"PITILESS PUBLICITY"

"Pitiless publicity!" Pooh! Where is it at the Peace Conference? What has become of one of the President's precepts about "open covenants, openly arrived at"? A not very careful search will find them among the "scraps of paper" in the waste baskets of England, France and Italy.

Word comes from Europe that the gag rule is to be enforced, and the public will know of the proceedings at the peace table only after a decision has been reached and definitely disposed of. During the progress of the war we were told that the Peace Conference that would lay the foundation for a peace that would for all time end war would be the first at which the people of all nations would have an opportunity to make their will known and felt; that all of the proceedings would be open and above board, and that the day of secret diplomacy was at an end. President Wilson was the strongest advocate of such a doctrine, but we can find nowhere in the reports that are permitted to leak over the wires from France that he is today demanding, on behalf of the American people, that the proceedings of the Peace Conference shall be open to the world and that the newspaper men from the United States shall be permitted to sit in and tell what takes place at the proceedings where the interests of the entire world are at stake.

The only uncompromising friends of the people are the American newspaper men. The British representatives of the press were quieted with the offer to have one of their number handle the proceedings for them, but the Americans, manifesting the same spirit which turned the tide and won the war of liberty for the world, refuse anything but unconditional surrender to the will of the people.

The silence of the President and the American representatives is the greatest surprise so far growing out of the proceedings, and it must eventually lead to the conclusion that this silence is due to a desire on their part to keep from the American people the sorry spectacle they make at the table, where they must acquiesce to the dictation of the nations that were defeated were it not for the men, money and munitions of the American nation.

It is the duty of the President to stand firmly for "pitiless publicity," that the people of the world shall know in advance that their rights are not being bartered. If this program of secrecy is followed, it will be the final act necessary to convince the world what it has long suspected—that the "fight for democracy" was a humbug, and was a slogan used only to blind them to the fact that it was really only a battle for spoils.

HENRY AGAIN AT IT

The irrepressible Francis J. Heney has again found his voice after the repudiating drubbing he got at the hands of his fellow citizens in California at the last primaries, where he was so overwhelmingly beaten for the democratic nomination for governor. The average person (under the same humiliating circumstances) would "silently fold his tent" and hide away in the hills in the hopes that he would be forgotten, but not so with Heney. We find him appearing before the senate agricultural committee raising his "voice of righteousness" against everyone and everything connected with the packing industry, hurling forth his threadbare cry of "trust," and besmirching the good name and reputation of some of the leading members of both houses, because they have had the temerity to question the accuracy of some of the statements of the gentleman from California.

According to Mr. Heney, he is the Moses that is to lead the country away from the bondage of the meat trust, and prevent the pollution of the halls of congress, the press, and many other public and semi-public sources by the dirty dollars of the "packing trust." Mr. Heney seems to forget that the people throat the nation have taken his measure, just as the people of the Pacific Coast have measured him and found him wanting.

The people of the United States are beginning to realize that the cry against corporations and railroads was raised by a bunch of cheap, tin-horn politicians, who were quick to see that it "took" with the voters, was not an honest movement for the correction of many evils that were prevalent a few years ago. Heney was one of these, but he is not smart enough now to see that the people have tired of this class of office-seekers. One of the strongest proofs of the insincerity of Heney's position is the published reports of the earnings of the leading packing companies. These show that some of his statements are untrue. It would indeed be a relief if he walked the plank leading to obscurity.

Elected Governor of Kansas While Abroad

GOV-ELECT HENRY J. ALLISON OF KANSAS

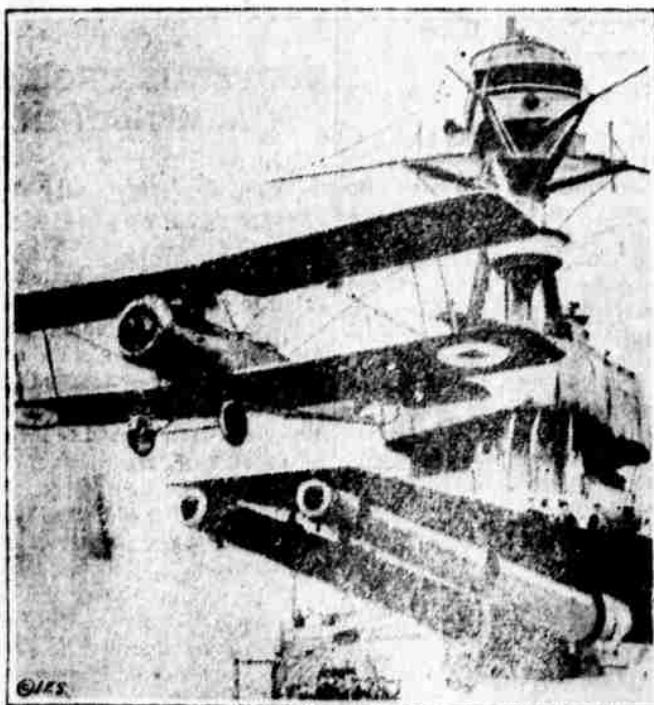

Henry J. Allison, editor of the Wichita (Kansas) Beacon, has just returned to this country after spending eighteen months on the American front as a Y. M. C. A. secretary to take up his duties as governor of Kansas. He was so busy with his "Y" duties that he did not return for the campaign, and has the distinction of being the only absentee candidate ever elected in this country.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty

Concerted Move For National Highways On

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 20.—A national organization will be formed here tomorrow by representatives of forty-one big trunk line road associations for the purpose of seeking federal aid for established national highways.

It is hoped that out of the convention will grow a union sufficiently strong to impress congress with the need of official recognition of the highways represented and of extension of federal aid to fully develop them.

The convention was decided upon recently at a joint convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials and the Highways Industries Association at Chicago. Representatives of thirteen transcontinental and interstate highway associations attended this conference.

It is expected that a definite system of roads covering the entire country, for which federal backing is desired, will be outlined at tomorrow's convention.

At the Chicago conference H. O. Cooley of Minneapolis was appointed temporary chairman and Frank A. Davis, Kansas City, temporary secretary.

Mr. Davis says that the road associations interested in the convention represents between 35,000 and 40,000 miles of established highways.

By combining their efforts instead of continuing as individual organizations, it is believed that rapid progress in road building will be possible, Mr. Davis said.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache, no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate thru every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.
