Unique Show at the Liberty

In "Zongar," the attraction at the Liberty tonight, movie fans will have an opportunity to see a real physical culture play. Of course there is a bit of a love story, otherwise it would not be interesting, but the real point of the play is to bring attention to the degree of physical perfection "Zongar" reaches due to proper exercise and care of his bodily health. Among the thrilling moments in this remarkable film is "Zongar's" rescue of Helen from a runaway automobile, using an aeroplane to overtake the car.

WATER USERS' OFFICIAL GIVES HIS ARGUMENT

Following is the argument presented to the landowners by G. W. Offield, signing himself as president of the Klamath Irrigation District, in opposition to the joining of the district in the suit to test the legality of the contract between the reclamation service and the California-Oregon Power company, under the terms of which the power of Link River is practically turned over to the company and taken away, without compensation, from the land owners of the Klamath project:

At a Directors' meeting of the Klamath Irrigation District, held February 8, 1919 the question on enclosed ballot was raised: Mr. Bradbury favoring, and I being opposed to it. We decided to submit the question to the voters of the District, with such explanations as would make clear our different opinions on the subject. I am opposed to the question for the following reasons:

First: This matter has been thoroughly thrashed out in all of the steps leading up to the organization of the Klamath Irrigation District, and the ratification of the contract between the District and the Government. It has been passed upon by able counsel, both of the Government and of the Klamath Irrigation District. The proposition was fully presented to the stockholders by Mr. A. E. Elder in the Klamath Record of date May 24th, 1918, and a copy of this paper was mailed to each voter, together with a copy of the proposed contract between the Government and the District immediately preceding the election at which the said contract was almost unanimously adopted. I still believe that the voters acted according to their best judgement in the matter with regard to power rights.

Second: Mr. Bradbury represented the water users when the contract between the Secretary of the Interior and the California-Oregon Power Company was made. I cannot find in his report any objection to the features of the contract to which he is now opposed, namely the construction of a dam at the head of Link River, I further believe that anyone who, having the opportunity, does not object at the proper time, should forever remain silent.

Third: All that I can find guaranteed to the land owners by the Reclamation Law is the right to have a certain amount of water delivered to his land for irrigation purposes in return for a certain amount of money. The Irrigation District was organized for no other purpose than to irrigate and drain the lands within its boundaries, and now to try and involve it in a lawsuit over a matter entirely outside the scope of its operations is, to say the least, a very childish proceeding.

Fourth: In my opinion the most urgent and vital thing now before the Irrigation District is to procure the release of the mortgages he'd by the Government against the lands of the Water Users. There is a plan already worked out by which we hope to accomplish this at an early date if we do not stop and waste our time and energy, and spoil our chances of success by mixing in a lawsuit which is not our affair, and in which the Government will be one of the defendants.

If there is any water power which belongs to the Klamath Project it is of vital interest to the units which irrigate by pumping and not by gravity. We, of the Irrigation District, have our water supply by gravity flow, which, as I have said before is all that the Reclamation Law ever promised us. The contract between the Government and the Irrigation District does not contain any charges for power, and we are not bound to pay for anything outside of the contract. If anyone should fight over power, it is the people who will use it and will have to pay for it, and these people are not included in the Irrigation District. If the proposed dam at the head of Link River is a bad thing, let those who are directly interested do the fighting. The Herald and a few chronic agitators in and around Klamath Falls have constituted themselves a new Moses to lead us out of the wilderness, but they got off wrong and headed us straight back into the jungle of hot air and lawsuits in which we have been lost for the last ten years.

Vote "NO" on this proposition and let the howlers know that you are capable of running your own affairs.

If you vote "YES", you, by this act, repudiate your contract with the Government. If you repudiate your contract with the Government, you will postpone indefinitely the release, by the Government, of the liens now held on your lands. Further, if you repudiate your contract it may mean the opening of the whole question of District organization. If this should result it would mean that you would lose the heavy expense that has been incurred by the organization of the District. It would mean that the Government would still control and conduct the operation and maintenance of the District as the Government will only turn the operation and maintenance over to a District organization. It would mean further that you would still continue to pay 8 and 10% on your borrowed money instead of borrowing money from the Government at 6% and the principal paid as interest in 25 years. G. W. OFFIELD, President Klamath Irrigation District.

SPECIAL MEETINGS FOR NEXT SUNDAY

We'll sell your old gold for you.

New stock of Ivory, Cut Glass and China at prices. We reset your diamond while you wait. You ort to wear an amethyst if yah was born in February.

Say, have yah seen the souvenirs that General Lloyd Low, ex-deputy sheriff and Beau Brummell of Klamath County, sent to his maw. They are in my window. Lloyd, with two other Americans, captured twenty-six Huns the day these 75's were secured. They rushed a machine gun pit, and amid wild yells and at the point of the bayonet took this bunch of cheese.

"Up with your cattle scratchers!" yells the general and out they flies and back to the Yankee lines among his laffin comrades. Them's the happy days. His folks have occasion to be justly proud of so fearless a cuss as him.

We need your aid. McHattan, 605 Main street. Wrong side, between Sixth and Seventh streets.
