Food Saving Drive Starts Over Nation

Opening Guns of Food Pledge Week Fired From Pulpits of Country Yesterday. Field Work Begins Today. School Children to Take Active Part

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 29.—Food Pledge Week begins thruout the United States today. It will be the culminating seven days following months of preparation to enlist America's 22,000,000 housewives in the government's food conservation campaign.

The opening smash of the big drive began with food conservation sermons yesterday morning and evening by a majority of the country's hundred thousand ministers. This was followed this morning by the active field work of the national army of 500,000 men and women volunteers which has been organized and preparing for the drive for weeks.

The ministers' verbal explanation of how and why the government wants its 22,000,000 housewives to conserve wheat, meat, fats and sugar so we can make up our European allies' food shortage, will be emphasized by the volunteers personally visiting each housewife.

Directing himself to the farm women of the nation, Herbert Quick of the Federal Farm Board, and editor of farm papers and magazines, said: "Food Pledge Week is a big and a splendid thing. The attention of the nation must be centered upon it. Do you know what the Food Pledge Week 'drive' will be? Every home in the United States will be visited during this week by patriotic people who will tell how food may be saved for our soldiers, the soldiers of our allies, for the poor people of the warring nations and for ourselves. Get into the Food Pledge Week campaign. Make your kitchen a Food Pledge kitchen, and do all you can to make all other kitchens Food Pledge kitchens.

"You will thus help win the war." The United States Food Administration has expressed its anxiety that the 500,000 men and women volunteers who go up and down the land ringing doorbells this week, put "the simple, the vitally important, food conservation plan clearly before every housewife, impressing upon each the real significance of the old song: 'Every Little Bit, Added to What You've Got, Makes Just a Little Bit More.' It is the 'Little Bit' added by each of our 22,000,000 housewives which is going to make up the food shortage and avert famine and disaster among our European allies, the administration points out.

President Wilson has evinced his personal interest in the importance of Food Pledge Week's success. "If we are to supply our allies with the necessary food," said the president in a letter to the food administrator, agent Food Pledge Week, "and are to reduce our own prices of food stuffs during the coming winter, it can only be accomplished by the utmost self-denial and service on the part of all our people thru the elimination of waste and by rigid economy in the use of food."

Recent cables to the American government from the government of France have stressed the imminent food shortage in that country, and begged that no effort be spared to get the needed supplies to keep hunger from descending upon the people of France.

Thousands of school children will follow up the work of the 500,000 volunteers. These children have been organized and working on preliminary Food Pledge Week campaign work thruout the nation.

OLDEST BELLBOY

WILL SOON RETIRE

MISOU, Mont., Oct. 29.—Henry Freesler, 56 years of age, and a bellboy in a local hotel, believes his 36 years of service in that capacity entitles him to designation as the oldest bellboy in the United States. He says he has carried luggage for many celebrities, including King Alfonso of Spain.

"Treat the public fairly and you will be well treated," he declares. "All you have to do is to play square with people and they will reward you, and the next thing is to save your money."

Freesler says he has considerable real estate and a comfortable bank account. Some day he hopes to visit some of the hotels where he has worn brass buttons and let the other boys wait on him.

Chilcote has the exclusive sale of several good houses. They are well located, and terms are easy. 6

Deplorable Conditions Prevail In Greece

ATHENS, Oct. 29.—Bad food and the lack of all food among the poor because of European war conditions, are set down as one of the main causes of great mortality and sickness in the official health report of Athens, which says:

"During the month of July there has been a very great increase in sickness, due certainly to the bad food of the population; to the detestable quality of the foodstuffs, and to the complete want of some of the chief articles of alimentation." The death list is given at 510, or about seventeen a day.

Based on this report, the Messenger of Athens makes a plea to the entente powers for "more bread before more cannon."

"Let us have bread," it says, "from charity, from military or political reasons, or from solidarity. Let us have bread! Read the municipal statistics." It declares that what England and France know as privation would be luxury for the majority of the Greeks, who before the war could hardly feed themselves, and since the blockade of Greek ports have been under a veritable famine. Rice, dry beans and peas, the chief foods of the poor, have disappeared or reached fabulous prices, making them impossible for the poor, it asserts, while meat, fish, eggs, poultry, butter and milk were never possible for the poor except on holidays, and are now entirely beyond their reach.

His Discovery Turned Down

GARABED T. K. GIRAGOSIAN

Garabed T. K. Giragosian, an Armenian from Boston, appeared in Washington with the announcement that he had discovered a method of obtaining "free energy" from the air to replace all other methods of obtaining power, and after having convinced several members of congress, a bill was passed appropriating money for a test. President Wilson refused to sign the bill. The claims of the discoverer, if substantiated, would have replaced fuel and all other means of obtaining power.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

LOOK YOUNG! BRING BACK ITS NATURAL COLOR, GLOSS AND ATTRACTIVENESS

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 5-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite, and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
