

Italians Celebrate Victory Along Piave

Washington, June 26.—Italy is ablaze with enthusiasm and joy as the result of the Italian victory along the Piave, the Italian embassy was advised in a cablegram from Rome. Beyond telling of the effective co-operation of the Italian sea forces with the army, the message added little to previous accounts of the Austrian retreat.

"The enemy," said the dispatch, has been beaten back across the Piave from Montello to the sea. Italy is ablaze with enthusiasm and joy.

"The Italian navy has effectively co-operated to the defeat of the enemy by battering the positions along the Tagliamento river and north of Castellazzo, while the marine battalions operating along the lower Piave advanced and captured hundreds of prisoners.

"The Austrian aviators made an incursion on Brindisi. Of nine planes which took part in the expedition, two were shot down and the others forced to retire without doing any damage. In retaliation, Italian and British aviators bombed Cattaro and Durazzo.

"A great demonstration of greeting to Italy and the oppressed nationalities of Austria was held Monday afternoon in the gardens of the British embassy by members of the British embassy. Russian officers were present and were received with great applause. These officers and the Roumanian legation are about to leave for the Piave front to fight in the Italian army against the common enemy."

action which has enabled the bringing of such vast numbers of first rate American troops to France."

Mr. Hogge interposed: "The figures are admitted."

Mr. Lloyd George, waving his arms said:

"Oh, all right! My honorable friend ought to be satisfied. I hope the Germans are also."

In declining to give figures as to the number of American troops, the premier said they were quite enough to encourage the allies and dispirit and ultimately defeat the central powers. They were of the very best quality, and many were already on the firing line. He hoped that soon very many more would be there.

At the Theaters

Today at the Star theater, Ann Pennington makes her reappearance on the screen in her newest Paramount photoplay, "Sunshine Ann," having temporarily deserted it to dance in "Miss 1917," "The Reel of Polka," and others.

Miss Pennington's preceding picture was "The Antics of Ann," a whimsical boarding school story. In "Sunshine Ann" she takes a contrasting part—that of a little slum girl who rises in the world against overwhelming odds. The supporting cast is very good, including Richard Barthelmess, Helen Tracy, John Hines and others. Charles Gilpin is the director, while the clever scenario was prepared by Eve Unsell from Alice Hegan Rice's story "Calvary Alley."

Keep Faith With YOUR BOY "Over There"

When your boy was so little that all the world was a foreign country to him, he trusted you to take care of him

You sent that boy to school and to play and on your little errands, and with implicit faith he did your bidding.

Now we have sent your boy or your neighbor's boy out into a foreign land, into terrors that we cannot even know—and his faith has not faltered. He knows we will do our part, and we know he will do his.

Are we keeping the faith. Are we scrimping and saving and giving to help our boys do the thing that humanity asked of them, and to help them come back to us sane and whole.

"Mamma, don't give me Castor Oil"

Such is a familiar entreaty of childhood. All children hate castor oil. Grown people themselves won't take it.

No child minds Stanolax—it is tasteless, odorless, colorless. So it's not like a medicine.

Stanolax is not a cathartic, laden with habit-forming drugs. It does not stimulate the intestines to abnormal action.

Stanolax is a lubricant. It softens the bowel content, and oils and soothes the intestinal walls and makes elimination easy.

By this gentle but certain method, all toxic poisons are carried away. Thus auto-intoxication is prevented.

By the use of Stanolax one prevents chronic constipation, with all its resultant ills.

Stanolax represents the new-day way—as opposed to harsh purgatives. The natural way as opposed to violent treatments.

Drug-laden cathartics afford only temporary relief.

Stanolax, taken regularly, say a teaspoon at bed time, will keep the intestinal tract clean and ever ready to function properly.

Your druggist has Stanolax. Buy one bottle. It will convince you that old cathartics are needless.
