At the Theaters

The romantic Western frontiersmen and pluckiness of the days of Bret Harte, Mark Twain and Frederick Remington may have vanished forever, but they live again, fervid and realistic, in "Selfish Yates," the latest photoplay of William S. Hart, the famous Thomas H. Ince Aircraft film star. In this picture Mr. Hart is of the West, Western, and the living embodiment of those remarkable characters by whom the West was reclaimed.

The theme of "Selfish Yates" is one of selfishness. In this play Mr. Hart affords his admirers an example of his best work, which is improving vastly with each new characterization he essays. The story was written by C. Gardner Sullivan and the picture was produced by Mr. Hart himself under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince. Jane Novak is his leading woman and she has a role that brings out Mr. Hart's personation in strong and satisfying contrast. "Selfish Yates" will be shown at the Star Theatre tonight.

Of all the roles ever assigned to that fascinating character actor, William Desmond, none has ever proven to be invested with as much comedy and human interest as the one of Benny Boggs in the Triangle photoplay, "An Honest Man." A care-free happy-go-lucky tramp with a lusty desire to roam and avoid work, very skillful and eloquent in the art of lifting chickens in the dead-of-night, he suddenly finds himself entrusted with a fortune to be delivered to an unknown girl. Thrills, heart-interest comedy and delightful situations make "An Honest Man" an honest-to-goodness week of genuine entertainment of the cleanest and most wholesome order for all. Pretty Mary Warren of "The Sea Panther" fame, Ann Kroman and Graham Petre are in supporting roles. "An Honest Man" is directed by that superb master of effects, Frank Borzage, whose two beautiful and spectacular productions, "The Gus Woman" and "Innocent Program" made such wide-spread and pleasing impression. At the Temple Theatre tonight.

GRAND OPERA STAR HAD TO LEAVE STAGE

MME. MANTELLI RESTORED TO HEALTH BY TANLAC "I CAN NOT PRAISE IT TOO HIGHLY." SHE SAYS.

A statement of unusual interest was recently received at the Tanlac Office from Mme. Jean Mantelli, the noted grand opera singer, who was formerly a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, where she achieved distinction as leading contralto, singing on the same stage as Melba, Nordica, Calve, Eames, Sembrich, Jean and Edward De Reszke, and other stars of the first magnitude. A few years ago Mme. Mantelli was forced by ill health to retire from the operatic stage. She is now living in Portland, Ore., where she has an apartment in the Royal Annex Building, 350 1-3 Morrison Street, and in telling of her experience said:

"I feel that I cannot praise Tanlac too highly, for it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have ever taken put together. "About eight years ago," she continued, "while travelling in the South I left Havana for Chicago, in the dead of winter, where the thermometer was 18 degrees below zero, and this was the beginning of serious trouble for me. The sudden change brought on such a severe cold that I almost completely lost my voice and was obliged to leave the stage. I went to California to work in moving pictures, but my health failing, I had to give that up too. I decided to rest awhile, and try and build myself up, but got steadily worse. I lost my appetite everything tasted alike, and I couldn't enjoy eating a thing. My kidneys were in such a terrible condition that I thought at times the pain in my back would drive me distracted. My lower limbs and feet were so awfully swollen I couldn't stand up at all, and my nerves were in such a wretched state that, with my kidneys worrying me so much, I just couldn't rest at night. I became so weak and rundown and was so discouraged and miserable that I didn't care what happened. "I was actually down in bed when one day I read a statement about Tanlac that impressed me so much that I just got up out of bed and went to the phone to order a bottle. The druggist couldn't send it at once so I asked a stranger passing thru the hall to get it for me. Well he did, and the next morning I was feeling much improved. After this my nights were more restful and I slept better than I had in some time. I continued the treatment and it wasn't long before every bit of the swelling had gone out of my limbs and feet, and I was able to get up and walk around. I am just starting on my third bottle now, and really I can hardly eat enough to satisfy my appetite and I heartily enjoy all my meals. My kidneys don't worry me at all now and I am free from that awful misery in my back. I sleep like a baby, and am so much better in every way that I am now working again. I am telling all my friends what a wonderful medicine Tanlac is, and have written to my daughter in New York advising her to take it." Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co. Adv.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

LOOK YOUNG! BRING BACK ITS NATURAL COLOR, GLOSS AND ATTRACTIVENESS

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 5-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite, and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
