A CRYING NECESSITY.

One of the crying needs for the development of Klamath county is better railroad service. For ten years or more the people have been given a service by the Southern Pacific company that has been a disgrace to the state. No matter how vigorous the protest, it has been met with indifference and insolence, and followed with worse service than before, until it has reached the point where the people ride into the city on a train with a schedule little faster than freights and with coaches poorly lighted, poorly ventilated and poorly heated.

Starting at Weed with the robbery of a cent a mile, this is continued by poor service. Then if travelers ship in anything by freight, the thieving tactics are capped by charges that amount to practical confiscation. This policy has been practiced now for ten years, and the people have been growing more and more rebellious until they have reached the uprising point, and the Southern Pacific will now find that instead of having the good will and friendship of the shipping and travelling public, it has the supreme hatred of nearly every resident of the county. And it deserves it. Klamath Falls is going after the Southern Pacific with hammer and tongs. It is going to force it to let loose its destroying grip of high freights, high passenger fares and poor service and it is going to force it to reduce the former on a level with other cities and improve the latter to a degree commensurate with the business it is receiving.

LIENS RELEASED.

The notification of the Klamath Irrigation District that the government has signed a release of the liens upon the lands of the Klamath Project embraced within the boundaries of the Irrigation District, will be good news to the stockholders for two reasons. It removes the only excuse Mr. Offield and Mr. Marshall had to offer for refusing to sanction the joining of the District in the suit to test the legality of the Power company's contract with the government, whereby it was permitted to construct a dam across Link River. It also removes the last obstacle in the way of the farmers taking advantage of the Farm Loan under government regulations. When the question of releasing the liens was before the board of directors at its last meeting, Mr. Offield stated that if the district would join with the water users in the lawsuit, it would prevent the consummation of the contract between the District and the government but if the directors were let alone it would be possible to secure this release within three months. He was mistaken in both surmises, and we believe honestly so. It was just a case of mistaken judgment and we believe the same is true with his stand on the dam question. If Mr. Offield will take off his coat and sail into this question with a determination to save to the project that which he seems so willing to see taken away from it, he will meet with the same success as has been met with in the matter of the liens. He will see the people win.

AUTO MAKING BELOW NORMAL THRU AMERICA

PORTLAND, March 1.—Production figures by the leading car makers of Michigan and Ohio show that approximately 63,246 passenger cars were made during January, even though most of them were below normal production and some were not in production at all. The figures are fairly accurate and show that the delay attendant on reconstruction work very likely will curtail the 1919 output 33 1-3 per cent.

Had normal conditions prevailed, the number of cars made in this district in 1919 would have exceeded the 3,000,000 mark and may even have totaled 3,500,000 manufacturers contend. Delay in contract settlement and in shifting the big plants from a war to a peace-time basis, will cut the estimated production to approximately 2,000,000 machines, unless the trade demands necessitate the adoption of overtime schedules by the larger plants.

Food production is 1300 cars a day, more than half below normal. This company will be hitting the 3,000 mark by the middle of March. The daily production total is 2635.

HOW RHEUMATISM BEGINS

The excruciating agonies of rheumatism are usually the result of failure of the kidneys to expel poisons from the system. If the irritation of these uric acid crystals is allowed to continue, incurable bladder or kidney disease may result. Attend to it at once. Don't resort to temporary relief. The sick kidneys must be restored to health by the use of some sterling remedy which will prevent a return of the disease. Get some GOLD MEDAL Hamamelis Oil Capsules immediately. They have brought back the joys of life to countless thousands of sufferers from rheumatism, lame back, sciatica, gall stones, gravel and other affections of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and allied organs. They will attack the poisons at once, clear out the kidneys and urinary tract and the soothing healing oils and herbs will restore the inflamed tissues and organs to normal health. All others are imitations. Ask for GOLD MEDAL and be sure the name GOLD MEDAL is on the box. Three boxes, at all good druggists.
