STEAMSHIP MEALS REDUCED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—Meals on board trans-Pacific liners are minus many of their delicacies as a result of the food conservation campaign. The steamship companies have entered into the movement to curtail the consumption of meat, sugar and fats, and to serve more fish.

In view of the fact that the government controls every steamer and sailing vessel of more than 2,500 tons, it is expected that the campaign will be effective. The companies themselves are said to be doing all they can to aid the plan, while the passengers appear to be complaining but little.

Moving Pictures

Bessie Barriscale stars in the Triangle play, "Wooden Shoes," a quaint story of Holland life, which will be presented at the Star tonight. A $35,000 Dutch village, with canals winding among the windmills and tile roofed houses, was erected for the production, which was directed by Raymond B. West. A company of seventy hundred players, including popular Triangle kiddies, appear in the street scenes, while Bessie clatters about in wooden shoes selling flowers to the tourists. Later the action shifts to America, where Bessie meets an artist for whom she posed back in the Netherlands.

Having laughed with Taylor Holmes in his famous stage characterizations you cannot help but enjoy his work in his first Essanay comedy, "Efficiency Edgar's Courtship," taken from the story of that name which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. See him at the Temple tonight.
