About Masks

Masks are worn to protect the other fellow not yourself, the surgeon wears a mask while operating not to protect himself, but to protect the wound of the patient.

Some masks are camouflage. A mask should be of good size, six or seven layers of gauze or else several layers of gauze with some sterile absorbent cotton in between, in sandwich like fashion.

Put a suitable mark on the outside, so if the mask is removed for a few minutes, it will always be replaced with the same side out. As these masks are cheap it would be advisable to change them daily or keep them slightly dampened with weak solution of carbolic acid. Boiling is the best disinfectant.

During ordinary or loud speech, infected material from the mouth is rarely projected to a distance of four feet and usually less. A four-foot danger zone exists about the patient under these conditions. During coughing or sneezing, infected material may be projected at least ten feet, so the danger zone about a coughing patient is ten feet.

I recommend that every one caring for people ill with flu wear a mask. In a crowd you should wear a mask. In the open don't wear it. Your lungs need to be ventilated. You need the pure air and not that laden with carbon dioxide.

I recommend that those exposed to the infection and all members of the family where a case of influenza is existing should be inoculated and immunized with combined influenza vaccine. There are many kinds of vaccines. Let your physician care for you and have it done right. By vaccines or serobacterins much illness can be prevented and serious complications avoided.

A mask should be worn to protect the other fellow. Anyone with a slight "cold" is just as dangerous as one with the most virulent smallpox as far as contagion goes. I have instructed the doctors of the city to make no fine-hair diagnosis, bad cold, gripe or flu are all to be isolated. By bad cold is I mean one with headache and slight fever, and not a cold which is a congestion of the nose and throat from acid air or irritation. This sort of a cold is not accompanied with headache or loss of appetite.

Let's wear masks in the danger zoned to protect the other man from our cough and sneeze. Remember the Golden Rule in this matter. It is difficult to realize the lavishness with which some individual distribute saliva. Not by expectation—no decent or intelligent person would spit in a public place—but by the thoughtless contamination of everything with the saliva. "When we remember that one in each five individuals harbors virulent pneumococci or "cold" germs in the mouth; that practically all harbor germs which may become virulent to others under favorable circumstances this universal distribution and exchange of saliva becomes something more than a joke.

"BOB" HANLON RETURNS FROM ARMY SERVICE

Popular Young Man Will Resume Duties With Wells-Fargo Co.

R. E. Hanlon, who for nearly two years was messenger for the Wells-Fargo Express company between this city and Weed, has returned from Camp Funston, where he had been for about a year in training for overseas service. He was in the city yesterday greeting his many friends, but nowhere will "Bob," as he is affectionately called up and down the line, be more cordially welcomed than by the people who know him between here and Weed. And there is a reason for this.

Along the line reside a number of homesteaders and others, who constantly have business with the express company, an dit is often necessary for them to impose, to a certain extent, criticism of the Wells-Fargo, and it would be well for employees generally to scan the record of this young man. His uniform courtesy to rich and poor, high and low, has won for him the regard and esteem of the patrons of his employer, and it must follow that it will bring from his employer the reward of promotion he has so well earned. The practice of the public in days gone by, of holding the corporation responsible for the sins of the employees, is gradually changing, and the public is beginning to look to the man with whom it comes in contact. It would be well, therefore, for some of these fellows to follow in the footsteps of this young man, who has done so much to make popular in this section the Wells-Fargo Express company.

CORRECTION

The names of Dorothy Walton, as organist, and Jessie Momyer as Marshall were omitted in the announcement of the Eastern Star installation in yesterday's issue of The Herald. The name, S. O. Mills, Sentinel should have read L. O. Mills. The banquet was called off on account of the uncertainty of the quarantine regulations.

Bohemia's Envoy Until Minister Is Appointed

Charles Pergler, American delegate of the Czechoslovak national council, has been appointed by Dr. Thomas G. Mararyk, recently elected president of the Czechoslovak republic, to represent Bohemia until a minister is appointed. While Dr. Masaryk was in America Mr. Pergler acted as his secretary. For four years he was the most noted worker in America in the cause of Czechoslovak independence.

Something in One Lesson

"Do you think you could learn to love me?" asked the young man.
"Well—I don't—know," replied the sweet young thing.
"I have $5,000 in Liberty bonds, $10,000 invested in good paying stock."
"Go on; I'm learning."
"And $50,000 in well paying real estate."
"All right, dear; I've learned. Believe me, you're some teacher!"

I. W. W. DEFY AUTHORITIES

DANGEROUS OUTBREAK OF BOLSHEVIK SYMPATHIZERS AT SEATTLE. HUNDRED POLICE QUELL THE RIOTS.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 16.—Shouting sedition from the rostrum at an open-air meeting Sunday afternoon, bolshevik sympathizers numbering nearly two thousand defied the police and attacked a police captain after the meeting had been closed by the police. A riot followed, in which a force of one hundred policemen, aided by military police and other soldiers, was required to restore order and disperse the crowds.

Thirteen men were arrested after the police had used their clubs freely. Speakers at the meeting urged a general strike to paralyze all industries engaged in the manufacture of supplies for the American army and its allies in Siberia. Cheers for the red flag were given repeatedly and I. W. W. hymns sung.

Call for the meeting was made by means of handbills one of which was signed by the International Work's league. Hulet M. Wells, a Socialist of Seattle, under sentence for obstructing the army draft, was billed as the chief speaker, but was indisposed and Walker C. Smith, said to be author of I. W. W. Literature took his place.

Twenty police officers heard the start of the meeting. Notified by a police sergeant of the anti-American utterances of the speakers, Police Captain W. H. Searing went to the head of the parade and ordered M. H. Stumpf, its alleged leader, to stop it. Stumpf continued to wave his arms to the crowd and when placed under arrest struck Searing in the face, said the officer. A half-dozen sympathizers tried to attack the captain, who was rescued by police officers. In the meantime a huge crowd gathered and from here and there came cries of "Cheers for the red flag!"

NEW PRESIDENT FOR THE MEXICANS SOON

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—Discussion, private and journalistic, of the question of electing a successor to Venustiano Carranza as president of Mexico in 1921, was given added impetus by what a leading pro-German morning paper calls is record "scoop" in securing an interview from President Carranza, in which he stated he had not thought of, nor would he accept re-election. The fact that the new constitution expressly forbids two presidential terms was not mentioned in the "beat."

Among candidates most frequently mentioned are Generals Pablo Gonzales, who has, on various occasions, expressed himself as pro-Ally, and General Alvaro Obregon, at present in business in Sonora.

American Publishers Urge Punishing Huns

LONDON. (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Editors and publishers of American trade journals who recently visited the former battlefronts in France sent a letter to President Wilson during his stay in England in which they proposed punishment for the German leaders and their agents for piracy, murder and pillage. The communication was signed by Horace M. Swetland of New York, as chairman of the party of Journalists; Roger W. Allen, president of the New York Business Publishers Association and nine others from New York, Boston and Chicago.

After stating that they had visited the battlefields, ruined cities and obliterated villages of Belgium and France, they added in their letter: "The devastation and ruin wrought are not the work of one man or a group of men. They are the result of a system of policies which have been executed with thoroughness by a willing people. The evidence of organized pillage and vandalism are on every hand.

"Every law presupposes a penalty for its violation. The laws of nations that civilization has so painfully built up thru the centuries have been wantonly violated for four long years. To fail to enforce these laws now would be tacitly to concede the power of repeal by the criminals themselves. These laws must be re-established. To our minds, the enforcement of complete restitution and reparation by the people of Germany and the punishment of the leaders and their guilty agents for the crime committed in violation of existing laws against piracy, murder and pillage will do more than anything else could to insure that future laws made by agreement of the nations will be observed.

"We are writing this to you knowing that the sentiments expressed would receive the support of all Americans, could they see these things, as we have seen them and hear the terrible evidence from the lips of the unhappy victims."

BRITISH BOND SALE SETS NEW RECORD

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The sale of national war bonds, which will close next Saturday, has been the most stupendous financial success ever conducted. George Sutton of the National War Savings Association has declared that the total has now been brought within measurable distance of 1,500,000,000 pound sterling ($7,500,000,000) and it is hoped to reach 1,600,000,000 pound sterling before the campaign closes. The previous record held by the Fourth Liberty Loan in America totaled just under 1,400,000,000 pound sterling, or $7,000,000,000.

EX-KAISER MAY SOON BE IN A MADHOUSE

LONDON, Jan. 16.—William Hohenzollern, former kaiser of Germany is going insane, according to a dispatch to the Daily Express from Amsterdam today, quoting a prominent Hollander who recently dined with the ex-kaiser at the castle of Count Bentinck.

"The former kaiser will be a fit patient for a madhouse within six months," the informant declared. "He raves continually. One day he wants to return to Berlin and the next he wants to surrender to Great Britain like Napoleon. He suffers much from his head and from insomnia. Quite often it is difficult to prevent him from leaving his bed at night and wandering half-clad in the park of the castle grounds."
