Special Saturday matinee, Star theater. Mary Pickford in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

KLAMATH PROVES SUGAR BEET SECTION

obstacles have arisen from time to time to prevent the total yield from running as high as it otherwise might, very good results, generally speaking, have been obtained.

Superintendent Flannigan appears well pleased with the results, and is now here looking after the shipment of the beets. A large siding has been built beside the track near the city, where the beets are being hauled. A number of carloads have already left for the factory, and more are to follow. It is too early at this time to get an accurate estimate on the yield and the quality of the beets, but it is believed that this will prove highly satisfactory.

The verdict thus given by Mr. Flannigan will be noted with great satisfaction by a number of enthusiastic citizens of Klamath, who have maintained for years that the Klamath district was especially adapted to beet culture, and have made untiring efforts to induce some company to come in here.

Moving Pictures

Mary Pickford in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." Never has a star appeared in a more desirable, as well as suitable characterization. Known throughout the land as "America's Sweetheart," Mary is just the person to portray the national type of "Rebecca," the little country girl who fought her battles alone and traveled a particularly rough road leading to her womanhood. The many charms and quaint situations of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" are brought out in the Art craft picture as only Mary Pickford can. The photoplay will appear at the Star commencing tonight.
