Wild Animal Life Rapidly Decreasing

POKANE, Wash., Oct. 19.—An alarming decrease in wild animal life in the last decade threatens the extinction of some species, according to Walter Penn Taylor, of the bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture. He spent the summer gathering on birds and mammals of the region. "I think there is particularly grave danger of the total extinction of the mountain goat," he said. "I believe that a law creating a closed season for beaver, mink, martin, otter and other fur bearing animals would be excellent."

Practically all the work of the biological survey in this state last season was in the Cascade mountains west of Yakima and on the Yakima reservation, he said.

Market Reports

PORTLAND, Oct. 19.—Conditions in the livestock market continue active in the Northwest, with heavy receipts received at the Portland stockyards for the week's opening. A healthy tone prevails in all departments of the market, with a substantial show of strength in the hog department, and some signs of weakness in the hog department. The price that appeared in the yards for a week's opening sale show splendid breeding and splendid husbandry. The price of good cattle on the market was much larger than that which was shown last week, and still demand for good cattle continues strong. The price of finished steers advanced about 25c, and 25c was paid to the top end of bull prices in a week's trading, with a strong demand for all other classes. One load of extra good cows changed hands at $10, and aside from this the cow was $7.50, which shows a strong tendency in this class. The bulk of the grade steers went at $10 to $10.10, and the bulk of first grade steers went at $7.50.

The hog market opened up with bullish tendencies, and dealings bore marks of an oncoming decline.

Tops crossed the scales at $17.35, and the bulk of hogs sold for 17c, with not a few changing hands as low as $16.85, no southern hogs going higher than $17. The bears seem to be getting the best of things in the hog market throughout the country and Portland is in the wake of the general decline. The week's opening in the hog market is pointing towards a lower price level.

The sheep market is opening the week with the same tendency to strength, which was shown in the closing hours of the previous week's trading. A heavy shipment of breeding ewes changed hands in the open market this morning at $15 to $17. Other classes continue at the same quotations as previously issued, with an active demand for wethers and lambs in the killing classes. Wethers are selling at $11.75 to $12.25, and lambs are changing hands readily at 14c.

Benny Kauff Coming in on Second Home Run

When Benny Kauff, the fighting center fielder of the New York Giants, made one home run in the fourth game of the world's series between the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox at the Polo grounds, he was hailed as a hero. When he hit the ball into the right field stand and made another, scoring Herzog ahead of him, rooters for the New York club went wild. Kauff had earned a place in the baseball hall of fame as high as any other place there. The photograph shows Herzog just reaching the home plate and Kauff behind him. Herzog is pointing to the right field stand, where Kauff batted the ball.

LADY BLACKSMITHS

NOW IN VOGUE

BREMERTON, Wash., Oct. 19.—"Miss Susie Smith, blacksmith's helper," sounds like the days of the Amazons, but it's merely the commonplace twentieth century in the Puget Sound navy yard.

Women are now being listed at the navy yard with the rating of "blacksmith's helper," "machinist's helper," "general helper," etc., titles that formerly were borne only by men under civil service rules.

The rating of helper in various trades is given to women who are assigned to the various shops as timekeepers, stenographers and clerks. These places, formerly held by men, are now exclusively occupied by women.

"The navy yard has become 'cussless,'" commented one of the masculine employees. "When we want to swear now we write it down on a piece of paper and throw it in the waste basket."

BE PRETTY TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

TRY GRANDMOTHER'S OLD FAVORITE RECIPE OF SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, gray or streaked. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty. Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffing, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Adv.

Robertson Sliding to Third After Hit Which Won Game

Dave Robertson, the lean and lanky game of the world's series for the Baseman Holke put him with a double play, who played right field for the Chicago White Sox, for the first run of the game, and the New York Giants, with Ruben Leno in the box, won the third base after his long triple to left. First necessary run.
