Suffragists Claim Amendment Will Pass In These States

Woman suffragists, who won a victory in the house of representatives when that body passed the constitutional amendment believe they will be able to convince twenty-four more states the amendment should be adopted by them, that is, if it goes to them from the United States senate, which has yet to act. There are now twelve full suffrage states, and five more which permit women to vote in presidential contests. Others have various limited forms of suffrage. Five presidential and twelve full suffrage states are, of course, expected to vote for the amendment. Nineteen others, some of which have various forms of suffrage, must vote for the amendment to fill the constitutional requirement of thirty-six states. Conservative suffragists think Delaware and Vermont are doubtful.

Red Cross Aids U.S. Cause In Italy

By GEORGE MARTIN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22.—The American Red Cross shipped a flourishing German propaganda against America in the bud by carrying the Stars and Stripes and needed relief into Italy at the time of Italy's first severe reverse, according to a cable from Major Murphy to Chairman Davison of the Red Cross war council, received here today.

Spies were rapidly spreading the word that America was unfriendly to Italy, didn't care what happened to her, and was afraid to antagonize Austria. The people believed the stories. Major Murphy's graphic cable speaks for itself.

"When we reached Italy refugees were streaming down from the North. Indescribably pathetic conditions existed. The unexpected military reverse had stunned the nation. Rumors of all sorts were in the air.

"A vicious propaganda had spread the report that America was not friendly to Italy; that we were not interested in the war, and even that we were afraid to antagonize Austria, as well as Germany.

"America apparently had no available means of expression. Congress was not in session. Our army could not act. Fortunately, however, the Red Cross was in a position not only to respond immediately to the call of the suffering, but also to carry the message of the American people to Italy in the hour of her distress.

"Working in conjunction with our own state department and the Italian government, we used every available means of supply and distribution to assist the ally of our country. Within approximately two weeks after our arrival we had established warehouses and branch warehouses to supply all important points.

"We opened shelters for homeless women and children. We distributed condensed milk to little children.

"We dispatched three emergency workers on a tour of Italy, with 500,000 lire in small bank notes, to give immediate aid where it was needed.

"At the presentation of our first three ambulance sections to the Italian army, thru the general of the division, there were represented our own state department, the French army, the British army, the Italian Red Cross and the military sanitary department of the government. As our sections passed thru the streets on their way to the front, after the ceremony, the streets were filled with enthusiastic crowds and American flags flew everywhere.

"Whatever else we may have done or failed to do, we have raised the American flag from one end of Italy to the other, and our youngsters today are doing their part in helping to hold the Piave line."

U. S. Officers Abroad Overcharged for Clothes

By J. W. PEXLER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY ARMY IN FRANCE, Dec. 15.—(By mail)—Pretty soon the clothing pirates of Paris and London will begin to realize there's a war on. It's a war of prices.

When an American officer can buy trench boots for $9 from the quartermaster's canteens there'll be a slump in sales in the $40-boot stores. And $9 is the price fixed for leather trench boots. The first supply is on the way.

Boots will be followed by a stock of whipcord breeches to sell at 7 a pair. Just now you can buy a fairly good pair of whipcords in a Paris military tailor shop for about $20, and in London they cost $25.

Sam Brown belts are another article of officer's equipment which will be sold thru the quartermaster at bedrock prices. Some of the officers who bought belts in New York before sailing paid as high as $20 for them. The quartermaster will sell them for $8 each.

And there'll be trench coats with the detachable lining for $28. There seems to be no limit to the price of warm lined trench coats in Paris and London. They can be had for $40, and they run to $60 and over.

All the big officers' outfitters in Paris and London claim they are selling at the lowest possible prices. They blame the high cost of equipment on scarcity of labor and material.

Maybe that's so; but you can get a uniform from a civilian tailor in the American headquarters town for about $35. And a good Paris tailor wants about $55 for a suit. A difference of $20.

And the quartermaster will under-sell them both.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

WE EAT TOO MUCH MEAT, WHICH CLOGS KIDNEYS, THEN THE BACK HURTS

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness, and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the cells of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.
