THE INFLUENZA SITUATION

That the people of this city have no reason for unnecessary agitation over the influenza situation is shown by the report of the health officer at the meeting of the city council last evening. At the very outside, he stated, there are only one hundred cases that might be termed influenza. It is true that this statement will not be accepted by many who have worked themselves into the belief that every home was infected with the disease, and on the other hand will be an equal number that will contend that not all of this hundred can be classed as being afflicted with the malady. But in either case it must be admitted that one hundred cases of this class of sickness is not exceeding the average for a city of the population of Klamath Falls, and probably does not exceed the normal number of cases in years when the public mind is not inflamed with the fear produced by the constant discussion of what so many term a plague.

While the opinions as to the closing of the schools, business houses, and other institutions differ widely, there is no difference in Klamath Falls when the purpose sought is understood. At a meeting that was held Sunday afternoon in the office of the mayor, between that official and a number of the business men of the city, it was decided that the most effective method for the inauguration of the quarantine plan would be to close the city so that every man, woman and child might participate in the work of cleaning up, disinfecting, fumigating and caring for those who may be afflicted with the disease. Then on Monday resume normal conditions, with the one idea fixed in the minds of everyone to aid the health board in the enforcement of the quarantine law. Those who have been clamoring for effective and drastic action have had their wishes complied with—drastic in the closing of the town and effective by the establishment of the quarantine. Now if they will join with those who have advocated only the quarantine in work, instead of talk, and pitch in and clean up their own premises, and render any other assistance they may be called upon to do, everyone will be happy, and in a few days the situation will be such that there will not again arise any occasion for the agitation of the past few days.

ENFORCE THE QUARANTINE

Now that the health board has adopted the policy of quarantine, let it be enforced without fear or favor, and in this work The Herald will render every possible assistance. Heretofore we have refrained from the publication of the names of those who were reported to be afflicted with the disease, because such publication lacks real news value. This policy will be changed and we will daily publish a list of those reported as having the disease, when that list is furnished and signed by the health officer, and as long as the quarantine law is enforced. Our reason for this publication is to give the notice of those quarantined so that the public may be in a position to assist the health department by promptly reporting any one known to have violated the ordinance. Now that the health board has shouldered the responsibility for the proper protection of the health of the city, the public is going to look to it to do its duty without any consideration except that the attainment of the good results sought.

FORT KLAMATH ITEMS

Conditions have never been better at the Fort than they are at present. Enough snow to make good feeding, perfect feeding weather and an abundance of feed.

What is, perhaps, the last shipment of stock cattle out of Wood River Valley for this season was shipped from Chiloquin to California on the 7th of this month. Three hundred head of cows owned by J. C. Mitchell composed the shipment.

The first cases of flu to attack residents of the Fort appeared Monday morning. Miss Jo Driscoll, principal of the high school, and Miss Rippe, intermediate teacher, were reported ill with the dreaded epidemic. Both are doing nicely at this writing.

The road to Crescent via Sand Creek is still open for horse drawn vehicles. No cars going that way, however. This is the route of the new highway, work upon which we hope to be started next summer.

Evidence of the disposition of the enterprising stock raisers of Wood River Valley to better the best, is shown in the fact that several tons of Economy stock food is being used this winter. It has been said that this valley already produces the best beef and mutton on the coast.

It is reported that Chico parties have a move on foot to sub-divide and sell the Abner Weed tract of 20,000 acres, located in the southern part of Wood River Valley. This is one of the best tracts of land in the state and if sub-divided and properly handled, would support a greater population than is now in the whole of the valley.

NO CONVALESCENT MILITARY HOSPITAL FOR ROSEBURG.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 14.—Roseburg cannot have a convalescent military hospital as had been asked, Senator McNary was told by the War Department today, because the signing of the armistice makes necessary no further facilities for the care of wounded and sick soldiers.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS IF BLADDER BOTHERS YOU

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

was recommended, as was the building of a state industrial hospital at Portland.

After referring to the good work of the state police, "despite the vicious criticism leveled against this organization by the lawless element whose habits were rudely interrupted by the activities of the state police and by many well meaning citizens who were not informed truthfully," the message recommended the establishment of a state constabulary of ten or fifteen men as a small mobile force for state police duty. These men would help enforce the prohibition and game laws, and in preventing forest fires.

"I am hopeful," said the executive, that fair-minded committees of the legislature will make a careful examination of the state penitentiary and learn the real truth about a situation which has been made the football for politics, spiteful vengeance and deceiving manipulations. Altho the physical status of the penitentiary property leaves much to be desired, I am well pleased with the administration of the institution under the first management of my own individual choosing. In a month the new warden has been amazingly effective in his work, and I am confident that any one conversant with actual conditions will concede readily that this penal institution is now being administered on a most satisfactory basis. Considering the responsible and exacting nature of the work, I feel the warden is underpaid as an official."

Need for a new cell house is mentioned, but "because of the present disheartening status of the state finances it may be necessary to defer for another two years this almost imperative improvement." The outlook for the handling of the flax industry at the penitentiary is good, according to Governor Withycombe, altho the past two seasons have been the most unfavorable, climatically, of the last forty years to flax growing. He expressed doubt as to the wisdom of laws which prevent the sale of prison-made articles in competition with those manufactured by free labor. "The population of the Oregon prison is so small," he declared, "that the effect of removing this restriction would have at most but a negligible influence on the labor market. When we consider that the taxpayers of Oregon are paying for the sustenance of the penitentiary inmates it seems short-sightedness to erect legal obstructions which serve to prevent them from earning their own way as nearly as possible during incarceration. A law granting prison authorities a free hand to dispose of any commodities that may be produced advantageously by the prisoners would undoubtedly tend toward economy and lower upkeep, as well as toward a better morale among the men."

In connection with consideration of highways, the governor suggested a law requiring drivers of both passenger automobiles and motor trucks to bring their vehicles to a complete stop before crossing the railroad tracks outside of towns and cities. With reference to fish and game legislation he advocated the ceding of Malheur Lake and Mud Lake in Harney county to the federal government for the purpose of creating a permanent wild bird refuge, and also urged the plan of the federal government for the complete destruction of predatory animals.

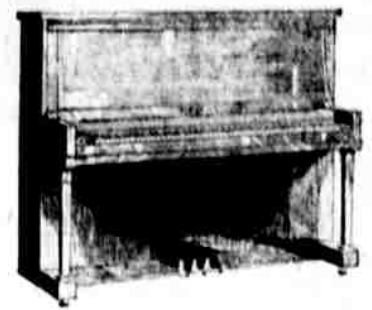

Besides urging the overwhelming, if not unanimous endorsement of national prohibition amendment, the governor referred to numerous other subjects, the message which contained approximately eight thousand words.

Reorganization Sale

Having bought out the interests of C. F. Shepherd of Ashland, Ore., I am reducing my stock of pianos to secure cash.

I will place these instruments on sale beginning January 18th, and will continue bona fide reductions for fourteen days only.

This is an unusual opportunity for anyone considering the purchase of a piano in the next three years, as our firm has always opposed having sales, believing it a fairer plan to price all pianos as low as possible, but my urgent need of cash makes this sale advisable.
