CAN RUN "NO WAIT" SHOW WITH ONE MACHINE WHERE TWO WERE FORMERLY REQUIRED. PATENT APPLIED FOR.

By thinking of a comparatively simple lens, but thinking it at about the right time and about the right thing, Frank L. Terwilliger, movie operator at the Star Theatre, has worked out a method by which eight or ten thousand feet of film can be run off by one machine, without a stop and has applied for a patent on the improvement which he feels sure will be allowed.

So successful has the improvement worked out, that after getting the apparatus in order Mr. Terwilliger was able to run off over thirty miles of film without a single break.

A large circular metal box has been installed over the machine at the Star which holds the entire program for the evening in one roll. A reel of a regular size is put in position below the lens differing only from the standard reels in the method of catching the film. In the former style of reel a spring catch was used by which the string of film was caught and attached, but the time required for the operation was of such length that it would have been impossible to change the lower reels while the big one above continued to run. Instead of the catch therefore
