At the Theaters

Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature which is to be shown at the Temple theater tonight, local theater goes will see once more Mary Maurice, famous as the "mother of the movies."

Mrs. Maurice, who is in her 74th year, and with the exception of Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, is probably the oldest living American actress. She began her career 50 years ago, her first engagement being with the Pittsburgh Stock company. She was born in Morristown, Ohio, and was educated in Philadelphia, playing a conspicuous part in patriotic celebrations there during the Civil war.

"The Ghost House," used in the Paramount production of Beulah Marie Dir's story of the same name, in which Jack Pickford and Louise Huff will be seen at the Star theater tonight, is a real "haunted" house. If you don't believe it ask any of the children at Hollywood, Cal., where the picture was filmed.

The edifice, weather-beaten and with a mass of long and tangled scrubby around it, stands all by itself in the foothills away from the rest of the town. No one remembers when the house was ever occupied and the children tell weird stories as to the fate of those who "once lived there. Strange lights and moans are said to have been seen and heard, yet no one has ventured around there at night to investigate. Director William C. DeMille, who was making the production, used the front steps and the doorway for several "shots" in the picture, but all of the interior scenes were prudently filmed in the well-lighted studio.

Local Red Cross Activities

Those present at the sewing rooms yesterday were Mesdames C. K. Brandenburg, Marion Hanks, Carrie Mater, Geo. Biehn, Geo. Humphrey, Georgie Sloan, L. E. Sullivan and Miss Alta Ralph.

The sewing room will be open six days in the week, from 1 until 5 p. m., from now on.

SINCERE PROOF OF POPULARITY

Paris, July 16—Clothes make the man, and lack of clothes make the man entirely too conspicuous for strolling around, even on the battle front. When Ben Hilbert, old time pugilist, vaudeville performer and base ball umpire, now a Y. M. C. A. worker with a certain American division, was ordered to another division the soldiers hid his clothes so that he would have to stay. A colonel and his full staff wrote a letter requesting Y. M. C. A. to allow Hilbert to remain. Late bulletins did not reveal if he had his clothes.

How France Has Been Fed "Before the war, a distinguished French Officer, General Maitrot, wrote a series of articles in the 'Echo de Paris' to warn France, that in case of war, the French meat industry would be unable to supply the French army in the field with fresh meat, —owing especially to the lack of modern refrigerating plants and of refrigerating transportation,—and too, owing to the deficiency in the national herd." "Since the war began the French army has never been short of fresh meat, thanks mainly to the prosperous condition of the American meat industry, and too, to the American live stock breeders." The foregoing statement was made by a representative of the Allies now in the United States. Another representative of the Allies said recently: "that the American packers have been of the greatest possible assistance to the Allies and have, by their efficient cooperation, contributed in the utmost degree to the successful prosecution of the war."
