RED RUBBER SOLE

CORN BELT ARCTIC

No cloth about this Corn Belt arctic to get foul and ill-smelling. It is all rubber from toe to top—pure long-wearing rubber. The sole is made of long-wearing Red Rubber. We challenge any maker to put out a better arctic. It is water-proof to the top of the bellows tongue. It's light as is consistent with strength and durability.

Top Notch Rubber Footwear

The Corn Belt Arctic is strengthened, reinforced, protected at the "strain and wear points." The heel is extra thick and toe has an "armor plate" toe cap. Wear it over regular shoes. Has four buckles strongly attached. 11 in. high.

This is an ideal shoe for farmers' rough, wet, sloppy work in stable, barnyard or field where a high rubber boot is not needed. Drop in and handle this good arctic. You'll like it.

Enough Tonnage to Supply World Needs

LONDON. (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—There will be no shortage of cargo tonnage for supplying world needs during the first half of 1919 in the opinion of Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States Shipping Board. It is passenger space for transporting troops home that is occupying attention of the Allied shipping controllers. No nation can have as much of that as it wants now.

After conferring with industrial and shipping heads in England and France and viewing a large part of the battle areas of France and Belgium. Mr. Hurley stated that it would take at least six months, possibly more, for France and England to rehabilitate their industries to the point where large amounts of raw material would be needed.

It is pointed out that it would be useless to send industrial machinery and raw materials to France until her destroyed factory buildings are made ready to receive them.

Almost the entire British industrial system now is a huge munitions production machine virtually idle. Until it is transformed to its pre-war state raw materials would be a burden. It will be necessary to import some machinery for the transformation but not enough seriously to tax cargo space for the next seven months Mr. Hurley believes.

The thirty-two German passenger vessels in German ports have been the center of most of the allied shipping discussions on this side for weeks. Americans want all of them they can get to send home roughly 1,700,000 men as soon as possible. England must send home to Canada about 350,000, to Australia about 200,000, to New Zealand 75,000 or more and bring to England thousands from Mesopotamia, Palestine and other places. Obviously the American problem is the greatest and it is understood, that, in pressing for ships, Americans generally have insisted that the United States, with less than two years of war, is in a better position to assimilate its returning troops than is England whose industrial conditions have been more disrupted.

With the rapid increase in American tonnage it is expected that more than 40 per cent of the American forces will go home in American ships. It is the desire of American army officers and shipping interests that as many as possible of the balance be carried home in German passenger vessels, thus releasing a large number of British bottoms.

If the demands of Americans, heard here, that the troops be sent home as rapidly as they were brought over becomes insistent it will take more ships to send them back than to bring them over. They were brought under the stress of necessity and in some instances ships were loaded to the extent of discomfort. Loss of tonnage caused by lighter loading however will partially be made up by greater speed. Fast vessels will not be compelled to conform to convoy speed and the elimination of zig-zagging will save much time.

While a great many men are being sent home now and the number will constantly increase it is not believed the real homeward movement will be inaugurated before February 1. Whether then it will be on the suggested basis of 300,000 a month depends almost entirely upon decisions of the allied shipping conferences which began soon after the armistice was signed.

UNCLE SAMUEL'S REPLY TO BILL MAKES BIG HIT

Those who have bought Uncle Sam's Liberty bonds and contributed in various ways toward the world war, had a first class chance last night to see just how their money had been invested at the Rex Theatre, where "America's Answer" the official war film issued by authority of George Creel as Chairman of the Committee of Public Information.

When Ex-Empress William of Germany, told Ambassador Gerard that America wouldn't fight he made the most short sighted prophesy of his career. He got a reply dished out to his armies in a time so short as to make him gasp in wonder and the nature of this answer is shown thru one of the most remarkable films ever displayed. The over crowded house last night is expected to be repeated again tonight.

The play "To Hell with the Kaiser" met with a huge reception at the Liberty Theatre last evening, many being unable to get seats. It is announced that tonight will be the last chance to see this famous war drama as it is shortly to be withdrawn from circulation. The inventor, Professor Monroe perfects a wonderful wireless invention which is greatly desired by the Kaiser and his associates.

The scenes beggar description. The kaiser's council chamber is shown; Belgian villages are burned; there are "shots" of the trenches, and a fleet of fairplanes is shown in battle with rival aircraft. In the realm of fancy the kaiser is shown going to his final destination, "the hot place."
