GERMAN WIRELESS PLANT IN 'FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—A huge modern wireless receiving plant has been seized by United States officers in the heart of San Francisco.

The plant was at the home of Edward Abrahamson, whose son, Ray Abrahamson, was a licensed wireless operator up to the time President Wilson issued his proclamation April 8th, canceling wireless licenses and ordering all private plants put out of business.

A raid on the Abrahamson home was led by Lieutenant H. D. Hays of the naval communication service. The plant was cleverly concealed.

Abrahamson and his son were absent when the officers broke in. Several Hindu lodgers were found in the place. The plant was for receiving only, being so equipped that no messages could be transmitted from it.

HURN LOSES HIS WHISTLER

KLAMATH FALLS BOY TACKLES NORTH CAROLINA PERMISSUM WITH BAD RESULTS—WRITES AMUSING LETTER

In one of the most interesting and humorous letters so far received from the local boys now in the service of Uncle Sam, Ralph Hurn describes to his mother some of the incidents in the life at Camp Greene, N. C. His letter follows in part:

"My new address is now in care of the 162nd Infantry, The Third Oregon is no more, and we are now the U. S. N. G.

The people down here sure talk funny. They "reckon we-alls air funny people." Believe me, the Southerners certainly have a talk of their own. I used to think that the people up North exaggerated the Southern talk, but now I know that they didn't. The other day one of the boys was on a street car, and an old lady looked at him and said: "What you-all from?" He said, "Oregon." "My," she said, "this is something new to you, I reckon." (She meant the street car.)

They have a wonderful conception of the West. One fellow told me that he certainly had always longed to go out and see some of our towns out on the big rolling prairies. They half expected us to bring pet Indians with us. They were disappointed when they saw that we wore uniforms instead of cowboy outfits. We haven't even shot up the town ones yet! We are some sad disappointment. A lady stopped the other day, and I told her I was from Oregon. She asked me if I knew her boy. She said he was out West, and I might have met him. I asked where he was, and found that he was a traveling man in Indiana. I told her that I had never been over that way on account of the danger in the Nevada forests. She was satisfied, and went on.

This is also some reckless town. Everything is closed on Sunday except the drug stores, and they only sell drugs. But it has its wild men here. There are "bootleggers" (they call them) who sneak around the back streets and dispense Camel cigarettes and coca-cola. Can you imagine a cigarette and coca-cola bootlegger?

Atlanta, Ga., and New Orleans are my favorite places of the cities that we came thru. I prefer San Francisco or Portland to either of them, tho. I will sure be glad to get the comfort bag and the sweater, because it is very cold here at night and in the morning, and we have to get up in the morning at 5:45.

There are cotton fields all around here. I am not even curious enough to look at them any more. I ate my first permissum today (also my last). I can't whistle any more."

Drive Starts For Food Conservation

Herbert Hoover Declares Every Citizen in the United States Will Be Enlisted in Movement. House to House Canvass of 22,000,000 Families to Be Made

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—That the final drive for food conservation pledges will be made during the week of October 21 to 28, is the message received from the Food Administration at Washington, by Ralph P. Merritt, Federal Food Commissioner for California, this morning.

The enrollment campaign is organized by states, and most of the states have already completed their preliminary arrangements for assuring the complete success of the effort within their borders. A house to house canvass of the 22,000,000 families in the United States and the enrollment of every man and woman of this nation in a mighty food conservation army of that will win the war is the task that the food administration has undertaken for the week of October 21 to 28.

Herbert C. Hoover, the United States food administrator, today formally announced this final campaign that will enlist every citizen in the world war for democracy. In a personal statement and appeal he sets forth the problem and its solution.

"On the success of this unprecedented adventure in democracy," said the food administrator in his appeal, "will largely stake the issue of the war." "Food will win the war," is the battle cry. Nearly 2,000,000 women have taken the pledge to furnish the food our allies and overseas armies require, and already they are visibly increasing the available supplies. The small amounts which each individual is asked to save thru substitution and avoidance of waste when multiplied by millions becomes an effective total. The whole problem will be solved if the American people eat less of the foods which, because of their concentrated nutritive, must be sent abroad, and more of other foods of which there is an abundance.

The foods that must be saved are wheat, beef, pork, dairy products and sugar.

Those that should be used generously are fish, poultry, vegetables and all cereals except wheat.

PEACE MAKERS MEET IN LOS ANGELES HOME

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—With three of their leaders under arrest and twice driven by the police from downtown public meeting places, the Christian Pacifists met the situation with a meeting in a private home with the challenge that they would continue their "peace conference" at Eagle Rock City, a suburb.

The pacifists were a bit cautious in their arraignment of war. But knowing that police and federal agents surrounded the house, they were outspoken in their denunciation of the envoys of the law. Miss Fannie Bixby, wealthy Long Beach heiress, presided.
