COMMISSIONER BOOTH

Those who had the good fortune to be present at the meeting last evening, when the people from all parts of the county made their plea for good roads to Highway Commissioner Booth, can now understand why he is the head of the commission, why he has been asked to remain a member thereof by Governor Olcott, and why commercial and civic organizations throughout the state have urged him to reconsider his determination to resign, and continue to serve the people of Oregon. They know now, as the people from other sections of the state have learned before that Mr. Booth is big enough for the job, and we all know it is a mighty big job. Not a single person who heard him last night but who left the hall convinced that however Klamath may fare at the hands of the commission, it will be treated fairly and justly. And what more can we ask? Klamath has no desire to stand from other counties funds that may be economically and deservingly used by them, any more than we want to see any of the funds that rightfully belong to Klamath go elsewhere.

Many had expressed the fear that the effort to interest the commission in Klamath would be a useless task, and often have we heard the statement that after Portland and the Willamette Valley got through with the highway funds, it is little Klamath would get. But we had confidence in Mr. Booth, and through him in the rest of the commission, and last night we were fully justified in that confidence. We do not believe that we will ever again hear one word of doubt, one word of recrimination fired at Portland or the Willamette Valley. We do believe that the people of Klamath will feel that they are getting a square deal, getting their fair share of the highway funds, and that we will always have a warm welcome whenever we present our claims. And this is because we believe that Commissioner Booth will stand always for what he stated last night—even-handed justice to all of the counties of the state.

The cordial reception given to him last night was not the impulse of designing individuals. It was the tribute of his friends—friends who believed in him and who felt that if the public knew him as they did, it would have for him the same affectionate regard they have. And this is true. Mr. Booth returns to his home in Eugene today, carrying with him the good will, esteem and confidence of the people of this county as no man has ever received them before. Why? Because they believe, they know, he will do what is right. Klamath County wants Mr. Booth to remain on the commission, and they want him to know that as long as he does remain, he can count on the 100 per cent support of one county in Oregon—Klamath.

LUCKY MERRILL

There is one section of Klamath County that is happy today, and that is Merrill. And well it may be, for it is known that the terminus of the north and south highway will be at the Modoc County line, just beyond Merrill. What more could it ask for? We of Klamath Falls were filled with misgivings when we learned that it would be a difficult task to get it made a state highway, for, as is well known, the commission must turn a deaf ear to the pleadings of various sections of the state for such claims as these, or else every lane in Oregon would be named as a state highway, and the very intent of the law defeated. It was, therefore, no small undertaking to have this exception made in the case of Klamath.

Natural conditions were the chief factors in bringing about the approval of this change by Commissioner Booth. California is building a highway to this point; the road serves 85 per cent of the traffic of the county; it is cheaply constructed, and easily maintained. And, then, Judge Bunnell and Commissioners Short and Fordyce presented such convincing arguments to the commissioner that it turned the scale for the project. His action will have to receive the unanimous approval of the rest of the commission before this road will, in fact, be made a part of the state system, but Klamath is sure that Mr. Booth will convince the other members.

Merrill is to be congratulated, and we know they will be happy, for the representatives from that section who attended the meeting last night indicated that when Judge Bunnell made his announcement that this road would be included in the program.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH AT PORTLAND PROBED.

PORTLAND, March 19.—Authorities are trying to solve the mysterious connection of the death of Alfred Mills aged forty, who was found with a bullet hole thru his head in a lonely shack a mile from Linman Junction on the outskirts of the city. No weapon was found near him and a hundred dollars in money was found in his pockets. He is said to have been in the Asylum at Salem for a time.

MRS. CHRISTENSEN GAINS 36 POUNDS

HEALTH WAS COMPLETELY SHATTERED WHEN SHE BEGAN TAKING TANLAC

"Just give me Tanlac and you may have all the other medicines," said Mrs. C. W. Christensen, residing at 1616 South 44th Street, Tacoma, Washington.

"Those who have not seen me since I began taking Tanlac," continued Mrs. Christensen, "would hardly know me on first sight. I have undergone such a change. Why, do you know I have actually gained thirty six pounds. It hardly sounds reasonable, but it's the truth. I had suffered from nervousness and frequent dizzy spells for seven years, and my sleep was so broken, and I was so tired that I hardly felt like getting up in the mornings. My back felt like it would break in two. It hurt me so badly and my kidneys bothered me all the time. Everything I would eat tasted bad and my stomach was so upset that I could not eat more than one meal a day, and that a very light one. Besides all this, about eighteen months ago, I was in an automobile accident, and have been almost a nervous wreck ever since. I thought my condition was bad enough before, but afterwards my health was completely shattered. The pains in my back were almost unbearable, my stomach got worse and I was in dreadful plight. Community Thrift

'Thrifty towns, like thrifty people, are always cheerful-looking and prosperous.

'Thriftless towns are shiftless towns. They have a dreary, dismal look—broken fences here, shutters off the hinge there, ruts in the road and blights on the trees.

'Thrift is contagious. When one man sets out to keep his house nicely painted and in good repair, the lawn well-mown and the yard free from litter, the neighbors soon do likewise. And before long the whole community is a better and more pleasant place in which to live.
