Something of the power of the United States Secret Service is revealed in "The Caillaux Case," the remarkable picture play which ends its two days engagement at the Liberty Theatre this evening.

For years, Joseph Caillaux, former Premier of France, was able to escape justice for his alleged criminal acts in public office. His beautiful wife, who was even acquitted of murder, it was charged, through his political influence. But when Uncle Sam flashed across the ocean evidence sending to a traitor's death Bolo Pasha, it also sent to a prison cell Joseph Caillaux. 1t

NEW FACTS IN DAM CONFLICT BROUGHT OUT

fully intended to do this. On January 31st I mailed drafts of the contract to Mr. Henny. Mr. Camp and the district counsel, with invitation to criticize. I intended for Mr. Camp to take this matter up with the association, but our file shows that I neglected to so instruct him, and under the circumstances he could not have been expected to do so without authority. This was an oversight on my part, for which I apologize. There is no method now of remedying it, and I only wish to assure you that I had no idea of ignoring you in the premises, as I knew you to be familiar with the circumstances there, and have formed a very high opinion of your judgment from the reports of Mr. Henny.

"I trust there is nothing in the contract objectionable to you, as it would be a matter of very serious regret if there were, and I assure you that the omission in the letter of January 31st to Mr. Camp was an oversight.

"Yours truly, "A. P. DAVIS,
Director and Chief Engineer."

The following letter, written by the late Albert E. Elder very ably and freely expresses his opinion as to rights of the Klamath Water Users Association in the contract between the government and the power company. Mr. Elder sent a copy of this letter to each of the members of the board of directors of the association: C. A. Bunting, president; Judge J. B. Griffith, vice president; F. L. Pope, A. L. Marshall and myself, directors:

"To the Board of Directors, Klamath Falls, Oregon:
"Gentlemen—Saturday, April 7th, 1910, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, is the next regular meeting of the board of directors of the Klamath Water Users Association.

"I believe I may safely say that the business coming before the board at that meeting is of sufficient importance to require the presence of each one of the directors, to act on the question of the lease of the Keno canal and the surrender by the United States of the control of the Upper Lake, Klamath and Link river waters to the California-Oregon Power company by the contract recently entered into, is a matter that to a large extent ties the Water Users, and may mean the saddling of a great expense upon the completed portion of the project. "The portion of Klamath project finally developed must pay the total cost expended here by the government, and if the Water Users permit the lands that may and should by rights come into the association and ultimately help pay the total cost of the project, to be permanently cut out of all future development by an arbitrary position assumed by the government as evidenced by the contract recently entered into with the said power company by the Secretary of the Interior, they should at least know at this time their legal status, and either protect their rights or in the words of a very important ceremony, henceforth, forever, hold their peace.

Counsel has been secured, and their opinion is now in the office, and now is the time to act and take whatever steps seem adequate to protect the rights of the association.

"The reclamation service has at one time charged a portion of the Keno canal to the lower uplands, and now they claim that it is not charged to the first and second units.

"What assurance have we that after a time, when all the water supply of the Upper Klamath Lake has been given to a monopoly, we shall not again be charged with it?

"If the Secretary of Interior can at this time repudiate our contract with the department and enter into a contract, not only void, but manifestly repugnant to the policy of the government, as recently announced in recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, what may the Water Users expect in the future?" "As we said before, it is the belief of counsel that under our contract with the Interior Department we must pay the total cost, and now they would take from us the necessary asset, the water supply, by which the total costs were to be paid.

"It must be remembered that the government, under the reclamation law, had no right or authority whatever, other than to irrigate and reclaim lands.

"The development of power is incident thereto, but the contract in question is nothing if not attempt to develop power. Irrigation is a secondary matter. It is evident that the chief concern of the power company is to control this water, that it may be carried into California to develop power, leaving the Water Users, as now, completely at the mercy of the power company for fifty years, and the future development, save to a limited extent, unconsidered.

See that you are present April 7, 1910, and remember that date, or shortly thereafter, as by May 1st they will make the first move to forestall any action by the Water Users.

"Respectfully,
"ALBERT E. ELDER, Secretary,
"Klamath Falls, Oregon, March 29th, 1910."

The soundness and reasonableness of Mr. Elder's opinion, as expressed in his letter, is borne out by the opinion rendered on the question involved by Attorney Chas. F. Stone, and concurred in by the late Senator C. W. Fulton, who were later retained, together with Mr. Elder, to defend the interests of the association.

The Water Users of the association and district undoubtedly had, and have, interests in the power features, reservoirs and canals of the project, or else the government would not have required the waiver of the rights in these features by the resolution of July 2, 1910, which your directors adopted in behalf of the Water Users Association and Irrigation District.

Director Irrigation District.
