GET READY

On January 1st The Herald mapped out a plan for the development of this county. Already some of the results of that campaign are manifest. But the big part of that program is just on the threshold, and we want to say to the people of this county, particularly the business men of the city, that the time is at hand when we must take off our coats and get busy. These lines are only the forewarning of what is coming. The Herald has been trying to do all of the preliminary work without calling on you until such time as the outlined plans began to assume concrete form. Therefore, from now on, this paper will feel free to call upon you individually, or collectively, through the Business Men's Association, the Good Roads Association or the Chamber of Commerce. We will do this because we know you are as deeply interested in the development of Klamath County as the Herald is.

Beginning this week, there will be something doing every week of the year. It will mean more to Klamath County than any program of development that has ever been mapped out or undertaken. It will mean more to you individually. It will bring into the county more money this year than has been brought in in any similar period in its history. It will bring about such development and improvement as will rob winter of its terrors and business stagnation. It will make this city a business center as active in winter as in the summer. Is such a program not worth working for? We think it is, and we are asking you to hold yourself in readiness to push and pull that it may be carried over all obstacles. This program will cost you nothing but individual effort, and we think that no one will refuse to give that.

For the past two months the Herald has been devoting hours of the day and night to bring matters to the point now reached. It has cost it time, money and unremitting energy, and we feel gratified when we view the gain that has been made. If we could get every business man and property owner to put in half the work, half the effort, one-tenth of the time and not a cent of money—well, there would be nothing to it. We would have a city here in five years that would be a Miracle Metropolis. There have been times when we were discouraged and disgusted with the support given our efforts by some who will be directly benefited, but we feel that the neglect has been of the head, and not of the heart, thoughtlessness, and not deliberate selfishness, and because we may have set too fast a pace on such short notice. But we want these to wake up; to take their places in line with their fellow citizens; to do their share and not be slackers.

Some surprise has been manifested over the fact that Congressman Sinnott voted for Gillett for speaker of house of representatives. The amazing thing about it is that anyone should think Sinnott would do otherwise. There is one man in Washington who has his ear to the ground and who is ever thinking of the welfare of his constituents. That man is Sinnott. He was keen enough to see that Gillett had a sure thing. No matter what the opponents of Mr. Mann may say about him, he would have made a speaker that the members of the house would have good reason to feel proud of, but he did not have the votes, and Sinnott evidently knew it. Then why the surprise, if he was smart enough to see who was to be the victor? He is in line for the chairmanship of the public lands committee, the most important committee in the house, so far as the West is concerned. Oregon is lucky to have a man like Sinnott, for he is going to once more place it back where it was a few short years ago—in the front ranks of the states of the Union.

CALIFORNIA WANTS US.

The San Francisco Chronicle is anxious to welcome Klamath into the family of California Counties. It would be glad to count among the resources of that state the "enterprising people of Klamath Falls" and "Crater Lake to our scenery." Well, you can have both unless Oregon wakes up and gives us some attention. We have outgrown the thirty-year old swaddling dress the Willamette Valley made for us, and unless it furnishes us with a new suit, we will go out and get one, no matter how. The Chronicle says:

"Representatives of Klamath county in Oregon have proposed to the Legislature of that State that it shall be permitted to secede and apply for admission into the State of California. There is no intimation of how the request is received, but we suspect that the erring sister will not be allowed to go in peace or at all. If, however, we are mistaken, we can assure our friends at the north that we in California will give them a hearty welcome. We should be delighted to add the enterprising people of Klamath Falls to our population and Crater Lake to our scenery."

"The proposed secession would take from Oregon an area of about 125 miles square and grievously impair the appearance of that great State on the map. We suspect that for esthetic reasons, if no other, the Oregon Legislature will object to the secession. The reason assigned for the proposed trade is that Klamath county is geographically and economically associated with California, and that it is convenient to have political relations conform to natural relations. Communication with California is easy and cheap. Communication with the financial and commercial centers of Oregon is difficult and costly."

"Few things are more difficult than to divide a state. The losing state must consent to the loss. The assent of the state which is to gain can usually be relied on, and then congress must consent."

"It is not probable that the Klamath County people expect permission to go. What they probably do hope for is one or two well-constructed automobile highways across the Cascades to a connection with the railroad system of Central Oregon."

The Herald is in receipt of confidential information that would set this city by the ears if it told you about it. You will hear it at the proper time, but we will say this much: It means a big city here. It means more than the Strahorn railroad, and that is saying a good deal, for we believe that the Strahorn line is one of the best things this city has ever done. The $300,000 in bonus voted for this line will be a mere trifle.

Don't look around and ask: "Is there anything I can do?" Take off your coat and say: "What can I do? I'm ready!" Let us make use of the old saying in a little different form: "Now is the time for every good man to take off his coat and help his county."

WIDOW OF FORMER SECRETARY STATE INDORSES TANLAC

MRS. PATRIE GAINS TWENTY POUNDS AND HEALTH IS RESTORED.

A great many people, especially ladies of culture and refinement feel a great reluctance in publicly endorsing a proprietary medicine although they have derived untold benefit from its use, as publicity is more or less distasteful to them.

To a great extent this is the case of Mrs. D. E. Patrie who lives at the Portland Hotel, Portland, Oregon. However, to use her words, "she feels that she would be ungrateful and delinquent in her duty if she did not tell others of the wonderful benefit she has received from Tanlac."

While Mrs. Patrie has lived in Portland a number of years, her former home was in Idaho. Prior to his death, her husband was one of the most prominent men in Idaho, having been Sheriff of his county several years, and later being elected Clerk and Recorder of Bingham County. Afterwards he was elected Secretary of State, and at the same time served as chairman of the Central Committee of the state Republican party.

In speaking of her experience with Tanlac, Mrs. Patrie recently said, "I weight just fifteen pounds more now than I ever did in my life and have actually gained twenty pounds since I began taking Tanlac. My health failed about a year ago. My appetite left me almost entirely, and I didn't relish what little I did eat, and I just felt tired and listless all the time. I was extremely nervous and never slept well and would just lie in bed and long for day light to come. I finally decided to take a trip back to Idaho thinking that a change might do me some good, but I didn't improve at all."

"In a very short time after I began taking Tanlac I could see that it was going to do me lots of good, and it is simply wonderful the way I improved. I have a splendid appetite now, and thoroly enjoy my meals without any bad after effects. My nerves seem to be in perfect condition and I am thankful to say that I get good, sound, refreshing sleep every night. It is wonderful how my weight and strength have increased, and I can truthfully say that I am as well and strong now as I ever was in my life. I never lose an opportunity to praise Tanlac, and when my friends remark about my wonderful improvement, it affords me great pleasure, to tell them that Tanlac is entirely responsible for it."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Lorell by the James Merc. Co.—Adv.
