Nurses in Boston and other places have been provided with this gauze protection against the new influenza, in hospitals they are unable to breathe in the germs thru the gauze.

INFLUENZA AMONG HORSES REPORTED

SALEM, Oct. 15.—"Horse influenza" is the next thing to be combatted, according to Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian.

Major A. L. Mason, general veterinarian inspector for the government, has been in conference with Dr. Lytle relative to means to prevent the spread of the disease, which has made its appearance among horses in the state.

Dr. Lytle said an order will be issued requiring the disinfecting of all livery stables and stockyards in the state.

SEATTLE WASH., Oct. 16.—Seattle hopes to become one of the big gateways to Siberia after the war, just as it has long been the gateway to Alaska.

CAPITAL CITY OVER-FLOODED WITH WORKERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15.—The Southern constituent, who some three years ago rejected a $100-a-month job here in the capitol—without even going to work at it—because he considered the cost of living too high, must have been a man of prophetic vision.

Sixteen years, a democrat in the wilderness, with republicans in all the jobs, his party came into power. His congressman paid back the years of loyalty with an appointment. But the man took one look at Washington and its living prices, and went back to Georgia on the first train.

One is constrained to wonder what he would do in Washington now. Much has been written and said of the congested conditions in war-busy Washington. Government officials whose task it is to bring in war workers have been eager not to have the reports of crowding drive away hundreds of folks badly needed.

A city which, three years ago, was estimated as having 5,000 vacant houses and 3,000 vacant apartments, now has not a single vacant one. The search for homes has extended to all the suburbs, where cottages have trebled in price.

Soldiers in uniform have been put to making house to house canvases, asking the occupants to "double up" as a patriotic duty, and take in a war worker. Absentee householders having large domains which they have been accustomed to visit once a year, have in some cases feared that the premises would be commandeered by the government, and hurriedly have returned to keep their drawing rooms from being converted into dormitories.

One may well imagine that where there is so much difficulty in housing so many people, there is equal trouble in feeding them. Cafes and cafeterias have sprung up about the city like mushrooms; it is no uncommon sight to see a line of war workers standing in line outside a restaurant, waiting for a chance to spend money inside—just like a line of ticket buyers before a theater box office.

THE PRISONERS

(By Clarence Budington Kelland.) PARIS, Sept. 28. (By Mail).—Exchanged prisoners of war come back by way of Lake Comb, and of all the sights of this war, that of an arrival of exchanged Italian prisoners is the most pitiful.

In Italy Austrian prisoners are well cared for, well-treated, well fed. They go home well and strong. In return for them Austria sends back human wrecks, horrible to see. It sends back men mutilated, men wasted by starvation and disease, men who have suffered the horrible cruelties. As each arriving train comes in half the returned prisoners have to be carried off in litters. Not because they are wounded, nor ill, but because they have been starved.

Each train is met by the American Y. M. C. A., with cigarettes and such things as the soldiers want. Y. M. C. A. secretaries pass among the poor fellows giving them what comfort they can and what assistance is the "Y", Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army and Jewish Welfare Board are doing wonderful work among the prisoners.

The sight of the men is like a famine. Men are literally reduced to skin and bone; they are walking horrors.

From far and near friends and relatives of the prisoners come to meet them,—hoping, hoping that their loved ones will be in the consignment. One poor old mother, living in a distant province of Italy, walked to Como no less than four times, vainly waiting for her only remaining son. At last the government took notice of her, and procured her transportation on the railroad.

At last her son came. All the returning prisoners were off the train, and it looked as if her sixth visit were in vain, but presently a litter was carried off the last car. She had not been prepared for this, for her son was still pictured in her mind as the strong, hearty boy who had gone away from her.

Supported by a Y. M. C. A. man she drew near hesitatingly but turned away her face. She could not bear to look. Neither she nor her son has been fortified against such a meeting. But the boy rose to the emergency. He stretched out his emaciated hand and grasped hers and drew it against his cheek. "Mother," he said in Italian, I haven't but one eye left and only one leg—but I'm your son yet. I love you as much as

M'NARY AIDS FARMERS OF WEST COAST

PORTLAND, Oct. 16.—Senator Charles McNary is continuing his efforts in behalf of the best interests of the millmen, farmers and dairymen of Oregon. In a letter received by the Oregon dairy council, Senator McNary says:

"The government has promised me to take from the Pacific Coast 40 per cent of all flour purchased for allied purposes. I am endeavoring to persuade the government to increase this order, so that we may add to the stock of mill feed for dairy purposes.

"The price established for wheat at Pacific ports prevents the millers of the Northwest entering the flour mills in California which formerly consumed about 1,000,000 barrels of flour annually."

Senator McNary has been active in helping the condensed milk interests and otherwise has shown his sincere co-operation, the dairy council reports.

If I were whole. Aren't you glad to see me?"

She burst into tears—tears of grief and of joy, and threw herself upon his body, mumbling his name, cuddling him.

And so they come. Skeletons, horrors, monsters, "mutilies" sent back by Austria in exchange for well-fed, healthy, happy Austrians. The contrast is one that speaks with an eloquence not to be forgotten.

"I BELIEVE IT SAVED MY LIFE" SHE SAYS

FORMER TRAINED NURSE, GRADUATE OF BELLEVUE HOSPITAL, GAINS 25 POUNDS TAKING TANLAC.

One of the most interesting of the many remarkable statements yet made in connection with Tanlac was given by Mrs. Marie J. Howard, who resides at 402 Westlake Ave., North Seattle, recently. Mrs. Howard has been a resident of Seattle for the past eighteen years, and before her marriage, was a trained nurse and a graduate of Bellevue Hospital, New York. When asked if she would be willing for her statement to be published, she said, "Yes indeed, and you may start it by saying I believe Tanlac has saved my life."

"I have suffered from stomach trouble and disordered liver and kidneys for five years and had gotten in such a bad condition, that I honestly felt like I was going to die. Everything I would eat fermented in my stomach and the gas formed by it would cause my heart to palpitate so my breath would almost stop. There were intense pains all thru my back about my liver and kidneys and I can't begin to tell how I did suffer. I had fearful headaches and was so nervous I hardly knew what sleep was. I was often down in bed for a week at a time, hardly able to raise my hand. Then I would manage to stay up for two or three days, but would have to give up and take to my bed again. I would often go for two or three days without eating a mouthful of anything. I lost weight right along and am telling the positive truth when I say I was in such an awful condition that I thought I was going to die.

"After reading and hearing so much about Tanlac I bought a bottle, thinking if it did others so much good, perhaps it might help me, too. Well, it has not only helped me, but I have actually gained twenty-five pounds since I began and have never felt better in my life. My appetite is good and my stomach in such a splendid condition that I can hardly eat enough and I don't suffer a particle afterwards. All my pain and misery is gone, my kidneys and liver are acting splendidly and my nerves are perfectly strong and normal. I sleep every night like a child, and don't know what it is to have a headache. My husband has also taken Tanlac with wonderful results. In fact, I think it has done him as much good as it has me, and we both consider it the finest medicine made."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co. Adv.

HOW WOMEN VOTERS IN ENGLAND DO HARD WORK

These women voters of England do not stop at the hardest kind of work, which this photograph proves. It shows two scenes in a quarry where these women use pick and shovel and go thru all the operations that tried their husbands and brothers now sent to the war.
