One of the measures before the legislature that should be killed is that proposing that all state work shall be done only by state employees and these shall be under civil service. The people are beginning to wake up to the fact that civil service is the greatest curse this nation has. It has resulted in the rule of government by bureaucrats. Once you get one of these barnacles fastened onto the government payroll nothing short of death can remove him, with the result that the rules established by them are never changed and they openly defy legislatures, congress and courts. Oregon has all of the civil service it wants. Instead of creating a state force of workers, the rule should be that every bit of work done for the state would be by contract. That would soon cut down the operating expense of the state government.

The voters of this state want to be very careful in accepting without the closest investigation the consolidation bills now before the legislature and which are sure to go to the people either on a referendum or the initiative. The Herald has already pointed out one snake in this proposed program of "reform." That is the move to take away from the Board of Equalization the power to fix assessments and place it in the hands of a state commission. This is something that should be opposed with all the strength of the people. Already we have too much centralization of power in the matter of fixing assessments. The power to fix the assessments for railroads and public utilities should never have been delegated absolutely to a state commission and the law should be amended to give the Boards of Equalization some control over what the assessment shall be. It will be noticed that there is a move thruout the whole United States from Washington down to centralize authority, for it has been discovered by certain powerful interests that the further it is removed from the people the easier it will be to get what they desire, with less chance of fixing the responsibility and securing redress. This proposed change in the state law must never go into effect.

HOW ABOUT WOOL?

The Department of Commerce has just issued a bulletin on "Protection of Fur Bearing Animals in Alaska." Good, as far as it goes.

The American sheep owner is paying fabulous prices for feed and department of Agriculture has just announced higher fees for grazing privileges on forest reserves.

Congress has repealed the import duty on wool. What is it now going to do for protection of wool bearing animals in U. S.? Must the butcher get them?

THANKS!

The following communication greeted us this morning and we must confess that it started us off for the week with that "grand and glorious feeling" so essential to lightening the burdens of life's weary pilgrimage.

Editor Herald—Being one of those who believe in giving praise when praise is due, and that it is a poor custom which permits human beings to heap flowers on a man's grave for the good deeds he has done, after he's dead and gone, I take this method of congratulating you upon the aggressive course your paper is pursuing in all progressive movements which have for their object the future welfare of Klamath Falls and Klamath County.

This sort of a policy is certainly a welcome visitor—and that it will bring very gratifying results if continued, is a forgone conclusion.

The old saying that "If you have the PUSH, you don't need the PULL," contains more truth than poetry, and

I am quite sure that I voice the sentiment of a large number of others in this County, when I say that you have entered upon a work that will be applauded by one and all who really want to see Klamath County come into her own. The other class of mudslingers and progress obstructors don't matter, and deserve no consideration whatever.—Yours for success in your undertaking. A Reader.

PEACE TERMS OFFERED GERMANS THIS MONTH

TRAFFIC MANAGER IS OUT WITH FACTS

RECORD HAD BEEN GOING DOWN. HILL FOR SEVERAL YEARS—IN FINE SHAPE AFTER TAKING TANLAC

"For five years now I have been looking for something that would relieve my troubles and have found it at last in Tanlac," said George L. Beodord of 3721 Central Ave, Kansas City, Mo., the other day. Mr. Beodord is well-known in business circles and holds the responsible position of traffic manager with the Gustin Bacon Manufacturing Company. "For the past few years," he continued, "I have suffered constantly from stomach and liver trouble, and although I tried different kinds of treatments and diets I kept getting worse all the time. My liver was so sluggish that it wouldn't act at all without my taking some kind of strong purgative. I had a sallow, unhealthy look and would get up in the morning feeling so dull and languid that I didn't have a bit of life about me. My food almost always gave me indigestion, and I would have a miserable feeling in the pit of my stomach as though what I had eaten had formed a heavy lump there. I was badly constipated, and if I ate any lunch at noon, I would always have a men headache right afterwards, and felt so drowsy and out of sorts that I could hardly do my work. I had always taken good care of myself and couldn't understand what was the cause of my trouble.

"Some three weeks ago I read a notice in the papers about Tanlac and decided I would investigate it. Well, I have only taken three bottles so far and I am actually feeling better today than I have for the past five years. My appetite is so much better that I enjoy all I eat and I can get anything I want without having the least touch of indigestion afterwards. All that mean sluggish feeling is gone. I get up in the mornings feeling fine and can work now without suffering from those awful headaches. My skin has cleared up, my liver is working right and that constipation has been removed. I have never taken a medicine that did me so much good as Tanlac and am glad to recommend it to everybody."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Lorella by the James Merc. Co.—Adv.

LADIES DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

USE GRANDMA'S SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR RECIPE AND NOBODY WILL KNOW

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.
