

HUN LEADERS ARE PLAYED IN REICHSTAG

the first time in many months in evening dress which made the picture according to the Fairbank's view, "a costume piece." But Mr. Fairbanks is as much at home in a Tuxedo as he is in a cowboy's romantic costume, and his perennial grin and athletic stunts are as much in vogue as ever in this enjoyable comedy picture.

You are always satisfied and pleased by a drama depicting the spiritual awakening of a man and a woman, and the flowering of a full true love. Then, by all means, be sure to see "Ghosts of Yesterday," the thrilling Select Star Series photograph featuring Norma Talmadge, who will appear at the Star Theatre Sunday and Monday.

As Ruth Grahame, the dove of peace, and later as Jeanne La Fleur, the bird of Paradise, Miss Talmadge displays her high artistry in this dual role. Gorgeously produced and superbly acted by an all-star cast, "Ghosts of Yesterday" depicts the spiritual growth of a cabaret singer, the queen of the Hal Tabarin, from a wanton into a loving woman with a heart of true gold. The artist, Howard Marion, feels at first that no one can replace his late wife—for Ruth Grahame had rescued him from the suicide with which he was about to crown a life of dissipation—but later he recognizes the change which has been wrought in Jeanne and learns to love her, as she does him, with "the love which passeth all understanding."

ZEPPELIN IS BROUGHT DOWN BY AIRPLANE

LONDON, Sept.—It was by a combination of "magnificent heroism" and "good luck" that Sub-Lieutenant R.A.J. Warnford brought down the first Zeppelin destroyed by an airplane, according to a semi-official statement.

"He was flying high when he sighted the Zeppelin the statement continues, "otherwise he could not, with the Morne monoplane he flew, have made the height necessary to get over the Zeppelin. He effected the airship's destruction by means of a bomb, a feat in which good fortune favored him.

"The force of the explosion turned his machine clean over, and stopped his engine. Only by the greatest presence of mind and skill did he make a safe landing in Belgium, and only by that intimate knowledge of the engine did he manage, single-handed, to restart his engine and to fly his machine to the British lines.

JUVENILE LOAN ESSAYS TO WIN GOLD MEDALS

The state-wide essay contest in the interest of the Fourth Liberty Loan drive is attracting considerable attention among the school children of the state. The subject chosen for the youthful writers is "My Liberty Bond and I", and it is hoped that a large proportion of the 270,000 grade and high school pupils in the state who are eligible will take part in this interesting competition.

Pupils of the third and fourth grades will write not more than 200 words; fifth and sixth grades, not more than 400 words; seventh and eighth grades and high schools, not more than 1000 words. Each teacher will select the best essay in her room. Each principal will select the best essays in her building, one from each competing grade. These will be sent to the county superintendent, who will choose the best essay in each grade, ten in all, and forward them to Fred L. Boalt, chairman of the Essay Contest Section, Room 203 Northwestern Bank Building, Portland, where the 370-essays submitted will be again read and one from each grade will be selected as worthy of a first prize which will be a gold medal. But each of the ten people in each county whose essays were deemed of enough excellence by their County Superintendent to be sent to State headquarters will receive a special pin in recognition of their efforts.

All papers should be in the hands of the county superintendent not later than September 27.

Pupils of private and parochial schools are also eligible to enter this contest the same terms.

The purpose of this contest is to encourage discussion of the Liberty Loan in the homes of Oregon. Pupils will not be permitted to receive any specific help from their teachers, but may obtain any assistance from their parents.

In any district where school has not opened the young people are particularly urged to write their essays and to forward them to their county superintendent, having first written their names and addresses plainly on their manuscripts.

GERMANS FINED WAR DIET IS GREAT REDUCER

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 3.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press) War diet in Germany has accomplished a greater reduction of the corpulence of the average German than all the Marienbad cures, Russian baths and drastic courses of exercise.

Obesity, writes Professor Albu, in the Berlin Lokalsieger, has disappeared to an amazing degree, especially in the urban centers. The disappearance of excessive flesh has been more thorough than any medical treatment could have effected, says the professor.

The war diet he asserts, has been an education and a cure for many who had given up hope. It has upset medical prognostications that were once regarded as incontrovertible.

"I have known people," says Prof. Albu, "who in two years time dropped 80 and 100 pounds so that their friends scarcely knew them. They could almost cut up an old suit and make two new ones out of the material, without having to bother about a clothes card."

The writer then repeats the now trite remark that "we all eat too much," and he adds that most corpulent persons involuntarily reduced their girth without any injury to their health whatever. He emphasizes the fact that this attenuation is not due to under-nourishment alone. A very great deal is due he says, to unaccustomed bodily exertion and severe mental strain. Sorrow and vexation, the thousand and one domestic worries and troubles caused by the war tend to prevent the formation of flesh. People at home are generally more prone to giving way to mental worry than the men in the trenches. Hereditary obesity, he adds, has in no way been cured by the reduced war diet.

Letters From The People

To the people of Klamath Falls:

I wish to speak somewhat in regard to the milk situation now in Klamath Falls. First, let us compare conditions now and before the war. We sold milk in 1914 for $2.50 per month for quarts and $1.25 to $1.50 per month for pints. We bought hay before the war for $7 to $8 per ton in stack. This year we are paying from $20 to $25, mostly the latter price, usually three times what it was before the war. I need not mention labor. You know how that has gone up. Dairy supplies have advanced not less than 75 per cent.

Then when the government put the 8-hour day into effect, this hit the dairyman harder than most anyone else, because when you ask a person to work on a dairy he will shake his head and say hours are too long.

Suppose we should put on two shifts, what would we have to sell at?

What is going to become of this all important business? Take the dairyman's life: rise at 3 a. m., keep going till 8 or 9 p. m. Repeat this the next day, go 7 days in the week, 30 and 31 days a month, deliver in all kinds of weather, wade snow and mud in winter. Must go regardless of weather—baby must have milk. We cannot attend any shows, speakings or entertainments whatever. I will say this dairy goes from 13 to 17 hours every day. Then, coupled with all these hardships, have some customers to hold your bottles and cans until they have from five to eight on hand at a time, but of course they don't cost much. Ask the hardware man what they sell for and find out.

Then, when we have 1000 30 or 31 visits to your back door with that pint or quart of milk and the money is due, then chase over town from two to four times each month to get your money; then lose some of it. How long, oh, how long, will we poor-over-worked and robbed of sleep be able to stand this?

There are many other things that tend to worry the dairyman. For instance, I will take milk of the dairyman all winter, when my neighbor cannot afford to keep a cow, but when my neighbor's cow is fresh, he will sell me milk a little cheaper. I will call up the dairy and tell him this fact and take milk from my neighbor till about August 1st, then my neighbor's cow is about dry. I must have milk in winter—I call up the dairyman again. I would like to have milk again. Now, we always take them back, if possible, hoping they won't do so that way again.

Picture to yourself "you" delivering milk all thru winter on the high school hill or west side of Hot Springs ing. Delivering milk can't stop and wait till the storm is over, because the baby must have the milk. Ask yourself the candid question: "are we paid for this?" Investigate, ask the bankers how the dairyman stands at their bank.

Then a question the dairyman often asks himself is how long will the bankers loan us money to do business when the return is so uncertain? So to be candid with you, we must materially advance our prices in the near future and demand our bottles to be put out daily and strangers must pay in advance.

Very truly yours,
W. H. HAWKINS,
Hawkins Dairy.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

DRUGGIST SAYS LADIES ARE USING RECIPE OF SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture, improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

Jelly Always "Jells" With the Electric Cooker

You know that too long cooking makes a stringy syrup; and with too short cooking it won't "set," or "jell." You must have absolute control of the heat to make good jellies.

With the Electric Cooker or Range, you control the heat to a fraction of a degree and know exactly what you are doing. Besides, your kitchen is as cool as a cucumber.

Preserves, pickling, canning by the "Cold Pack" process, so highly recommended by the Government, is especially suitable to the Electric Range. The result is delicious flavor, perfect color, with fruit firm and intact.

If you want results that will take the "Blue Ribbon" anywhere, let us explain all about the Electric way.

(We haven't said a word about meats and vegetables. That's a whole volume in itself.)

WHERE THE FIRST GREAT AMERICAN OFFENSIVE WAS LAUNCHED

The American objective may be Metz, a city which ought to belong to France. The distance from their point of attack to the German boundary is thirteen miles, and the whole distance from their present location to Metz is twenty-two and a half miles.
