

Keep Your Watch Clean

A watch in a dust-tight case needs cleaning chiefly because the oil dries up and becomes fine-gritty dust. That can't be helped. The thing to do is to have the watch clean your watch every 15 to 18 months. If you wait longer, you are apt to cause wear on the delicate parts. That will be expensive for you. Step in today and have your watch examined. All work is guaranteed for a year, and prices are fair and reasonable.

SERB PRIESTS MASSACRED BY BULGARIAN MEN

PIROT, Serbia.—Correspondence Associated Press.—Confirmatory evidence of the slaughter of Serbian priests by Bulgarians during the war, was given to a representative of the Associated Press today by the Rev. Milija Yontschitch, pastor of one of the churches here, who personally witnessed the massacre of twenty of his colleagues and one Serbian officer. All, he says, were shot, and many were burned alive.

Father Yontschitch escaped a similar fate only by feigning death after he had been shot. He exhibited to the Associated Press correspondent two bullet wounds in his left shoulder. Another priest, the Rev. Thos. Popovitch of Pirot, escaped by fleeing across the mountain road.

The murder of the priests took place November 25, 1915, in the village of Kremacena, about 35 miles east of Nish, according to the story of Father Yontschitch, which follows:

Father Yontschitch in company with twenty-two other Serbian priests was taken by Bulgarians from Pirot to Nish, where they were thrown into a cell and forced to live for five days without food or water. After his release he and his companions, who included Lieutenant Past Georgevitch of the Serbian army, were marched by their captors for thirteen hours to Bela Palanka, thirty miles east of Nish, an armed guard walking behind each.

About two hours walk from Bela Palanka the priests came to a halt and were ordered to turn off the road into a very small valley to the right. It was after midnight and half a moon gave the only illumination to the lonely mountain roads and valleys. The priests had not gone far when the guards shot them in their backs.

Father Yontschitch dragged himself in the darkness behind a large rock, whence he could see the whole scene of murder being enacted by the Bulgars. He saw his colleagues dragged, some dead, some half alive, to pyres which had been prepared for them, and their bodies thrown to the flames.

Many of the men, said Father Yontschitch, were still alive when the Bulgars saturated their bodies with gasoline and set them afire. Flames spread about them, and they pleaded piteously for mercy, but their pleas were met with sneers. After the flames had spent themselves, said Father Yontschitch, the charred bodies of twenty-one victims were thrown into two holes. Arms, legs and heads, he said, were left protruding, exposed to the ravages of dogs and wolves that invest the mountains in the neighborhood.

The Bulgars left the scene before daybreak. Father Yontschitch made his way on foot to the village of Pohor and eventually to Pirot, his home. From that time, twenty-one months he concealed himself from the Bulgars under the floor of the house. He lived almost like a rat, food being lowered to him through a hole in the floor. The Associated Press correspondent visited the place and saw the wretched conditions under which Yontschitch lived. When the priest emerged from his self-imposed confinement, his appearance had so changed that his friends failed to recognize him. He was later seized by the Bulgars and sent to a prison camp at Eski Djuma near the Rumanian frontier, where for three months his only food was a slice of bread and a few pieces of leek each day. When the war ceased, Father Yontschitch and 150 other Serbian priests were returned home.

To confirm the priest's story, the correspondent visited the spot where the victims of the massacre were buried. The place is obscured on all sides by mountains. Many bones, skulls, and parts of the priests' vestments being scattered about in confusion. The correspondent found near the bones a number of empty cartridges of Bulgarian manufacture. Little candles had been placed in the ground by local peasants, who came each day to say prayers over the graves after the Bulgarian evacuation.

An international investigating commission is expected soon to examine the scene.

PAY AND FILE INCOME TAX BEFORE MAR. 15

U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau Gives Warning That Severe Penalties Will Be Enforced.

WOMEN WITHIN LAW'S SCOPE; HOW THEY REPORT INCOME

The Income Tax drive comes to a close on Saturday night, March 15.

The payments and returns due on that date under the provisions of the new Revenue Law must be in the hands of local Internal Revenue Collectors before their offices close that night.

The Income Tax is being collected to meet the war expenses. Every person who shopped and toted his linn on Armistice Day is now called upon to contribute his share of the cost of winning the war.

The taxpayers and the dodgers will face severe fines and jail sentences. The Internal Revenue Bureau announces that its officers will check us all up to see that every person who comes within the scope of the Income Tax law did his share.

Where to Pay and File.

Residents of Oregon are required to make their returns and pay their taxes to Milton A. Miller, Collector of Internal Revenue, Portland, Ore., or to any of his deputy collectors who are now doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

Payments sent by mail should be attached to the returns and should be in the form of check, money order or draft. Cash payments by mail are sent at the taxpayer's risk of loss.

If you are unable to make your return personally because of illness, absence or incapacity an agent or legal representative may make your return.

If there are any doubtful points as to your items of income or allowable deductions you should get in touch at once with a Revenue officer or a banker for advice.

Women Pay Tax.

Women are subject to all the requirements of the Income Tax. Whether single or married, a woman's income from all sources must be considered.

If unmarried or if living apart from her husband she must make her return for 1918 if her net income was $1,000 or over.

If married and living with her husband her income must be considered with the husband's in determining the liability for a return. Their joint income, less the credits allowed by law, is subject to normal tax. The wife's net income is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Husband and wife file jointly, as a rule. If the husband does not include his wife's income in his return the wife must file a separate return.

Severe Penalties.

The new Revenue Law places severe penalties on a person who fails to make return on time, refuses to make return or renders a fraudulent return. For failure to make return and pay tax on time a fine of not more than $1,000 is named and 25 per cent of the tax due is added to the assessment. For refusing willfully to make return or for making a false or fraudulent return there is a fine of not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment of not exceeding one year, or both.

Farmers' Income Taxable.

Every farmer and ranchman who had a fair or a good year in 1918 must heed the Income Tax this year. He must consider all his income as taxable. He is entitled to deduct from his gross income all amounts expended in carrying on his farm. The cost of farm machinery, farm buildings and improvements cannot be deducted. The cost of live stock, either for resale or for breeding purposes, is also regarded as investment.

Overtime and Bonuses Taxed.

Salary and wage earners must consider as taxable every item received from employers and from other sources. Bonuses and overtime pay are to be reported as well as the regular payments.

Allowances for Losses.

Losses sustained in 1918 and not covered by insurance are deductible items if incurred in the taxpayer's business or trade, in any transaction undertaken for profit or arising from fire, storm, shipwreck or other casualty or from theft.

LIVE BABY IS FOUND IN BOX

SALEM, March 6.—When the janitor at the Salem public library entered the basement of the building last Friday he discovered a pasteboard box tightly wrapped in string and with a few holes punched in its top. Untying the string, he discovered inside the box an infant boy about 4 days old, who cried loudly when the box was opened. The infant was nude and had been packed in old dirty rags and left without sustenance. There is no clue as to its identity.

The building was locked about 5 o'clock Thursday night and it is believed the babe was left in the basement some time Thursday afternoon.
