KLAMATH FALLS PRODDED

of Klamath Falls in particular do not yet realize what the war means.

"The great army you have in your midst, commanded by General Apathy and General Scoffer, traitors and slackers. It is not lack of patriotism, it is lack of vision. We are bound in by the walls of little things, personal whims, prejudices, animosities, home ties and community narrowness. We must kick down those walls, elect a new general who swears allegiance to the Stars and Stripes, and puts duty above all else."

The speaker developed the idea that 60 per cent of the war must be fought at home in order that 40 per cent may be fought in Europe. "We must whip the Hun in Europe or we will have to fight him here."

"All other wars were simply motifs or prelude to this climax in the symphony in the struggle for human freedom. This is the war of ideas, enlightening the world, shaking it out of itself, recreating the souls of men."

Mr. Vining sketched the horrors of Prussianism, lauded the heroic spirit of France and concluded with a moving appeal for support for the coming food conservation campaign.

"Remember," he said, in closing, "the lying diplomacy of Germany in our own land, the infamous work promoted by her representatives while enjoying the friendly courtesy and hospitality of this government. Kick out General Apathy and come to the colors. Out of the scum of every-day things, we are born anew with the beautiful spirit of service, better citizens and better Americans. God of the Nations, be with us yet. Let us forget. Let us forget."

Moving Pictures

An exceptionally good feature photoplay at the opera house entitled "Around the World in Eighty Days," by Jules Verne, who is also the author of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," is showing tonight and tomorrow night. Mr. Verne is a recognized author and is considered to be one of the best writers known. This fact alone should guarantee this production. The story in brief depicts an heir who is left a fortune on condition that he circles the globe and returns married in eighty days. A large wager is made that it cannot be done. The hero (Henry Garick) in making the tour of the world, encounters various difficulties and thrilling adventures. This picture is interwoven in a masterful way, with a gripping plot that leaves the onlooker in ignorance as to what is coming next, surprise follows surprise, until the climax is reached. It is educational, exciting and interesting from start to finish, and worth going miles to see.

In "Madcap Madge," the latest Triangle play, in which Olive Thomas makes her screen debut, the mysteries of what takes place in the exclusive and expensive seminaries are revealed. The illumination that Miss Thomas sheds on this is extremely valuable. We are shown what steps young ladies go thru before they are graduated into the ranks of debutantes. There she comes in the dormitories, where the palace maid girls lay out campaigns of mischief for the coming day. Perhaps the most interesting scenes are in the "gym," where the girls are seen going thru their exercises. At the Star tonight.

FOUR LECTURES SCHEDULED SOON

DOMESTIC ART DEPARTMENT OF WOMAN'S LIBRARY CLUB WILL ASSIST GOVERNMENT IN FOOD CONSERVATION

Following the instructions of the government in regard to food conservation, the Domestic Art teachers of the city and the Domestic Art Department of the Woman's Library Club are offering a series of four lectures to all the housewives of Klamath Falls. These lectures will be given at the Library Club rooms, and will begin next Tuesday, when R. H. Dunbar will talk on "Food Conservation General." Following that, on each consecutive Tuesday, a talk will be made by Miss Mears, Miss Sanderson and Miss Elmer. The complete program is as follows: October 30—"Food Conservation." November 5—"Conserving Our Local Products." November 13—"Conservation of Meats, Fats and Sugar." November 21—"War Bread Demonstration." These lectures are particularly meant for the housewives in general, and are given at the special request of the food commission.

PROFESSOR VINING TO TALK FRIDAY NIGHT

Arrangements have been made for an address to the teachers of Klamath Falls and Klamath County tomorrow evening at the Central school by Prof. Irving E. Vining, who will talk on the subject of "Enthusiasm." The lecture will be at 8 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited to hear this address, and in view of the attendance at the mass meeting last night, it is expected that many will take advantage of the invitation.
