NO PULPIT CAMOUFLAGE FOR SOLDIERS

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Uncle Sam's fighters, an American army chaplain finds, are eager to be talked to about religion, but, he says, "You can't fool the boys with pulpit camouflage. Down in their hearts they crave the vital things of life and eternity."

The chaplain was discussing services held in the Y. M. C. A. huts. "We usually open," he said, "with fifteen minutes of movies. A venerable preacher asked if that was necessary. He thought it wasn't and he proposed to put it to the men themselves. 'Boys,' he said, 'I've come here to tell you about religion. Would you like to begin right away or would you rather have a movie film first?' 'A tall, raw-boned soldier stood up in the audience. 'To hell with the movies,' he exclaimed. 'Let's hear about religion.'"

"The boys don't come to be entertained. What they want is to hear the simple, sincere and elemental truth of religion as the preacher conceives it. There are certain subjects too it is wise to steer clear of. Don't talk to them about drink and gambling and sex. They hear all they need of that sort of thing from the proper instructors. "And don't talk about spread-eagle patriotism. They have plenty of patriotism of the real sort. Don't tell them how fine they are, for they've heard that until they are tired of it. Besides, no real man likes to be flattered, and these fellows are real men. Above all else, when your horse sense warns you that the boys are waiting with open hearts for the best comfort that religion can give them, don't tell them funny stories. "Give them a message straight from God, if you have such a message in you. Suppose your son was going away, perhaps never to return. What sort of a message would you give him? That's the message they want and no other."

HER MALADY

Betsy, an old colored cook, was moaning around the kitchen one day, when her mistress asked her if she was ill. "No ma'am, not 'xactly," said Betsy. "But the fac' is, I don't feel ambition enough to git outa my own way."

The American Red Cross has sixteen convalescent houses in operation at base and general army hospitals in this country, with contracts signed for similar buildings at the other 29 hospitals.

The purpose of the National War Savings committee is to create an army of savers who will, by saving, release labor and materials for the use of the government in the war, and who will lend their savings to the government to prosecute the war.

NEW PICTURE HOUSE SOON

L. Jacobs is having one of his buildings on Main Street, between Sixth and Seventh formerly occupied by the Palm Cigar Store, remodeled and expects to install a moving picture show in the near future.

The ceiling and roof is being raised and an inclined floor is to be put in. The interior will also contain a horseshoe balcony, giving the building a seating capacity of about 650. Mr. Jacobs stated today that the new show house will either be leased to a party he is now negotiating with or he may conduct it himself.
