MILLER HILL

Mrs. R. K. Sutton has just returned from a visit at Miller Sutton's in Klamath Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wynant and Mr. and Mrs. J. Seeds are going to Bray soon to visit Wynant's brothers.

Mrs. Davidson has returned from Bly, where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Woodard. Mrs. Woodard came home with her expects to remain for some time.

At the school election, held Monday at Miller Hill, Mr. S. Briggs was put on the board in place of Mr. Hunnicut, whose term expired this year. Mr. E. A. Shulmire was elected as clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. McCall of Klamath Falls have been in the district for several days looking after their ranch.

Mrs. B. Terry of Klamath Falls visited the Red Cross sewing society at Miller Hill school house Wednesday.

Mr. Schmidt, who lives on the Catholic ranch, has given the ladies of the Red Cross permission to give a dance in his barn, which is known by some as Beerman's Hall. The money is to be used for the Red Cross society of this district, which was organized a few weeks ago as the Midland, Miller Hill Red Cross society. The dance is to be given on June 28, and Mrs. Schmidt is going to furnish coffee while the ladies who attend are all asked to bring sandwiches. Cake will not be served as has been the custom at these dances.

Mrs. Schumire visited at the Pendergast home Tuesday evening.

Mr. W. L. Tingley and Mr. Clyde Hanson were in the Falls Tuesday.

Those who attended the Red Cross Wednesday were Mesdames Claye, Schumire, L. Sutton, E. Sutton, Schmidt, Robustaine, Tingley, Davidson, Terry, Woodard and Calhoun.

15,000,000 Feet of Airplane Spruce Wanted

Washington, D. C., June 24.—John D. Ryan, financier and copper magnate, has been saying nothing ever since he took over direction of aircraft production, but considerable evidence has accumulated that points toward definite accomplishment in one direction that military men say it would be most dangerous to neglect.

That is the production of airplane spruce. War figures are all large, too large for most people to digest, but lumbermen say that Mr. Ryan has demanded 15,000,000 feet a month from the Cascade forests, and little things like the drafting of 9,000 men the planning of logging railroads, and the mobilization of a rather large existing industry for war production indicate that he intends to get it.

The consoling fact is that if American factories are late in making planes, so long as the raw material flows to France and England is maintained, the Allies will have machines.

Mr. Ryan's first move was to call in Col. Disque, head of the spruce division from Portland, Ore., and there after something was started. There has always been less criticism of the spruce production efforts than of anything else that has been done, largely because the expected consumption of the raw material did not develop. About 3,000,000 feet of spruce was the by-product of normal fir and other lumber cutting in the northwest each month. The Allies were getting all of that from the open markets, and it was a simple matter for the American government to step in and take it all. It

Photograph of Destroyer on Atlantic Coast, Showing Dirigible Hunting for Submarines

Dirigibles as well as airplanes were sent forth to scour the seas by the navy department when the hunt for German U-boats which sank several vessels off the New Jersey coast began. This photograph, taken from a destroyer, shows her operating in conjunction with the dirigible in the distance.

was also comparatively simple to increase prices a trifle and double the normal production.

But when it comes to running the output up to the mark Mr. Ryan is credited with setting a task is projected that is immense when compared to even the inflated standards of war work. It is because of the peculiar qualities of Sitka spruce that it sustains the stresses of high speed airplanes better than any other substance the world knows, and it is because of its peculiar distribution and habitat that the United States is finding it a difficult task to get enough of it. It had but low esteem as a commercial wood in the pre-war days, most of it getting into the waste piles of saw mill yards, though a little of the best and thickest, specially prepared, went into the soundings boards of pianos. Queerly enough Germany was always a big buyer of that portion of the product.

European Champion Back to Boxing After Four Years

GEORGE CARPENTIER

George Carpentier, European heavyweight champion before the war, but since it began one of the heroes of the French, has returned to boxing, and this photograph shows him in his teaching costume at the Ecole Militaire de Joinville Le Pont, where he trains French soldiers to box just as is being done in the American army. At the beginning of the war Carpentier was one of the great auto drivers in France. Then he took up flying and made a success of that. Four years of hard work broke him down, and, refusing to be idle while he recuperates, he has taken up another line of effort for the government.

If Backache or Kidneys Bother

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Drug-gists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only a trouble.—Adv.
