HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils
Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting! Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.—Ad.

At the Theaters

William S. Hart, Thomas H. Ince's famous screen star, is seen in his second Artercraft picture now at the Star theater. This new Hart picture is called "The Silent Man," and introduces the celebrated screen actor as a desert miner who has made a rich strike, and who comes into a small border town to enter his claim. He is robbed of his mine, and it is his efforts to get it back and incidentally frustrate a crowd of unusually villainous villains with which the story of "The Silent Man" has to do.

Who is there that does not occasionally think with regret of past school day escapades and adventures, who would not, if he could, return for a stroll among the old scenes of fun and real struggle—a little world within itself? In viewing "The Varmint" by Owen Johnson at the Star Sunday every man will recall similar adventures of his own schoolboy days, and will recognize in clever Jack Pickford's characterization of "The Varmint" a replica of himself at that age. "The Varmint" is a Paramount picture.

"Smiling George" Walsh in William Fox's comedy drama, "This is the Life," will be seen at the Orpheus on Sunday and Monday. George, in the story, sails for South America to guard his father's shipment of munitions. He gets mixed up in a revolution and is condemned to death. He escapes, rescues a young lady of prominence, and you can see the rest at the Orpheus.

Coming to the Orpheus tonight is the newest World Picture Brady-made, entitled "Youth," in the cast of which are seen Caryle Blackwell and June Elvidge as stars and Muriel Ostriche and Johnny Hines. "Youth" is a stirring and a pleasing story. It has lots of laughs and lots of thrilling incidents.

FOOD ECONOMY
COURSE OPENS AT STATE U.

INSTRUCTION OUTLINED BY U. S. FOOD ADMINISTRATION WILL BE GIVEN WITH REGULAR CREDITS ALLOWED

EUGENE, March 23.—A one-hour elementary food economy course, outlined and requested by the United States food administration, will be offered by the department of home economics at the University of Oregon next term. The faculty approved, allowing credits for the course, setting aside for this case the rule that credit cannot be given for one-hour courses under the present three term system.

The class is designed to benefit every woman in the university, and has been scheduled for 3 o'clock on Tuesdays, when the men of the university are attending lectures by Colonel Leader. The course will consist of lectures with some laboratory demonstrations. The work and purpose of the food administration and the possibilities of substitutions will be explained. Upper class women taking this course, if they have had some of the more advanced laboratory work in the department, may be able to lecture this summer for the food administration.

Why We Are At War With Germany

By EPHRAIM DOUGLASS ADAMS
Executive Head, History Department,
Leland Stanford Junior University

"Here," says Everyman, "was a Kaiserdom seeking world domination—and perilously near encompassing it unless the world united to repel him." Thus the radical land reformer sees the issue. Is there any one still blind to it?

But were we in America directly threatened? We were, and we are threatened. A German book published in the United States in 1914, and called "Truth About Germany," sought to inflame us against England and France, and to persuade us that America and Germany had common ideals, characteristics, and methods. (May God save us!) It argued smoothly: "Two nations united by such a common inclination and ideals, boldness of enterprise, far-sightedness, quickness of decision, admiration for intellectual achievements, cannot help being exceedingly congenial to each other." Pleasant words—but a lying tongue. Would Germany, once master of Europe, remember our "congeniality" and be a good neighbor in the Americas?

The Germans when writing for home consumption hold a different language about world relations and "neighbors." "Formerly German thought was shut up in her German corner, but now the world shall have its coat cut according to German measure, and as far as our swords flash and German blood flows, the circle of the earth shall come under the tutelage of German activity." "A sturdy German egoism must characterize all political action." "The first principle of our policy, both at home and abroad, must be that in everything that happens the Germans should come off best, and the others should have a bad time of it." A nice, congenial neighbor!

But Germany, when honest, directly avows her purpose, ultimately, against America. We must "wake up," or we will be the easy "next step" in her ambitions. "Germany . . . may in less than two centuries succeed in dominating the whole globe . . . if only it can in time strike out a 'new course,' and definitely break with Anglo-American methods of government, and the state-destroying ideals of the revolution." She is trying out her "new course" now. "One thing alone can profit the German people: the acquisition of new territory . . . that alone can really promote the diffusion, the growth, and the deepening of Germanism." "Before seeking to found a Greater Germany in other continents, we must seek to create a Greater Germany in Central Europe." "We must . . . see to it that the outcome of our next successful war must be the acquisition of colonies." We must make room for an empire of Germanic race which shall number 100,000,000 inhabitants, in order that we may hold our own against masses such as those of Russia and the United States.

Still further, it is no longer a secret that Germany, while we were still unprepared—were neutral—and while Germany still ostensibly sought our friendship, secretly planned, when victorious in Europe, to pick a quarrel with us and wring from us part of the costs of her European war.

If the American "easy chair" is still too comfortable for serious thought of what Germany means to do to us, then America deserves the fate in store for her. This is the material side of our peril, but there is another and deeper side. This war is our war, to secure our purposes in national and in international development. If Germany should win, her principles must triumph and force alone must rule the world, with the strong exploiting the weak. If the war ends in a drawn battle, with Germany unchanged in ideals and purposes, all that is left of the world will be compelled to engage in the race for military preparedness, and the world will be forced to adopt Germany's methods—now so hateful to us. A Germany undefeated would force us to destroy the very bases of our government, our policy, our social and industrial life—to devote ourselves, capital and labor, persons and property, to one object—a mighty militarism. Unless we win this war the mightiest, most upsetting, most far-reaching change this nation has ever known, is upon us. We are fighting for liberty to continue in our accustomed line of progress.

JOHN E. REDMOND

John E. Redmond, head of the nationalist party in Ireland, who next to Charles Stewart Parnell did more for home rule than any other leader, has just died of an operation necessitated by a cancer. Mr. Redmond was born in 1851. He had made many trips to the United States in quest of funds for his home rule fight.

SAGE-TEA DANDY
TO DARKEN HAIR

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head, producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to aspirin, salicin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphate hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning, never have any headache or know a miserable moment.—Adv.
