Splendid Daring of Italians Is Rewarded

ACHIEVEMENTS ALMOST BEYOND BELIEF SECURED BY BRAVE NAVAL OFFICER, WHO SWAM FOR NINE HOURS TO PLACE BOMBS ON SIDE OF AUSTRIAN VESSEL

ROME—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—It was by swimming into Pola harbor and steering two small submarine motors towing bombs that two Italian naval officers destroyed the Austrian dreadnought Viribus Unitis just before the signing of the armistice between Italy and Austria. The swimmers were in the water nine hours, and had to penetrate four barriers across the harbor entrance, two of which were composed of steel submarine nets. After they had attached their bomb to the side of the dreadnought, they were captured and taken on board the vessel, and were there when the warship was blown up.

to abandon ship. Paolucci asked the admiral, "If he and his friend might also try to save themselves, and he shook hands, saying: "You are brave men, and deserve to live." They plunged into the water and swam away, but ten minutes later the admiral began to suspect the bomb story, and sent a launch to bring them back. They were made to walk up the ladder under which they had set the bomb, which was to explode in two minutes. The ladder was crowded with sailors returning to their ship.

They escaped without injury, and have returned to Rome to tell of their exploit, which is characterized as one of the most daring and successful in the history of naval warfare. Only the fact that the Viribus Unitis had been destroyed by Italian naval forces previously had been made known, but now the details have been given out by the Italian admiralty.

"Run! Run for your lives!" shouted Paolucci, struggling to reach the deck before the explosion took place. He and Rossetti had reached the deck and ran to the stern of the dreadnought when a terrific explosion rent the air, and a column of water 300 feet high shot upward. Admiral Voucovich again gave them permission to save themselves, and they had been swimming away from the ship five minutes when they heard another explosion, and saw that the other bomb which had been left adrift, had been carried by the current alongside the large Austrian liner Wien, and had there exploded.

The officers who thus sent to the bottom a 20,000-ton ship, one of the most powerful in the Austrian navy, were Lieutenant Raffaele Paolucci and Major Raffaele Rossetti. The attack was delivered on the morning of November 1, 1918.

The Viribus Unitis was then lying on her side, but suddenly the huge ship turned bottom upward, and Lieutenant Paolucci saw Admiral Voucovich scramble upward and stand with folded arms on the keel, ready to go down with his vessel.

To tow the bombs into Pola harbor, the two Italians invented small compressed air motors, to which were attached bombs. For six months the two naval men practiced in long distance swimming. The Italian admiralty gave the same use of a motor boat.

Major Rossetti and Lieutenant Paolucci were recaptured and taken on board another Austrian warship, where they were kept prisoners until the armistice was signed and an Italian warship entered the harbor. Then a launch was sent for the two heroes and they were sent on a destroyer to Venice, where the people gave them a vociferous welcome.

Reaching the harbor entrance at nightfall, the two daring men started on their expedition, swimming beside their little motors and steering them. To escape detection by sentries on a wooden pier across the harbor mouth Paolucci and Rossetti had hats shaped like bottles, and the sentry saw nothing but a couple of bottles being tossed about by the waves.

When his back was turned they advanced, and safely passed the first barrier.

After infinite labor they fought their way thru the steel nets and the Austrian fleet lay before them. Reaching the side of the Viribus Unitis, they attached the bomb to her hull beneath the ladder which led to her deck, and timed the bomb to explode at 6:30 a. m.

By this time they were exhausted, having been in the water more than nine hours. As they were leaving, they were discovered and taken on board the dreadnought. At first they refused to answer the questions asked them by Admiral Voucovich. At 6:15, however, they told the admiral what they had done, and he gave the order

Polar Hospital Serves Gigantic Territory

CORDOVA, Alaska. (By Mail)—For her work in St. Stephens Hospital, of far away Fort Yukon, Alaska, said to be the most northerly hospital in North America, Miss Margaret Nunviell, the one remaining graduate nurse of the institution, has been awarded a "special service chevron" by the American Red Cross.

The hospital, an English Church institution located ten miles inside the Arctic Circle on the Yukon flats, is the only place where medical assistance can be obtained in something like 50,000 square miles said Archdeacon Hudson Stuck in writing to the Red Cross requesting that the Chevon be sent Miss Nunviell.

"The nearest physician up the Yukon is at Dawson 350 miles away, and the nearest down the river is at the army post at Fort Gibbon, 350 miles distant," Archdeacon Stuck said. "And in all this wide hinterland there is no physician."

For a time last summer Miss Nunviell thought of going outside to join the Red Cross workers behind the American battle lines. She was prevailed upon by the hospital and church authorities to remain at her northern post and continue her missionary and nurse work among the great number of Alaskan Indians cared for by the hospital.

"If it were necessary," Archdeacon Stuck said, "to close this hospital in order to win the war or that our wounded should have proper care, I would unhesitatingly do so. But it is possible that this badly needed and costly work shall continue I ask that the chevron be granted so that Miss Nunviell may be fortified to remain here distinguished from slackers and absentees by the award."

"This past spring there was an interesting illustration of the wide usefulness of St. Stephens, when the Arctic explorer, Vilhjormur Stefansson, who had been lying ill at Herschel Island with typhoid, had himself hauled 400 miles on a dog sled to reach the hospital."

EDWARD RENO HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

TAKES TANLAC FOLLOWING ATTACK OF INFLUENZA AND RESULTS ARE WONDERFUL.

"For anyone suffering from the after effects of influenza and needing something to build them up," said Edward W. Reno, a well known employee of the American Railway Express Company, living at 1721 Broadway, Kansas City, Missouri, "Tanlac is the finest thing in the world, and I'll tell you why.

"During the recent epidemic I was taken down with the 'flu' myself and for two weeks was just about as sick as one gets to be. I finally managed to pull thru, but my, I was as weak as a baby afterwards. I lost twenty-five pounds in weight or more, and every ounce of my strength seemed to be gone. Of course, I wasn't able to do a bit of work and it was just about all I could do to walk around and my legs would just completely give out sometimes. I had no appetite, either and never cared for a thing to eat.

"I knew I wouldn't be able to go back to work at all feeling like I was, and as I had heard so much about Tanlac I decided to test it out. Well, it seemed to help me right from the first few doses and has put me in shape to where I have actually gained twenty-five pounds in thirty days time. I have just finished my third bottle, and it is nothing short of astonishing the way it has increased my strength and built me up in every respect. I have not only gotten back all my old strength, but I really believe I feel better than I did even before I had the 'flu'. My appetite was never better, all that tired feeling is gone and I am putting in ten hours of good, hard work every day, and it really doesn't bother me one bit. To say I'm strong for Tanlac is making it very mild. I am constantly telling some friend about it, and I think everybody who is in a rundown condition would do well to give it a trial."

As has been stated, there is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac. Tanlac contains certain medicinal properties which enrich the blood and promote a healthy appetite for nourishing food, thus helping to build up health and strength in the natural way. And, as in the case of Mr. Reno, Tanlac will prove invaluable to all persons suffering from the after effects of influenza, la grippe, typhoid and pneumonia, bronchial troubles etc. Tanlac is a powerful reconstructive tonic and always produces most gratifying results.

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Lolla by the James Merc. Co.—Adv.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

NOBODY CAN TELL WHEN YOU DARKEN GRAY, FADED HAIR WITH SAGE TEA

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
