

at the MOVIE THEATRES

An interesting fact about the photo-drama, "An Alien Enemy," in which Miss Louise Glaum makes her debut as star in Paralta Plays, and which will be at the Liberty theatre today, is that the story opens in Berlin, Germany, but later the locale, featuring practically the same characters, is moved to the United States, and at the end of the picture, thru the development of the plot, the scenes are set in France, still with the same people enacting the principal roles.

The atmosphere of all the scenes and the local color in the production are exquisite and give an air of realism that makes the picture effective and impressive. Miss Glaum appears to advantage in the role of "Nancy Von Igel," an American-born but German-bred girl, who is sent to America as a member of the Central Powers' Intelligence Department. The picture was written especially for Miss Glaum by the Paralta staff author, Monte M. Katterjohn, and was staged under the direction of Wallace Wersley.

William Farnum's name has become associated with film plays of power and great dramatic intensity. Therefore moving picture patrons will look forward with keen anticipation to his latest picture, "Riders of the Purple Sage," which will be shown at the Liberty theatre for two days beginning Sunday afternoon.

Adapted from Zane Grey's famous novel of the same name "Riders of the Purple Sage" tells a story that breathes all the ruggedness, vitality and vastness of the great West in the early pioneer days, and affords Mr. Farnum an exceptional opportunity to portray those sterling qualities of manhood which have made him prominent among stars of the screen.

Running thru the picture is an absorbing love story that tells of the great love of a strong man for a good woman.

"The Song of Songs," the Astor picture starring Elsie Ferguson, and now being exhibited at the Star Theatre, presents an unusual story. Just as you are heaving a sigh of relief at the triumph of Lily Kardon—the role played by Miss Ferguson—in baffling the human wolves who beset the path of the girl who begins as a salesgirl and succeeds in winning as a husband an ex-senator who is a multimillionaire, "The woman accused" takes a hand and cunningly contrives to place the young girl in a compromising position and the jealous and elderly husband casts her off. Then follows a series of sensational incidents in which the beautiful Miss Ferguson displays her talents as an emotional actress.

The appearance of Mabel Normand as star of the new Goldwyn patriotic-comedy-drama, "Joan of Plattsburg," by Porter Emerson Browne, constitutes an event of more than usual interest in the world of the silent drama.

In each of her previous Goldwyn successes the star has displayed an entirely different phase of "the new Mabel Normand," at the same time retaining all her old fascination and charm. As Joan, the little orphan in "Joan of Plattsburg," she is given opportunity to demonstrate her remarkable acting ability. Ranging all the way from boydenish comedy to inspired patriotism and beautiful self-sacrifice, the play affords Miss Normand what is unquestionably the most interesting and worthwhile opportunity of her singularly successful career. "Joan of Plattsburg" comes to the Star Theatre beginning Sunday.

Without Pomp or Ceremony Body of Theodore Roosevelt Is Taken From Sagamore Hill for Last Rites at the Village Church

Without pomp or ceremony, the body of Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States for seven years, was taken from Sagamore Hill, his Long Island home at Oyster Bay, to the Little Protestant Episcopal church in the village. This photograph shows the hearse and the dozen or more automobiles in which only he family and intimate friends of the ex-president followed for the reading of the simple rites by the village pastor. It was the wish of this virile American—leader of men, writer and warrior—that he be laid away quietly in the beautiful plot he had selected. The procession was escorted by a guard of honor from the New York City police department, of which Mr. Roosevelt years ago was commissioner.

SERBIANS AND ITALIANS ARE NOW CLASHING

GENEVA, Switzerland. (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Losses sustained by Serbia during the war are estimated by Milos Savic, member of the Central Committee for Serbian Reconstruction here, to aggregate 10,000,000,000 francs. This is exclusive of the war expenses incurred by Serbia and of the war loans which Serbia received from the Allies.

M. Savic asserts that the present value of the Serbian property would be double what it was at the time of its destruction or 20,000,000,000 francs. "Serbia and Montenegro," declares M. Savic, "have suffered greater losses in lives, relatively speaking, than any of the other Allies. Serbia alone lost about 320,000 men up to the arrival in Confin in 1916. One-half of her tax-paying citizens and one-third of her population perished from sickness, epidemic diseases and the unprecedented savagery of the enemy at the time of the invasion of 1914 and during the three years of domination of the Bulgars and Austro-Magars."

"Our enemies sought not only to destroy Serbia economically but to exterminate her people, so as to rid themselves once and for all of the barrier which blocks Germany's way from Berlin to Bagdad."

"The restoration of Serbia will require a certain amount of time. The enemy must return everything he plundered from the Serbian museums, libraries, Universities, churches and schools and whatever has been destroyed must be replaced. Germans, Austro-Magars and Bulgars must return the livestock which they drove away and pay for the timber, vineyards and orchards which they cut down and ruined. Agricultural implements and industrial machinery must be replaced in kind. The Allies must supply us with food as quickly as possible, likewise with textiles, and medical stores, all of which are completely lacking in Serbia. Devastated towns and villages must be rebuilt. Banks, loan societies and savings banks must be supplied with money so that economic enterprise may be revived."

Estimating the damages inflicted upon Serbia, M. Savic, who was former Serbian minister of Public Works, places the value of one year's harvest in Serbia at 1,600,000,000 francs and adds that the enemy seized three harvests. The invaders destroyed 130,000 horses, 6,000,000 sheep and goats, 2,000,000 pigs, 1,300,000 cattle and more than 8,000,000 poultry.

Manufactured goods to the value of 750,000,000 francs were carried away or destroyed, he says. Damages to private property such as furniture, machinery, etc., he estimates at 400,000,000 francs. The enemy carried off from Serbia silver currency amounting to 30,000,000 francs and jewelry of about the same value. Reparations, also, cost subscription to enemy war loans and damages sustained by private financial concerns re-estimated at 800,000,000 francs. There are now about 100,000 disabled persons to be cared for and more than 150,000 orphans to be fed, clothed and educated. "Pensions," says Mr. Savic, "must be provided for the very large number of widows and orphans. Our Allies must compel the enemy to repair roads, bridges, tunnels, railroads and to return the shipping and rolling stock which was removed."

OREGON PLANS IRRIGATION OF GIANT AREAS

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 25.—Plans for a state wide irrigation program in Oregon are well under way, lands in this state susceptible to irrigation total 3,500,000 acres, with measured water facilities for the irrigation of at least four million acres. Irrigation was begun in Oregon many years ago but due to lack of government aid, so land owners claim, only about one million acres has been brought under irrigation.

The great projects are located in eastern and central Oregon, as far south as the California line. In the Willamette Valley, one of the most productive on the Pacific coast, there are about two million acres which may be irrigated for intensive farming purposes, surveys have shown.

What irrigation has done in the state has been conducted under the Reclamation Act, the Carey Act and by private interests. Several of the latter have received government aid. Much attention has been paid by private interests to reclamation by irrigation, at the cost of many millions of dollars. Outside the Willamette Valley reclamation by drainage has been almost a negligible quantity thus far. There are several million acres of swamp and low lands susceptible to such development, experts have declared.

The total water supply from the streams of eastern and central Oregon capable of utilization for irrigation is 6,677,000 acre-feet, sufficient to bring under product three million acres of rich desert land. The total acre-feet of water available for irrigation in western Oregon Oregon is 2,360,000 enough for one million acres.

Oregon's present population is estimated at one million. If all the land in the state capable of irrigation were brought into production, it would support a population of twenty-five million, according to irrigation experts.

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning laside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have hollow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Ad.
