NEW BRITISH AIRSHIPS MAY ROUND GLOBE

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Naval authorities announce that the "rigid airships" of the super-Zeppelin type now under construction in Great Britain will be at least twice as good as anything Britain now possesses and "probably superior to any other airships in the world."
Although no details of these new airships have been made public the naval authorities say the German modern super-Zeppelin have a capacity of approximately 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas, and possess a range of action from 4,000 to 8,000 miles with a maximum full speed of about 75 miles an hour and the ability to rise to a height of about 20,000 feet.

It is claimed that the rigid airships now in use or about to be constructed could, in settled weather, cross the Atlantic and return without descending. It is also asserted that a rigid airship of 10,000,000 cubic feet capacity could carry a commercial load of about 150 tons over such a distance as the trans-Atlantic passage. Naval authorities are quoted here as saying, that the building of these huge airships is a "practicable proposition."

CONSERVATION OF WAR CUTS DOWN GARBAGE

GREAT FALLS, Mont. Feb. 6.—Not only has the war with its attendant high prices of food commodities had the effect of cutting down the amount of garbage in this city, but because of its value as stock feed and for other purposes, relatively a small amount of it is permitted to go to waste.
There has been a decided decrease in the amount of garbage handled by the city, according to William Shea, sanitary commissioner, but what is available is in such great demand with stock feeders that its collection is carried on in much more intensified fashion than before. The result has been, Mr. Shea said, that there is no waste of food value in this city at present.
The local packing plant makes careful collection of fat trimmings from butcher shops of the city, and these are rendered into lard, or they are tried out by the butchers themselves. This latter also is due to advancing prices, and it is estimated that 1,500 pounds of lard monthly are saved by the butchers from this source. It is estimated by Mr. Shea that increased frugality by hotels and restaurants in the use of fats because of the war scarcity will account for a saving of some 600 additional monthly.
Matter impossible to be utilized for other purposes is worked up into fertilizer by the packing plant here, which produces some 12,000 pounds of fertilizer monthly.

BRITISH IMPORT EMBARGO SCORED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 5.—The Democrats and Republicans in the Senate have joined in criticizing the British embargo on imports. Several have attached the Carnegie peace foundation activities abroad and questioned its loyalty. Some have declared it should be dissolved.
