

AMBASSADOR OF HUNS KILLED IN SUDDEN ATTACK

AMSTERDAM, July 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Russians who assassinated General von Mirbach, the German Ambassador to Russia, concealed their weapons under the table over which they were conversing with the German diplomat, according to details of the killing published by the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger as coming from an eye-witness of the murder.

"Count Mirbach, Privy Councillor Rieker, and Lieutenant Mueller, were seated with the two Russians at a marble table in the middle of the room," says the witness. "On one side were the Germans, and on the other the Russians. All were seated in low leather chairs, which was an advantage for the Russians as they were thus able to get their weapons ready under the marble table without being observed, while their victims, leaning back in their chairs, offered an easy target."

"During the conversation the Russians began to turn over the pages of their documents as the search of some missing papers, and the attention of the Germans was thus distracted by this ploy. While Count Mirbach and his colleagues imagined that the Russians were examining the documents, they had drawn out their weapons under the cover of the table."

"They then sprang up with revolvers, and began firing; one Russian aiming at Count Mirbach, the other at the two other Germans. Count Mirbach was hit in the back of the head on hearing the shots, people hurried in from the neighboring rooms, and the Russians thereupon took to flight, but before springing out of the window, each of them hurled a hand grenade. Only one grenade exploded, the splinters of which hit Count Mirbach killing him immediately."

THINGS HAD BEGUN TO LOOK GLOOMY

PETERSON FEARED HE'D SOON BE UNABLE TO MAKE A LIVING—TANLAC RESTORES HIM

"I don't know what the people may think when I tell them I have gained eighteen pounds, but it's the truth and I have just finished taking my fourth bottle of Tanlac," was the remarkable statement made by Carl A. Peterson of 1423 Q street, Tacoma, Washington, while in the French Drug Store recently. Mr. Peterson is an expert electrician and is employed by the Tacoma Smelting & Refining company.

"Beginning about six months ago with stomach trouble," continued Mr. Peterson, "I lost weight and strength until it looked like I was going to get down to where I could not work and make a living for myself and family. My food just seemed to lay in my stomach, in a fermented condition, causing gas and such awful pains, and spells of palpitation that I feared I had heart trouble. I was hardly ever without a pain in the pit of my stomach, also suffered a great deal with headache, and was so nervous I could never get a good night's sleep. I was dreadfully run down and weak, and had that tired, no account feeling all the time, and nothing seemed to do me the least bit of good."

"I finally got in such a bad shape that I was told I would have to give up my work and, no doubt, I would if I hadn't gotten Tanlac, as I was hardly able to keep going. I thought if the statements I read about Tanlac were true it would help me, and it has not only helped me, it has made a perfectly well man of me. I felt better after the first bottle, and have been improving ever since. My stomach is in such good condition that I can eat just anything, and since my food digests like it should

Noted Preacher Works as Shipbuilder

STEPHEN WISE

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue, New York, has become a shipbuilder in yards at Stamford, Conn. Dr. Wise is working as a common laborer, as an example to his eighteen-year-old son, and has agreed to remain "on the job" until fall.

From other workmen at the shipyard it was learned that Dr. Wise reports to work at 7 o'clock each morning and quits with the other men at 4:30 in the afternoon. Thus far he has not worked overtime. The other men speak highly of him. Some of them call him a "good scout" and say that he is the "youngest old man" they ever saw. "He does not spare himself in the least," said one to-day. "There are no frills to him and he puts on no airs. His son is a good deal like the daddy, too."

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Notice is hereby given that the tax books of Klamath County will be open for the inspection of the taxpayers at the office of the county assessor up to and including Saturday, August 31, 1918.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Notice is hereby given that on August 10, 1918, the undersigned, by order of the County Court of Klamath County, Oregon, was duly appointed administratrix of the estate of Ella J. Stewart, deceased, and all persons having claims against said estate are required to present same, properly verified, to said administratrix at the law offices of R. C. Groesbeck, Klamath Falls, Oregon, within six months from the date of this notice.

MARY E. STEWART, Administratrix of the Estate of Ella J. Stewart, Deceased. 12-19-26-29

I don't have any pain in the pit of my stomach, palpitation or other signs of indigestion. The headaches and backaches have disappeared and my appetite is great. All my strength has returned, and I'm feeling fine in every way, and of course, I think Tanlac is the finest medicine in the world, and Mrs. Peterson thinks just as I do."

BE PRETTY' TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

TRY GRANDMOTHER'S OLD FAVORITE RECIPE OF SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, gray or streaked. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

PROMPT CARE AID IN CURING SHELL SHOCK

A CHATEAU IN LORRAINE, July 11.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—American soldiers suffering from shell shock now are hurried in the shortest possible time to a base hospital established here for the special treatment of such cases. The element of time is regarded by the specialists attached to this hospital as a prime importance. Efforts are made to deliver such cases to the hospitals within forty-eight hours after the first symptoms develop. A special ambulance service has been organized for that purpose. Once here, the shocked soldier remains here until the treatment of his case is finished.

If the nervous trouble of a patient results from concussion or from the strain of service, it is curable here. If it is not curable, it is because the case was not brought here soon enough or because it had a chronic foundation before the patient went into the army. Nervous symptoms resembling what has been called shell shock have developed under the simple strain of service in soldiers who have never heard a shell explode.

Base Hospital 117 treats both these aspects of war neurosis, and only according to the highest standards of neurological science. Hypnosis is seldom used. No dangerous experiments are allowed and isolation is not followed excepting as simple ward routine. The patients are kept together and the nurses are kept with them giving their company as well as their experienced care and both are a part of the cure.

The patients, themselves, when they have recovered sufficiently, become ex-officio members of the staff; they co-operate with the doctors and nurses in helping the other boys out of their muddled condition of mind and their unsteady state of nerves. The most obvious part of the treatment is the use of tools or the instruments of sport. A shaking hand that is unable to retain anything in its gradually steadies with patient gripping exercise and this method has the advantage of occupying the mind while it re-educates the hand.

One boy whose head and hands were shaking constantly was seen weaving things out of dyed ends of string on a loom made for him out of odds and ends of lumber by other patients. Through his attention to the work and by the growing firmness of grip he is obtaining thru practice he is gaining control of his nerves and will be cured in a few days. A machine shop with turning lathes, a tailoring shop and the ambulance garage furnish occupations for many.

All cases of palsy and paralysis resulting from concussion are cured here when taken in time. A boy who was brought in with a paralyzed leg is now walking around the grounds, after a week of treatment. Defects of speech are the most difficult cases; the treatment is longer and requires greater pains, but they yield to it finally.

SUMMONS

No. 986 Equity
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Klamath County
Sybil White, Plaintiff, vs. Richard White, Defendant.
To Richard White, Defendant above named:

In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer to the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the 6th day of September, 1918, that being the last day of the time prescribed in the order of publication of this summons, and if you fail so to appear, plead, answer, demur or otherwise move, for want thereof plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in his complaint, to-wit:

For a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between the plaintiff and defendant, upon the grounds of habitual drunkenness, contracted after said marriage, and continuing for more than one year immediately preceding the filing of the bill of complaint herein, and for the custody of their minor child, Gerald White.

This summons is served upon you, the said defendant, by publication thereof in the Evening Herald, a public newspaper of general circulation, printed and published at Klamath Falls, Klamath county, Oregon, once a week, for six consecutive weeks, (seven insertions), the first

It is remarked that the uprisings are often anti-capitalistic mobs destroying the property and robbing the streets of the streets and the houses of the rich have been assailed. The war has increased the prices of everything.
