

Merchant Shipping In America Fast Growing

NEW YORK, March 19.—America has created merchant shipping within the past three years to the extent which ordinarily would not have been developed throughout a quarter of a century had not Germany's submarine warfare destroyed tonnage in quantities so vast as to create a crisis in the world's maritime situation. This building of cargo ships which will restore the American flag to the seven seas is today only in its infancy, and the preparing of young men to take their places as sailors and officers on these vessels, and on those which are to come, is the problem which the United States Shipping Board has agreed to solve, thru a Sea Training Bureau established by its Recruiting Service.

The work of this Sea Training Bureau was actually put under way on January 1. Beginning April 1 it will graduate into the nation's merchant marine about fifty boys daily. Seventy-five boys were transferred from farm hands, store clerks and others of civilian character into sailors during a period of training which terminated February 26—the first group of 50,000 which the Shipping Board plans to place in active service. This national system of turning landlubbers into seamen is in operation for the first time in America's history.

The United States Shipping Board is not basing its system of training on war conditions. Millions of tons of new shipping will go into commission under the American flag during the next two years and the cry "Man the new ships!" must be answered by thousands of American boys who lived far from the seacoast, according to Eugene E. O'Connell, the Shipping Board's Supervisor of Sea Training.

ANY NAME BUT THAT

I've beamed when you hollered "Oh, Girlie!"
I've hopped when you hollered "Oh, Say!"
I've fallen for "Dearly" and "Missus,"
And everything else till today.

But there's one thing that got to be different,
From now till the great war is done—
Unless you're prepared for a riot
You've got to quit calling me "Hun."

THE HAGUE, March 19.—The Dutch press bitterly assails England and the United States for their demands regarding the Dutch ships.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning luscious bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Ad.

New Champion Billiardist Is 21 Years Old

When August Kieckhofer, aged 21, beat Alfred De Oro for the three cushion billiard championship, he surprised a lot of cue experts. But he showed indications that he is a real champion, and that he will remain long in the class, if not at its head. This billiard championship changes hands so rapidly that it is impossible to predict that any one will hold it more than six months.

English Royalty Is Strong On Conservation

LONDON, March 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—King George and Queen Mary were among the first in England, as was Mrs. Wilson in the United States, to make their household conform to the rigorous rationing system of a food minister or administrator. Like the White House at Washington, the royal family and staff at Buckingham palace have been placed on the diet suggested by the man chosen to conserve the nation's food supply in England, Lord Rhonda.

From the early days of the ministry of food, the king has insisted that every suggestion for self denial which has been put before the people of the country must be loyally observed throughout the royal household.

Sir Derek Keppel, master of the household, said in an interview this week:

"We are all in line here with the rationing, and I am saying no more than what is common knowledge when I tell you that I never knew any people so thoroughly conscientious in this matter as the king and queen. They accept the restrictions with the most noticeable cheerfulness, taking real pleasure in bearing their share of the food hardships.

"The royal household is a large and varying one. Its changing character makes some difficulty in the rationing, but if any error is made in the calculation it is in the direction of 'less' rather than 'more.' We keep in constant touch with the ministry of food, learning each day whatever new regulations may be impending.

"Quite often recently the royal larder has been empty of such commodities as butter, margarine and tea, and we have gone without, from king down. The king and queen have repeatedly spoken to me to impress me with the duty of self denial in food and drink. The king in the first days of the war pledged himself to total abstinence from alcoholic beverages, and that pledge holds good today over the whole household.

"The king actually tries always to anticipate restrictions. A long while ago he insisted on coal economy in the palace. Waste of fuel or coal constitutes a grave offense among the servants of the king."

At the Theaters

The grandeur of the Sierras of Southern California is given by the camera to "The Flaming Omen," a fascinating story of the Peruvian Andes. This Greater Vitaphone Blue Ribbon feature, which will be the attraction at the Temple theater today, is a story of love and mysticism of the days of the Incas, of the Red Prince, who loved a beautiful English girl, but who is prevented from confessing his love by a vision of a woman with a baby in her arms, dying by her own hand at the feet of an image of Inti, the Sun God of the Incas. The woman was his mother. The man who deserted her and her baby is his father and the father of the girl he loves. Drawn by the lure of the Andes and a girl of Peru, he returns to his native land and there he learns of his past, finds his mother's grave and in the girl to whom he is betrothed a sister.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

YOU CAN BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE WITH SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite, and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv

'Terrible Terry' McGovern is Dead

TERRY MCGOVERN.

"Terrible Terry" McGovern, for three years one of the greatest fighters the ring has known, died in his 38th year. He was preparing to box for the benefit and entertainment of boys in the cantonments when he was carried off. Terry was featherweight champion, and nearly all went down before him till he met "Young Corbett" of Denver in the memorable Hartford battle. Corbett knocked him out, and beat him again in San Francisco to prove it was not a fluke. But in neither fight was he at his best.
