SHUT THEM OUT

The attention of the city council is called to the necessity for the enactment of an ordinance that will protect legitimate business men against the itinerant peddler of merchandise. Not only protect the home dealer, but the home people, who are too often swindled by a smooth-tongued sales person. But recently the need of such an ordinance was manifested when there was placed on sale in a local hotel a line of ladies' wear. The merchandise offered may have been of the very best, and at attractive prices, but that is no excuse for its sale having been permitted. Such persons pay no taxes, rent or salaries; neither do they have the many overhead charges that the local merchant is compelled to meet. When a subscription is taken up for a railroad, a mill or any other enterprise or purpose, you never find the name of the itinerant anywhere on the list, but your home merchant is expected to head it. He is entitled to the protection he has earned and deserves, and it is up to the city authorities to give it to him, without his asking for it. An ordinance of this character should be stringent enough to be effective. It should call for a license of sufficient size to put the itinerant on an equal footing with the local merchant, and some provision should be made for a bond, to be furnished where a man will advance the claim that he is to remain permanently. Such a bond should be made to cover a period of one year.

TIE UP THE DOGS AND CATS

One fruitful source for the spread of all kinds of infectious and contagious diseases is the dog and the cat, particularly the former. Klamath Falls is infested with scores of homeless dogs; and dogs that have homes, but are turned loose to roam where they will. The health board should take this matter under consideration, and issue orders for the tying up of all dogs, as was done here during the rabies scare a year or so ago. Klamath Falls has reached the stage in its development where the same rules that are enforced in the larger cities should prevail here. There is no possible excuse that the owner of a dog can advance to justify his turning him loose on the public. If he is a valuable dog—and all dogs are valuable in the eyes of the owner—then the place for him is at home. There he is safe from all danger, and the public is safe from him. If he is not of sufficient worth to deserve proper care and attention, then he is not of enough importance to endanger public health and safety by running loose on the streets of the city. What is true of the dog, is also true of the cat. A five-cent mousetrap is worth a hundred cats. In the cities cats are not permitted to run loose, and what is good for the big cities is none too good for Klamath Falls. Now that the city has started out on a clean-up campaign, let it include a clean-up on this class of disease-spreaders, and enforce it as stringently as the quarantine is being enforced.

The proper place for a person who breaks through the quarantine is the pest house. Put him there and keep him there for a sufficient length of time to protect the public from any danger of infection from him.

For once Klamath Falls has shown that it can unite on a proposition if it is put up to it in the proper way. The clean-up movement had back of it the united support of the entire city, simply because the officers indicated that they had the backbone to do things right. No favors were asked or expected, and where any complaint was made, it was invariably found that those kicking were looking for special consideration. When the business men asked for definite action, the request was accompanied with the statement that they were ready to back up the administration in anything it undertook, and they have more than made good. They knew there was no need of the uneasiness manifested, and they also knew that as soon as the people's confidence was restored it would end for all time agitation of this kind. Their judgment was right.

Big things are looming on the horizon for Klamath County this year. We are going to see things hum here, and the strides we will make will surprise even the most optimistic. The Herald is in possession of confidential information that justifies it in saying that the time is at hand for the people of this city to get ready to throw aside the swaddling clothes of the town and prepare for metropolitan apparel.

If anyone has any doubt as to the desire of the people of this county that all warrants issued shall be redeemed at their face value, plus interest to date of redemption, then he should have heard some of the words of commendation that have come to The Herald for its stand on this question. Some of the largest taxpayers of the city have expressed themselves very clearly on this question, and that expression is the same as ours—that the county should pay its debts.

Klamath County News

ORINDALE

The weather in this section has been moderating for the past week.

Word has been received here that Harry Wehr and wife expect to return to Klamath Falls soon. Mr. Wehr left here in answer to a call of the selective draft last July and was released a short time ago. He was in the Spruce Division.

Lumber has been moving very rapidly from the Christy and McCullum saw mill, for the past few days, nearly forty loads per day being hauled. The operators made a fine cut last season and expect to do still better during the coming year if their present plans materialize.

C. G. Hunt has just finished putting up about five tons of ice for his use next summer.

Messrs. Price and Peterson are remodeling the barn on the Argraves ranch in Orindale.

James Moore butchered his supply of pork for the coming summer a few days ago.

George Shell was riding for stock in this vicinity a few days ago.

R. V. Ess visited at the home of C. G. Hunt last Sunday.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

SAYS WE MUST KEEP FEET DRY, AVOID EXPOSURE AND EAT LESS MEAT

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating thru the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well. Adv.

Chief Bolsheviki Principles Outlined

AMSTERDAM, (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The five cardinal points of Bolshevism are, according to M. Oudinsky, formerly Dutch Minister in Petrograd as follows: One: High wages. Two: Don't work. Three: Take other peoples property. Four: No punishment. Five: No taxation. "I wish," he said, "to give a solemn warning to the working classes of all nations against the high-faluting notions which I have seen in Russia. Bolshevism, I say without exaggeration, is the end of civilization. I have known Russia in the last few years under the old regime and under the new conditions. Never have the working classes of Russia suffered as they are doing at the present moment notwithstanding all that the present so-called ruling classes in that country choose to tell the world. "The bulk of the workmen in Russia are today away worse off than they ever have been and the state of unemployment is simply terrible. When I left Petrograd the situation was one of utter starvation and most people hardly knew how they would exist thru the following day. Where Bolshevism rules, the nation has been beaten to pulp and is utterly helpless. The future to me seems hopeless. One thing is certain, that, left as she is now, Russia will be in a state of utter and complete ruin. "Factories are at a standstill and are being ruined and, without the aid of foreign capital, they can never be survived. I have never seen or dreamt of the possibility of such corruption, tyranny, and the absence of all semblance of freedom as there is in Russia at the present moment. "Most of the workmen now begin to see that the regime of Bolshevism cannot possibly last. The whole world must stand shoulder to shoulder so that out of the ruins something may arise, personally I know not why.

Interesting Comments of Yanks Abroad

LONDON, (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Some of the 15,000 American sailors, who visited London before leaving for home, told the British journalists what they thought of the metropolis. "I like your town all right," one is quoted as saying, "but you haven't enough restaurants. Even in a small American town every street has got 'em in bunches of fives." Other comments were: "Your transportation about town isn't up to standard, but I suppose that's the war." "London's more like an American city than Edinburgh, and the people are all right. You are not so modern though, as we are. I see your girls have got their hair bobbed—why, our girls had that done ten years ago!" "The people are real friendly. We like your burg, but your climate is rotten." "The big difference between England and the States is your ladies. You can speak to a lady here, high or low, without getting into trouble. If you spoke to a lady in America, you'd be arrested. There's something where you are more democratic than we are." The British vlogger said he hoped the American boys wouldn't take home any wrong ideas about English girls based on some of those encountered in the Strand and in Piccadilly Circus. Whatever "freedom of the seas" may mean, it will not include the privilege of ordering non-combatants into open boats 1,000 miles off-shore. —Boston Herald.

"Make no mistake about that," the sailor reassured him. "We know all about it. We've got to know fine girls here, and high-toned ones too, and we don't want the other sort." He said the boys with the American battleship squadron in the Firth of Forth got on well with the English sailors of the Grand Fleet. "We gave them a vaudeville show," he related, "and they gave us a concert." "This sailor," the interviewer remarked in his article, "gave me some sound information on a point about which I had always been curious. I asked him if one American could tell at once what part of America another one came from. He said, 'Sure. Take a man from the South. He speaks slow with a drawl—'Air-you-goin'-down-town-toe-night'—see? — Like that, like a bunch of farmers talking. A man from Chicago talks like a man from New York, quick and sharp like with a lot of profanity." "But could you tell the difference between a Chicago man and a New York man?" "Sure. A Chicago man uses more profanity, and he moves his hand like this—see—as if he was doing a card trick. A New York Man's quick and soft." "What about the Middle West?" "Oh, a Kansas man doesn't speak slow like a Southerner, or too quick like a Chicago man, but just plain and distinct, so anyone can understand him. Just like I speak. I come from Kansas."

LADIES DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

USE GRANDMA'S SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR RECIPE AND NOBODY WILL KNOW The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance with wonderful effect. But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. A well known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so natural and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

COMMANDANT OF OUR FIGHTING MARINES, WHO IS PROUD OF HIS BOYS, WITH HIS WIFE

GEN. GEORGE BARNETT MRS. BARNETT Everybody, including their commandant, praises the United States marines. He is Major General George Barnett, who has just returned with Mrs. Barnett after spending three months in France. General Barnett, who has been 30 years in the service of the marines, declares his "boys" deserve all the praise in the world, and that those who were wounded and disabled during their hard campaign are to be well taken care of.
