RECOVERS AFTER BOWLING LONG ILLNESS CONTEST TONIGHT

The friends of William Hagelstein of the First State and Savings bank, will be glad to hear that he is now recovering from his extended illness in California, and is able to be on his feet after a siege which commenced early in September.

Mr. Hagelstein left in early September to wed a young lady in Watsonville, Calif. He was ill before starting, and shortly after the ceremony came down with a severe attack of typhoid fever. He was later taken to Santa Monica in Southern California, where careful nursing saved his life. His father, John Hagelstein of Algoma, returned from that point a few days ago.

Mrs. Bertha Hill of Grants Pass, who has been spending several days in this city as the guest of Mrs. Joe Moore, has returned to her home.

Commencing this evening the bowling tournament between the Palm alley champions and the B. P. O. rollers will be on in full swing. There was a spirited contest last year between the bowlers of these two alleys, and from present indications there will be still greater interest this year. Klamath Falls has some very good material in the way of bowlers, and those who attend the matches are assured of seeing something good. The high score made this year at the Palm alley is 238, but it is very probable that this total will be bettered under a much heavier score during the coming contest.
