Let Co-Operation Continue

Co-operation as a community and as a nation is going to be needed as never before than in those of War. More than ever before in the history of the country, we have not a good example to follow. In the past twenty months, as Let's Co-Operation has shown, much may be counted.

LET'S CO-OPERATION

State Chamber of Commerce Planned

Looking to the intensive development of the resources of Oregon, a state-wide movement for the organization of what, in effect, will be an Oregon Chamber of Commerce promises to mature at a convention of interested persons to be held at Portland, December 12th, 13th and 14th, when citizens representing every section of the state will meet in the Oregon metropolis for the purpose of perfecting such an organization.

The movement for the organization of the Oregon Chamber of Commerce had its inception at meetings held at Albany and Salem some time ago, when resolutions were adopted, calling upon the Portland Chamber of Commerce to develop plans for the formation of such an organization. The Portland Chamber, thru its Development Bureau, gladly undertook the work.

Every commercial organization in the state has been communicated with, and in localities where there is no formal organization to handle community affairs, representative citizens were appealed to. The general plan was set forth, and the hopes and aspirations of such an organization were carefully presented.

The result of the pre-organization campaign was most gratifying, the responses from the various sections of the state indicating strongly the necessity for some form of state wide association.

It is expected that the convention will be attended by the representatives of about forty communities.

Problems affecting the development of the country are being considered to a greater degree than before. Many states are working plans for attracting settlers, and the Interior and Agricultural Departments of the Federal Government are working upon plans for employment of our returned soldiers. Naturally the tendency of these departments is toward land development, and the western states, with their large areas of untiled land, are being scrutinized as never before.

Oregon, with her vast areas of longed-off lands and burned-over and arid sections, her recently developed irrigated districts, offers advantages not excelled by any other state.

A short survey of the burned-over and longed-off lands in Oregon shows 830,000 acres suitable for agricultural purposes when cleared, and 1,380,000 acres which could be used as pasture. This does not include the many thousands of acres of tillable cleared land now idle and upon which settlers of acres of tillable cleared land now idle and upon which settlers could be put at ease. Some of these lands are owned by individuals and held at prices in excess of their true value, but which the Government might acquire thru honest and fair condemnation proceedings, and cause to be immediately cultivated by returned soldiers, the Government providing funds for the purchase of necessary farm equipment, stock, buildings, etc.

The irrigated sections of Oregon are now ready for a large number of farmers, as well as certain sections of logged-off and, so called, "arid" lands.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce, the Oregon Land Settlement Commission and the Oregon Agricultural College have outlined a plan which will be presented by Whitney L. Boies, representing the Portland Chamber of Commerce and the Oregon Land Settlement Commission, and H. D. Beuder, representing the Oregon Agricultural College, to the officials at Washington, D. C., within a few days.

In that this is a question of immediate interest to all sections of the state, the subject will be a prominent one before the State Chamber of Commerce Convention. Other matters of no less importance, afflecting industrial developments, will be carefully considered at the con-

EDMONDS GAINS
TWENTY POUNDS

After taking part in days in San Jose in of conversion.

"I have picked up at least twenty pounds in the past thirty days by taking Tannin, and now I'm just in the pink of condition all around," this statement was made by William M. Edmonds, a well known employee of the Seattle Street Car Company living at 780 North 7th Street, Seattle, recently.

"My stomach," he continued, "has been giving me all kinds of trouble for years. What I ate seemed to do me harm instead of good, so it would eat on my stomach and cause a great misery. I used hardly to eat my bread at times on account of the gas which would swim on my heart and cause it to palpitate fearfully. I was badly constipated, my kidneys were in bad shape and I was never free from pain in the small of my back. I couldn't sleep at all well and would lay awake for hours every night before getting a wisp of sleep. I also had rheumatism in my arms and legs, and my knees would get so stiff at times that I could hardly bend over.

"All my efforts to find relief failed until I began taking Tannin, but this medicine has certainly put me in great shape. My appetite was never better, everything tasted good and my stomach is in such a good condition that I can eat anything. And since the gas has stopped forming, I'm never bothered with palpitation, shortness of breath, or any other signs of indigestion. My kidneys don't bother me any more, all the pain has disappeared and I sleep fine every night."

"My wife has been taking Tannin for headache and a run-down condition and her first bottle has helped her so much that she told me to bring her another today. It certainly is great to do what it has for me and if it is the one medicine I don't hesitate to recommend."

Tannin is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Lewiston by James More, Co.
