At the Theaters

The popular feminine impersonator, Julian Eltinge, is to be seen in his latest Paramount picture, "The Widow's Might" at the Star theater tonight. This is a fascinating story written especially for Mr. Eltinge by Marion Fairfax and directed by William C. DeMille. Mr. Eltinge is again given the opportunity to display his famous wardrobe of feminine finery and his talents as a female impersonator.

The story is that of a young New Yorker who decides to dabble in ranching and narrowly misses being robbed by a notorious crook. How he succeeds in foiling the designs of this gentleman thru the disguise of a woman, how the disguise gets him into lots of trouble with the girl he loves, but how he at length wins out and saves both the girl and the ranch, makes a story full of fun and adventure thruout.

Warner and his men find that Grace has escaped. They then find that Purcell is gone. And when they open the tunnel, they see that, too, has been discovered. Purcell, with the revolver, Grace hands him, holds them at bay. They alter their plans and blow it up from the other end. Grace and Purcell are buried behind the debris.

But Miller has summoned the militia. As Wagner and his men rush from the empty house, they are taken in charge by them and put under arrest. Then the soldiers try to locate the tunnel and excavate in the hope of finding Grace and Purcell.

It is hours before they strike the pocket in which Grace and Purcell are imprisoned, and in the meantime the two prisoners have given up all hope. Face to face with probable death, they have confessed their mutual love. Suddenly the light streams in and they are located. They are assisted from their dungeons.

Purcell's first move, when he is at liberty, is to secure a marriage license. When it is handed to him, he kisses the bald headed old clerk in ecstasy. Finding Grace, he begs her to take a walk with him, and leads her to a little, old-fashioned parsonage. Here Grace balks, but he shows her the license and tells her that in reality he is Harry Cortland, the famous football player.

He had seen her months before when she attended a Yale football game and had said, "There is my future wife." This excellent film will be shown at the Orpheus theater tonight.

GERMANS ADMIT FAILURE OF PLANS

Copenhagen, Aug. 6.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff received the German correspondents, according to advices reaching here, and openly admitted their strategic plans had failed. They asserted, however, that the Germans were still masters of the situation and that the territories given to the enemy were disposed of according to plans. If the battles were on German territory, they explained, it would be painful to give up villages, but the progress of the enemy, they declared, was without importance and would not affect the result of the world war.

Von Hindenburg said that the German soldiers would become just as easily accustomed to the Americans as they did to the black soldiers.

Many Torpedoed Ships Restored to Service

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Not all the ships which German torpedoes and marine collisions send to the bottom of the sea stay there. In less than three years more than 400 sunken merchant vessels have been restored to service. And more than one ship has been raised, repaired, sent forth on a new career, and then sunk and raised anew for a third lease on life. This rescue work is done by the salvage section of the British navy.

Before the war no one thought of attempting to save such wrecks as are now brought up from the depths, but ships now are priceless. The financial value of the salvage work is enormous. The cargoes salvaged are themselves worth many millions of dollars.

Recently a big American tanker collided on a dark night in the English channel with a sturdy British standard ship carrying oil. There was an explosion of benzine, and both vessels were quickly swept by flames. Of the crew of the British ship only eight men, who jumped overboard, were saved.

Salvage work on both ships began with the arrival of tugs which, after overcoming many difficulties, managed to tow them close in shore. There it was necessary to sink them by gunfire. They are now being brought to the surface, a long, arduous task.

The tanker, a fine vessel some 500 feet long and new built, had on board 16,000 tons of oil, and, tho she bled for four days, half of the cargo was saved. When thoroly repaired, the tanker will be returned to the United States, not much worse for wear, the damage being estimated at $750,000—a small amount in marine figuring in these days when persons think in millions.

LEMON JUICE IS SKIN WHITENER

CHEAP HOME MADE BEAUTY LOTION TO REMOVE TAN, FRECKLES, SALLOWNESS

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice thru a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach a darkened skin and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to whiten rough, red hands.—Adv.
