LAWYERS WILL DISCUSS UNIFORM DIVORCE LAW

CLEVELAND, Ohio Aug. 29—A uniform divorce law to be effected thru revision of the various state laws will be one of the chief topics for consideration at the annual convention of the America Bar Association which opened yesterday and continues thru Friday. Two thousand delegates are expected to attend the opening session.

Only two states, delegates declared today, now have identical divorce laws.

Besides taking action on the divorce laws problem, the convention is expected to take up the question of obtaining legislation deemed necessary for solving problems of reconstructing industrial and social conditions after the war.

At the Theaters

An illustration of the demands sometimes made upon photographers to obtain certain required scenes for the screen may be found in "Broadway Bill," a new Metro wonder play, starring Harold Lockwood, which will be shown at the Orpheus Theatre on Thursday and Friday.

For the lumber camp scenes in "Broadway Bill," Mr. Lockwood and his company went to Maine and established camp on the Rangeley Lakes. They arrived in the midst of a cold spell which did not diminish in intensity materially at any time during their three weeks stay. On the mildest day the thermometer registered ten below and on the coldest day it dropped to forty-eight below. Despite this bitter cold the company worked out of doors practically every day.

Many pictures with lumber camp locale have been made in the past, but it is doubtful if any was staged under like circumstances; nor is it likely that such splendid results were ever obtained, as those who see "Broadway Bill" will doubtless be willing to grant.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE IS PLANNED

Responding to a call sent out by Mrs. G. A. Krause, who is to direct this work, a number of ladies met in the library last night to consider plans for the drive next Saturday in the interest of the Salvation Army War Service Fund.

Mrs. Krause introduced Prof. E. S. Hammond of the Kimball School of Theology, Salem, who is representing the Salvation Army in Southwestern Oregon during this campaign. Prof. Hammond spoke briefly, emphasizing the great work the Salvation Army is doing in the camps at home and in the trenches and camps abroad. He told the ladies that all the public needed to know was the facts regarding this work, and the small amount asked from Klamath county, only $400, would be contributed cheerfully. The ladies arranged their plans for their campaign next Saturday, choosing their hours of work and the locations. One feature of their plan aroused much interest. It is proposed to have several kettles at the corners of the streets, suspended from tripods in the approved Salvation Army style, while well known ladies of the city ring the hand bells and solicit contributions. The ladies entered heartily into the plans, and feel very optimistic concerning their prospects of success.

A real bargain in a three room furnished house on Grant St., only $250 cash. See Chilcote, 623 Main St. 27 to help win the fight over there! Every day we are throwing away and burning up stuff that the medical department of our government want and need, to save the lives of our boys, and to save those lives will not cost us more than a few minutes of our time. We refer to the saving of the pits of peaches, plums and similar fruit. These are needed to make carbon to put in the gas masks.

Save the Pits

Bring them to us, no matter how small the quantity, or send them in by the children, and we will see that they reach the right place.

YANKEE RIFLE PROVING MOST EFFICIENT GUN

PARIS, July 30, (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The effect of American rifle fire has been one of the great surprises to the enemy during the recent engagements along the front. As a result the rifle is fast coming back to its own as the dependable weapon for infantry fighting. For a time its place was challenged by the hand grenade and some of the English and French experts took the view that the grenade would gradually supersede the rifle. French warfare had accustomed both sides to the grenade so that the rifle was seldom brought into use.

Even with the two weapons available, the troops had become accustomed to use the grenade rather than the rifle, and an enemy fugitive would often be chased until his pursuer was near enough to throw a grenade when a rifle ball would have brought down the fugitive from a distance.

All this has been changed, however by the open fighting of the present offensive and the unusually effective use the Americans have made of the rifle. General Pershing has maintained from the first that the rifle was the indispensable weapon for infantry, and while the grenade has not been neglected, every American unit has been thoroughly trained in rifle practice.

Many of the national guardsmen as well as the regulars were crack rifle shots, winners in tournaments and veterans of the rifle-range, maintained at home. These ranges have become a notable feature of the training on this side, until the whole American organization has become specially proficient with the rifle.

German prisoners all recount the same story, that the greatest surprise came from the impetuosity of the American rifle caused the greatest consternation and loss. Accustomed to waiting for a grenade attack at closequarters, the men formations of the enemy were suddenly exposed to concentrated rifle fire at a distance, with every shot from a trained marksman who was not blasting into the air but was picking out his target and sending his ball home. This experience has fully sustained the American contention for the rifle as against the grenade, and French and English military experts are agreed in the enthusiastic approval they give the Americans as riflemen and in the view that the rifle has again demonstrated its right to be considered the paramount weapon for infantry fighting.
