

FRENCH HEROES HELPED SAVE CIVILIZATION

These French heroes, hopelessly crippled in the war for freedom, get their wounds in helping to save civilization from the Hun. They are cheerful despite their incapacity. It is going to be one of the problems of reconstruction to find places in which men like this may continue to earn the living of themselves and their families.

SUBS TRACKED BY SEAGULLS AND SHARKS

ON BOARD AN AMERICAN DESTROYER, in French Waters, Oct. 17 (Correspondence Associated Press)—Sharks and seagulls, the scavengers of the sea, have learned to follow in the wake of the submarines and watch and wait for the food likely to come from the wreckage of merchant vessels destroyed by the German sea wolves. This fact has been observed by the commanders of American destroyers, and is used as a clue to hunt down the Hun at sea. The presence of schools of sharks and flocks of seagulls puts the men of the American destroyers on the tip-toe of expectation when they are hunting for a periscope in the path of American transports. One commander returning to port the other day said: "We saw a good many sharks and flocks of seagulls, and these, you know, are a pretty good sign of submarines. After several years of sinkings by submarines, the sharks and sea fowl have formed the habit of following in the wake of submarines, knowing that food is likely to come from the wreckage. Whether it is cargo thrown overboard from the freighter or wreckage thrown up from the torpedo explosion makes no difference; the appearance of sharks and birds usually means that there are submarines around."

Morale Is Winning the War!

AN American is capturing a Hun—not because he is any heavier or stronger or older or bigger, but just because he has the fighting spirit which his enemy is lacking. That's morale. "Where are those Germans? Let's get at 'em!" yelled an American before Chateau-Thierry. He was going under fire for the first time. He was wild to get there! "We are constantly on the alert and are afraid the Americans are going to attack," wrote a German to his wife. He was captured before he could mail the letter. "The men are so embittered," wrote another Hun, "that they have no interest in anything, and they only want the war to end, no matter how. We are only slaves of the Government." Now he is a prisoner, too. Every despatch from France brings new proof of American fighting spirit—stories of individual valor. Morale makes Americans glad to fight for freedom. The lack of it makes Germans hate to fight for Prussia. Our soldier knows he is a free-born fighter. He is no slave of any Government. He is part of a nation waging war. He wants to fight. He needs to be driven into battle. He yells: "Let's go!" That's morale! Let's let them keep it! Let's keep them keen and fit and confident! General Pershing says that 900 men who have a hat to spend their evenings in are more effective than 1000 men without it. Napoleon called morale three times as important as other factors in war.

Utah Has Booze to Burn Now

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 8.—More than 25,000 pint bottles of whiskey, besides several barrels and hundreds of quart bottles of the high-proof liquor left here this week for Washington, where the motor transport corps of the United States army will take it over for fuel purposes. This whiskey is only a part of that seized since Utah adopted prohibition, and approximately the amount seized by Chief of Police J. Farley White of this city. About 3,000 gallons already have been destroyed. Chief White was within fifteen minutes of being in contempt of court for having failed to destroy this liquor, when he received orders from Washington to denature the supply and ship it to the motor transport corps. The court had ordered the whiskey poured into the city sewers, but the chief after trying to persuade the government hospital authorities to take it off his hands finally prevailed, thru Senator Smoot, the transport corps to make use of it. Smuggling of liquor into Utah is on the wane, Chief White declares. This is due to several causes, chief of which is the fact that the consumption in "wet" states has not decreased; but he made the efforts of the whiskey smugglers unprofitable, or has at least cut the profit to a minimum and not worth the risk taken, Chief White said.

SHIP BUILDING ON COAST IS UNDER PROBE

SAFETY OF THE COAST is being investigated by the shipping board, director of operations of the shipping board. The inquiry is expected to develop into a general investigation of the entire wooden shipbuilding industry on the Pacific coast, with hearings at Portland, Seattle and other cities where wooden ships are being built. The Bishford and Coos Bay, sailing on a smooth sea, suddenly opened up their seams, took in the sea and sank with such speed that the crew had difficulty in escaping. The opening of the investigation follows the arrival of the crews of the two ships here. Inefficient inspection, the use of green lumber and haste in construction are reported to be the cause of the sinkings. The shipping board's commission today is examining a number of coast built ships in the San Francisco bay district. A hearing will probably soon be held in Seattle, where the ship Deas is now being repaired. She steamed out of Puget sound and began to leak so badly she barely reached Seattle afloat, according to word received here. The commission is composed of Charles W. Saunders, port captain of the Matson Navigation company; Harry Gray of the United Engineering company; Captain John H. Hind-

Why you should give twice as much as you ever gave before!

The need is for a sum 30% greater than any gift ever asked for since the world began. The Government has laid this sum at $17,000,000. By giving to these seven organizations all at once, the cost and effort of six additional campaigns is saved. Unless Americans do give twice as much as ever before, our soldiers and sailors may not enjoy during 1919 their: 1,000 Recreation Buildings, 2,000 Libraries supplying 5,000,000 books, 1,000 Miles of Movie Film, 25 Hospitals, 1,000 Landed Seaplanes, 11,000 Big-brother "Secretaries", 2,000 Athletic Directors, Millions of dollars of home comforts. When you give double, you make sure that every fighter has the cheer and comfort of these seven organizations every step of the way from home to the front and back again. You provide him with a church, a library, a cheerful home, a store, a school, a club and an athletic field—and a knowledge that the folks back home are with him, heart and soul! You have loaned your money to supply their physical needs. Now give to maintain the morale that is winning the war!
