Secrets of Firmament Unfolded By Eclipse

New Worlds May Be Discovered This Afternoon. Scientists All Over the Nation Have Their Big Telescopes In Readiness for Unusual Astronomical Phenomena

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—A great astral pencil, whose point is fifty miles in circumference, is to draw a jet black line across the United States from Aberdeen, Wash., to Orlando, Fla., tomorrow afternoon.

While the marking is being made chickens are expected to go to roost and birds to nest. Street cars may run with their headlights aglare, and there will be a sudden star on all lighting facilities. The great cosmic titan who will hold the special pencil and mark the line will "get even" with Washington for stealing an hour of sunlight on that day, for he will take 47 minutes of that sunlight back again.

The point of that pencil, black as ebony, will represent an eclipse of the sun. The point will begin at the moon, and will drop in an exact cone to the states of Washington, Oregon, Utah, Colorado, Kansas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida, in about the same manner that a military censor deletes an objectionable line from a war correspondent's despatch. The stock of the pencil will be represented by the nebulous space of infinity, millions of miles long, between the sun and the moon.

Many an astrological Christopher Columbus will be out "along the line" to discover a new world or two. The mythical planet Vulcan, said to hover near the sun, may possibly be given a positive identity. The great solar force that makes Mercury shake with an astral anger as it spins around its orbit may be uncovered. A thousand theories may be proven or repudiated, chief of them being the theory of relativity, first suggested by Einstein, a German physicist.

The rubbin of this theory is that the light from the stars beyond the sun is bent by the sun's gravity before it reaches the earth in about the same manner that a street car rail is bent around a slight curve. The eclipse is expected to prove whether such sun gravity can bend light or not.

The eclipse is expected also to throw some light on the composition of the sun's spectrum, which, during the period of totality, glows with a greenish hue. What makes it green is the question the scientists are going to try to answer. Points of similarity between the atmospheres of the sun and the earth are to be given close attention also.

The polarized light of the sun will also attract interest. Scientists at the University of California, near here, and elsewhere, say that the light around the sun moves in regular waves like wireless air waves, instead of being steady, even substance, as around the earth. The eclipse may explain this difference.

The coronal spectrum of the sun, according to Professor E. P. Lewis, department of physics, University of California, is made up of unknown elements. Professor Lewis is to study this coronal spectrum through a large quartz spectrograph as a member of the Lick Observatory party at Golden-dale, Wash. The spectrograph, in the event of clear weather, is expected to reveal many new and startling facts concerning this corona and accompanying spectrum.

The war has had some effect on the plans for observing the phenomena. Many of the scientists who observe such things now being engaged in preliminary study of the great German eclipse, which is due "somewhere in France" at an unnamed date.

Stations have been established, however, by the Lick Observatory at Golden-dale, the United States Observatories at Baker, Ore., the Yerkes and Mount Wilson Observatories at Green River, Wyo., the Allegheny, Chamberlain and Yerkes Observatories at Denver, the Drake University Observatory at Matheson, Colo., the Sprout Observatory at Eads, Colo., and the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at a point in Kansas.

The Bath

To give your skin the "beautiful hue of health" you must keep open the pores. This requires the proper appliances for the bath and their regular use.

The hot and the cold spray, the vigorous rubbing with mitt and towel, the dash of sea-salt, borax, or violet ammonia, these will make the bath a healthful tonic to your skin.

We will take pleasure in supplying all such articles of the best quality.

Fighting In Europe

Self-preservation as well as patriotism demands that our farmers shall plentifully feed our fighters.

When Germany proclaimed the seas closed to American merchant vessels and entered upon her program of wholesale ocean tonnage destruction, she was aiming a blow directly at the American farmer.

For lack of proper marketing and shipping facilities Australia today has three crops unsold and millions of tons of grain spoiled or destroyed either by weather or rodents.

Upon our success in this war depends not only life and liberty, but livelihood.

ORPHEUS THEATER PRESENTS William Farnum IN TRUE BLUE

Well, I've just been to see "Bill" Farnum.—
The best of the scouts on the screen,
And while I ain't up on play actin'
You can bet I just "fall for" that scene.

Why, he took me right back to old Tombstone.
The days when the town was still new.
When census was black-and-tan tinted,
But all the gang were "True Blue."

"Bill" Farnum was called "Bob McKeever"—
I sure knew that lad on the range—
He hadn't the same "running brand" then—
But the ear-marks ain't likely to change.

And Farnum was that breed of fellow—
The pride of the big, breezy West,
With never a streak of the "yellow"
And a big heart hid under his vest.

His Dad turned him loose as a yearlin'
Alone on the range like a stray,
To "go to the bad" with the "rustlers"
But the lad wasn't headed that way.

He stuck like a leach to his mother,
And after he laid her away,
He brought up his "noble" half-brother,
And made the Earl "eat crow" one day.

Now, Bob had first call on the title,
But loved his own homeland the best,
He sent the Kid back to old England,
And stuck to his ranch in the West.

Bob "fell for" a pretty young school-marm—
I reckon I'd do the same, too,
The kind that just makes your old heart warm—
And her eyes, like the play, are "True Blue."

So that's why I "root for" Bill Farnum—
The best of the scouts on the screen;
And boys, take a squint at this picture
The best film-play I've ever seen.
