable interest is being taken today in the first municipal railroad condemnation suits commencing in the Circuit Court of Judge D. V. Kuykendall.

Frank Corpening of Olene is the defendant in this action, which is being prosecuted by City Attorney R. C. Groesbeck. Corpening asks a greater sum for his property than which the railroad is believed to be believed right and proper by the city.

Attorney C. F. Stone and Wilson E. Wiley appear for the defendant. The jury for the case has not been completed yet.
